EXPECT TO CONTROL FOOD EXTORTIONERS

GOVERNMENT WILL NOT SEEK TO FIX A MAXIMUM PRICE

Where Necessary Supplies Will Be Taken by Federal Authorities and Distribution Ruled.

NEW FOOD CONTROL TO BE RATIONAL

Washington, May 22.—Although government food experts oppose fixing maximum prices on staple food products except to force big holders to release their supplies, protection for the consumer will be one of the first considerations of the new food control administration.

If there is a shortage in any food staple and it becomes essential to lower the price, the government, it was said today, will not hesitate to take over supplies and distribute them itself.

In this way officials believe more can be accomplished than by setting maximum prices beyond which sellers may not charge. If there is an abundance of food, however, they do not think it will become necessary to exercise the power of commandeering. A short crop of any commodity, food experts say, will send prices up through competitive bidding, despite ordinary regulatory measures and the only remedy, they hold, in this case is for the government to take over the product, paying the grower a good price and distributing the food where it is most needed. European demands for food this year, will take all America's surplus. The allies, it has been stated on good authority, needed one billion bushels of grain to carry them through the year. With normal crops this country can furnish four hundred million bushels of this and Canada two hundred million. This will fill 50 per cent of the allies' needs, but it is believed that America by economizing can increase this to 80 per cent, provided crops are normal.

The new food administration as soon as organized will start a campaign for saving in the household and hopes to cut down ordinary consumption to a considerable extent.

The government's food experts think the plan for a voluntary organization to handle the food situation will win the co-operation of the country. If it fails a bureaucratic system, they believe, will have to be instituted.

THOUSANDS OF HOMES BURNED

Multitude Made Shelterless by Conflagration in Atlanta.

LOSS LIKELY TO EXCEED $3,000,000

Worst Fire Southern Metropolis Has Seen Since Civil War.

Atlanta, Ga., May 22.—Estimates today were that from 10,000 to 15,000 persons are homeless as a result of yesterday's fire that swept through approximately seventy-five blocks of residence property ranging from negro shacks to homes of influential citizens in the northeastern section of the city.

S. R. Russet, assistant secretary of the Southeastern Underwriters' association, roughly estimated the property loss at $3,500,000 and loss to insurance companies at $2,500,000.

Relief work started hours before the flames were subdued, was pushed rapidly today. The public safety committee of the Atlanta chamber of commerce at a joint meeting laid plans for handling the situation and later a mass

STORM DAMAGES HOME OF D. C. M'KEEMAN

The lightning struck a tree in front of the residence of David D. McKeeman, 2811 South Barr street, during the storm at the noon hour, Tuesday, and broke five window panes in the front of the residence, including a bay window. The tree was completely shattered an dsplinters flew as far as a hundred feet away, landing on the tops of buildings in the neighborhood. There was a terrific downpour of rain and considerable lightning.

ENGLAND HAS SOLVED THE WAR TIME FREIGHT PROBLEM.

Officers of the First dock battalion. Lord Derby is seated in the front row, third from the left, and Major Lemonius second from the left. Will the dock laborers of New York, Chicago, Detroit, Boston, San Francisco and all other American ports be wearing Uncle Samuel's uniform ere long and marching to their work in time to bugle calls? That plan and other details of a system worked out by Lord Derby have solved England's great wartime longshore problem at a time when war had made this problem vital to the nation's life. The loading and unloading of great ships like clockwork may be necessary to our national welfare. And not only has Lord Derby's plan solved the problem of handling an island nation's military shipping when on the handling of that shipping hung the island nation's very life, but it has had an immense and valuable effect upon large masses of that nation's working population, raising from the depths a class which had been set aside as "casual" to the point of utter hopelessness.

CHANCELLOR CHALLENGED

Berlin Newspaper Calls Hollweg to Account for Statement.

DENIES HE SPEAKS FOR THE WAR AIMS

Von Hindenburg Quoted as Sharing the Hopes of Pan-Germans.

Copenhagen, May 22.—Director Zimmermann, of the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger, challenges in the Monday article, Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg's statement in the reichstag that he and the military leaders were in full accord regarding the war aims.

Herr Zimmermann says that the unity of views, according to his knowledge, applies only to military and strategic aims on which the chancellor has accepted the views of Hindenburg and Ludendorf, the morally responsible generals. He denies that von Bethmann has any right to claim the generals as the champions of his views as to the political and economic aims of the war.

Against Chancellor.

The Lokal Anzeiger, since it passed into the hands of a syndicate, headed by champions of industry of the Rhine district and a former minister, whom von Bethmann threw overboard, has ceased to be a subservient government organ and now is more or less consistent in opposition to the chancellor.

Herr Zimmermann, in continuation of his criticism, questions the stability of the Bethmann bloc in the reichstag and denies that the vote on the peace interpellation can be interpreted as a vote of confidence.

Quotes Von Hindenburg.

Simultaneously the paper announces that von Hindenburg, answering a telegram of greeting from a Danzig group of avowed pan-Germans and opponents of the chancellor, replied:

"I bear your hopes for the fulfillment of your wishes for the future of the fatherland."

The original telegram emphasized the demand for a peace agreement, "corresponding to Germany's sacrifices." The field marshal's reply will unquestionably encourage the campaign against the chancellor and supports Director Zimmermann's intimations that von Bethmann Hollweg is not in complete accord with the army chiefs.

BRAZIL WANTS TO ABROGATE NEUTRALITY

Rio Janiero, May 22.—President Braz has sent a message to congress recommending the revocation of neutrality in the war between the United States and Germany. Congress is expected to accept the recommendation by a large majority.

The message declares that the order to the Brazilian authorities enjoining the observance of neutrality was only intended to have effect until congress met. It continues: "Today, in consideration of the fact that the United States is an integral part of the American union, in consideration also of the traditional policy of Brazil which has always been governed by a complete unity of view with the United States and finally in consideration of the sympathies of a great majority of the Brazilian nation, the administration invites congress to revoke the decree of neutrality.

INCH AND A HALF OF RAIN DURING NIGHT

From Monday evening until 7 o'clock Tuesday morning 1.52 inches of rain fell in Fort Wayne. And it is not all done with yet. The weather man states that there are good chances for some more the earlier part of the evening. There was a steady downpour of rain during the entire night, starting in at 9 o'clock Monday evening. It stopped at about 7:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. Farmers state they needed the rain badly and that the crops will be greatly benefited as a result.

NEW YORK IS BUYING BONDS

Prospect is That Big City Will Over-Purchase Allotment.

MUCH ENTHUSIASM IS CREATED THERE

Big Stores Sell Bonds to Customers, Charging to Account.

New York, May 22.—The flying squadron of bond salesmen working in the financial districts and the establishment of booths in the larger retail stores of the city for the sale of bonds have so stimulated the general sale that members of the bankers' committees were predicting today that New York would oversubscribe New York's allotment of $250,000,000 of the Liberty loan.

Stores Find Buyers.

The department stores promise to be the largest sources of subscriptions, many of which permit credit customers to charge $50 worth of bonds to their registered accounts, payable in installments until August. Yesterday's sales, because of this system amounted to thousands of dollars in several of the larger stores. A majority of the customers were women and the subscriptions ranged from $50 to $1,500.

Under the plan, the Retail Merchants' Liberty loan committee, bonds

Reports of Diver Having Been Seen at Different Points Are All in Practical Agreement.

WASHINGTON SAYS NOTICE IS TAKEN

Portland, Me., May 22.—Persistent reports current since war was declared that a German submarine was in New England waters were given official recognition today.

It was stated by naval officers that new reports had been received and that an investigation was under way. It was reported to the naval stations that after the sighting of a periscope a submarine was seen running awash off Machias last night.

The news was forwarded to Boston and New York but not made public. This morning three lobster fishermen told of having sighted what they believed to have been a submarine and when their reports were carried by newspapermen to the naval officers referred to above he admitted having received earlier and similar reports and said they were being acted upon.

HOUSF NEARS AN END OF DEBATES ON THE WAR TAX

Washington, May 22.—Consideration of the war tax bill was nearing an end in the house today and while the leaders hoped to reach a final vote by tonight this seemed by no means certain. The amusement tax section was taken up again today.

A compromise on the proposed second-class mail tax so as to make it from 1 and 1½ cents per pound in the first per cent zone to 8 cents in the eighth zone was agreed upon today by the house ways and means committee.

Receipts from educational entertainments were excluded by the house from the proposed 10 per cent amusement tax by a vote of 114 to 1. Representative Moore, of Pennsylvania, opposing. He insisted that it was unfair that William Jennings Bryan should receive from $250 to $750 a night for "educational" entertainments while the government got nothing from them.

WILL GO TO EVANSVILLE

Committee Will Visit With Col. Lewis to Explain City's Advantages.

LOCATION TO BE DETERMINED SOON

Project is Discussed at Meeting Tuesday at Commercial Club.

Chairman W. H. Scheimann, of the Fort Wayne council of patriotic service, was given authority to appoint the members of a committee to go to Evansville Tuesday night, where on Wednesday they will confer with Colonel Lewis and explain to him the advantages which Fort Wayne can offer as a possible site for a training camp.

The matter of determining the site for the training camp will be presented to the members of the Real Estate exchange Tuesday evening. It is understood that the committee has several ideal locations near Fort Wayne in sight. Two of these possible locations afford an excellent location for a training camp on account of the contour of the ground included.

The committee which met at noon Tuesday at the Commercial club discussed the advantages and the disadvantages which a camp of this kind would mean to Fort Wayne. The majority of the members of the committee were of the opinion that the bringing of 25,000 men to a city of this size would without a doubt mean

The report followed a prolonged conference between the Mexican minister and Foreign Secretary Zimmerman on Monday.

MEMPHIS MOB BURNS NEGRO SEEKS OTHERS

Memphis, Tenn., May 22.—Ell Persons, a negro, confessed murderer of Antoinette Rapheal several weeks ago, was burned to death near the scene of the crime at 9 o'clock today. A mob estimated from 2,000 to 3,000 saw the death of the negro.

In preparation for burning the body was soaked in oil and afterward suspended in midair from the limb of a nearby tree. A torch was then applied and the body burned fiercely until the scorched flesh of the negro fell to the ground.

Persons is said to have repeated his confession that he killed the child and implicated two other negroes. Members of the mob immediately set out in pursuit of them. When all was in readiness Mrs. Rapheal, mother of the dead girl, was taken to the bridge, where the prisoner was held, and identified him. In a short speech to the mob she declared she wished Persons to suffer the tortures he dealt to his victim.

Telephone messages at 10:30 o'clock stated that the mob had captured Dewitt Ford, a mute, one of the negroes implicated by Persons in the murder

IF YOU LACK VIM AND VIGOR GET IRONATED HERBS

PRAISES MEDICINE

Nearly every form of disease begins in the stomach and this has been proven in thousands of cases. It is the neglect of the first symptoms of a run down condition, causing these troubles. People who are irritable, who lack energy and ambition, feel blue and discouraged, suffer from headache, dizziness, backache, weak memory, bad blood circulation and unsound sleep, should take heed in time, for these are the ever failing signs of a deranged stomach.

The new modern stomach remedy, Ironated Herbs with Pepsin in liquid form, is designed to meet just such a contingency; it acts directly on the stomach, causing the food to digest perfectly, thereby relieving the suffering immediately, and if taken for a short time the results will be permanent.

Permanent results have been obtained in the cases of Mrs. May Schock, wife of a well known business man of this city. Mr. Schock conducts a dry cleaning establishment at 820 Harrison street, and was greatly worried over the condition of his wife, who continually complained about stomach trouble, general run down, and headaches. It was suggested that she should try a bottle of Ironated Herbs and after the first few doses her condition improved considerably. In her large circle of friends it will be greatly appreciated and noticed that she has improved so much and that Ironated Herbs has supplied her with what she needed, a good all-round tonic, which put new life into her.

We now urgently request you who are not feeling well to go at once to Meyer Bros. Drug Store, 902 Calhoun street, and have our representative, Mr. Curtis, explain to you the merits of this wonderful medicine.

Also on sale at Columbia street, Baker street, and Broadway stores.—Advertisement.

tucky and West Virginia, who are taking the training to become officers.

They've Got Everything.

"Brains, enthusiasm and patriotism have been disclosed here during the first week of the camp, as they've never been in all my army experience," said Col. Glenn. "These boys have come here with a determination to give their country the best they have in them. Every regular army officer at this post has expressed delight over the things accomplished. The way these American men have worked to learn the military game should make every slacker hang his head. I'm proud of every man of them."

Col. Glenn and his staff is also greatly pleased withthe health of the men in camp, although there are approximately 5,000 men in camp, roll call revealed only 18 men unfit for duty yesterday and these were men suffering from the reaction of vaccination.

Students Are Moving.

The student officers yesterday began moving out of the permanent barracks and taking quarters in the new cantonment east of the post hospital in preparation for the arrival of the Tenth infantry, U. S. A., from the Panama canal zone. The cantonment is not completed and some of the regulars probably will occupy tents until the new quarters for the reserve candidates are ready for occupancy. The return of the Tenth will be in the nature of a homecoming, as it was first tenant of Fort Harrison. According to word from Washington, the Tenth will be divided here, two battalions being used to form the nucleus of the Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth regiments, new units.

of the Raphael girl, and was on the way to the scene of the first lynching.

News that the negro had been brought into the country reached the city early and by 8 o'clock all roads leading to the Macon road bridge were choked with automobiles. An hour later it was impossible to approach by car or wagon to within a half mile of the scene. Hundreds of spectators, including many women and children, tramped through muddy fields to get a view.

Persons was taken in charge by the mob atPotts Camp, Miss., and brought to this county. Throughout the night hundreds of automobiles patrolled the roads leading to the state line to see that no organized effort was made to intercept the party holding the negro. The condition of the roads, after t heavy rain in the night made progress slow and by the time they reached the bridge a great throng from Memphis and all points in the county, as well as from nearby counties, was on hand. There was no disorder and little excitement, the mob was well organized and worked quietly, dispersing after lynching Persons meeting called by Mayor Candler was held.

Preparations had been made to feed 5,000 homeless. More than that are believed to need immediate relief.

The fire started in a warehouse on Decatur and Fort streets and drove first due north and then northeast, at some points a block wide and at times half a mile in width.

It crossed Ponce de Leon avenue at one point and swept down Boulevard Place for a block. On the south side of Ponce de Leon avenue a wide residence street, the burned area extended from North Jackson street, some seven blocks east of Peachtree street, the principal section, out almost to the baseball park.

Greatest Since Sherman's Raid.

It was the greatest fire in Atlanta's history since civil war days when General Sherman, terming it the backbone of the confederacy decreed that it must be burned. In property loss and hardship it was even greater, for the city General Sherman destroyed had only 10,000 inhabitants.

Destitute persons from the burned area, which included negro homes and costly residences of white people, were cared for by the local Red Cross and the associated charities. Hundreds were fed last night and today and lodging was provided in the auditorium, armory, the Negro Odd Fellows hall, churches, private homes and hotels. Preparations were completed today to feed 5,000 people.

Relief work got under way early, several thousand dollars being subscribed in a few hours. A meeting of the city's representative men was called for today to provide relief for those needing it.

Outside Aid Not Needed.

Mayor Candler and President Allen, of the local chamber of commerce, agreed that no outside aid would be needed. Both expressed their appreciation of scores of offers telegraphed to them.

Only one person is known to have died as a result of the fire. Mrs. Bessie Hodges died of shock after her home was destroyed. Injuries were remarkably few. The people fled before the flames as from an invading army. Heat drove out hundreds of people who sought to save their personal effects.

Here and there firebrands blew ahead of the blaze, firing houses a block ahead of the wall of fire. Gradually the flames advanced northward. Before them came hundreds of persons. The flames grew to a roar when within a distance of a block or more. Men who had comforted their families with statements that the fire would not reach them realized at the last moment that their homes were doomed.

Automobiles Give Aid.

Automobile trucks, express wagons and every conceivable vehicle were pressed into service. Gathering what belongings they could the people fled. Along the sidewalks rushed men carrying whatever property they had hurriedly collected.

After the fire reached within a block or two of Ponce de Leon avenue. an hour before dark fell, order began to come out of the confusion. Companies of the Fifth regiment, Georgia National Guard, and prospective United States army officers from the training camp at Fort McPherson, took charge of the situation, under personal direction of Col. Charles R. Noyes, commander at Fort McPherson, to whom the police delegated authority to handle the guard duty. As the soldiers took charge, abandoning homes in the threatened districts was carried out consistently.

Automobiles furnished by hundreds carried people and their most valuable belongings to other parts of the city. The soldiers went on guard duty and remained all night. Furniture, bedclothes and all the odds and ends from the many homes littered the streets which were made impassable in many cases by fallen wires and splinters from dynamited houses. The soldiers allowed nothing to be moved during the night and blocked civilians from the fire zone and a wide area around it. Only one case of attempted looting was reported and that resulted in an arrest.

Vast Work to Be Done.

Beside actual relief work today there was a tremendous task ahead of Atlanta in getting its scattered citizens together. Members of many families had become separated. Today a man advertised for his 90-year-old grandmother. Another sought his wife and baby through the "want ad" section of the morning papers. There were scores of similar cases and it was expected that a clearing house to carry out this work would have to be established.

The burned district is roughly defined as including all that territory between Fort Street on the west and the Boulevard on the east between Decatur street and Ponce de Leon avenue. It was much narrower near Decatur street and from Highland avenue out to Ponce de Leon avenue the burned district was five blocks wide, Fort street being the western boundary and part of the block to the east, Boulevard being destroyed. On the south side of Ponce de Leon avenue the fire swept from North Jackson street three blocks east of Fort, almost to the baseball park which caught fire but was saved with virtually no damage done. The flames crossed Ponce de Leon avenue, burning out about a block on both sides of the street.

It is understood that a committee appointed by the chairman of this body of men was to visit the possible sites of the training camp Tuesday afternoon and take a rough sketch of the ground with them and present it to Colonel Lewis.

NAVY SEARCHES FOR SUBMARINE FISHERMEN SEE

The submarine which appeared to be about 200 feet in length was picked up by two fishermen south of Seguin light at 9:15 o'clock this morning. She was a mile and a half distant but the fishermen were sure of the character of the stranger.

As they were watching her the engine of their motorboat backfired and instantly following the report the submarine submerged. The fishermen hurried ashore and reported what they had seen. They had no more than reached shore when a third fisherman arrived with the report that he had seen the craft a little later to the west of Seguin light.

The position of the craft seen by the fishermen would fit in with her probable position if she continued in her westerly course after being sighted off Cross island last night. Later she was seen by two members of the coast guard. One guard first saw her and later he was joined by a second guard and the two men watched the vessel for an hour. They had ample time to study her closely under favorable conditions and were convinced that she was a submarine.

Repeatedly, reports of a submarine off the northeast coast of Massachusetts outside the entrance to Portsmouth, N. H., harbor, and on the Maine coast have been brought in by coastwise vessels and fishermen. In every instance official confirmation of such reports was lacking and usually naval officers have publicly scoffed at the poossibility of an enemy ship venturing into American waters, though privately several officials admitted taking these reports more seriously than their formal utterances betrayed.

Chancellor of German Empire

Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, the imperial German chancellor, in one of the most vigorous and plain spoken speeches he has made before the reichstag since the beginning of the war, bluntly refused to enter into a discussion of Germany's peace aims as demanded in interpellations by the conservatives and socialists. The chancellor asserted that these called for the government's specific peace program, the announcement of which at the present time not only would be premature, but which would be difficult to formulate and also of no practical service to the nation in the present situation. A significant feature of the session was the introduction into their remarks by Philipp Scheidemann, the social democratic leader, and George Ledebour, the independent socialist, of references to a possible revolution in Germany. Herr Scheidemann intimated that if the British and French renounced the idea of annexation and Germany insisted on annexing territory there would be a revolution. This resulted in indignant repudiation by a large section of the house, and Herr Scheidemann hastened to say it had not gone so far as that yet.

Lieut. Frank Wolf Got in U. S. Army and Then Got in Toils.

©I.F.S.

Lieutenant Frank Wolf, former German aviator, deserter from United States aviation corps, held as spy by United States government.

In order to escape the death penalty, if possible, Lieutenant Wolf is said to have made confessions involving men in high standing in the United States.

Wolf is said to have come to the United States after being wounded with German aerial forces at Verdun. He was arrested here while working as a dishwasher in a German hospital.

His recent operations, according to federal officers, are as follows:

Fought in the German aviation corps as a lieutenant.

Was wounded in an air battle at Verdun.

Came to the United States upon his recovery as a spy for the German government.

Enlisted in the United States army at San Diego under the alias of Frank Fels.

Deserted last January with valuable information for the German government.

Came to San Francisco and secured work as a dishwasher at the hospital.

In his possession were found road maps, diagrams of the city, plans of fortifications and other valuable information, according to the federal officials.

He says he is not yet 21 years old. He is unnerved by his experiences during the war.

THREE HURT WHEN AUTO IS SIDE-SWIPED

Car Is Sideswiped by Another Machine Three Miles North of Zanesville.

Zanesville, Ind., May 22.—Three were injured, two of them probably seriously, when an automobile in which they were riding was sideswiped by another machine three miles north of this city at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. Charles Gordon, his small son, George, and a guest by the name of Haley from St. Louis stopped at this point on the road to ask if Mr. Caley, who was fixing his tires, needed any help.

Cliff Chaney, a farmer living near Huntington, came sailing along about this time and attempted to pass between the two cars. He sideswiped the Gordon machine, turning it over. Charles B. Kent, of Lafayette, bound for Fort Wayne, gave first assistance. Shortly afterward Dr. H. B. Shoup, of Zanesville, arrived and took the injured trio to the Gordon home. Mr. Gordon and his son are suffering from internal injuries and their outcome is doubtful.

FOOD FROM HOME LIFE SAVER.

Hartford City, Ind., May 22.—Chappie Hollingshead, writing to his parents from the battlefields of France, said that some food received by him from his parents recently certainly was a life saver, as he said he was nearly starved. Very little food is obtainable among the soldiers, due to the advance ahead of the supply trains.

STATE REFUSES TO REVEAL HAND

Big Surprise is Sprung in the Ray Landess Habeas Corpus Proceedings.

Portland, Ind., May 22.—Attorneys and witnesses engaged by the state in the prosecution of Ray Landess, of Redkey, who is charged in a grand jury indictment with first degree murder in connection with the death of Roy Brown, Redkey grocer, one year ago, refused to divulge their evidence against Landess when the habeas corpus proceedings, which the defendant filed two weeks ago, was called for hearing before Judge McGriff, in the circuit court Monday.

The action taken came as a thunderbolt from a clear sky to counsel for the defense, who are seeking to have their client released from jail under bond. Owing to the trial of William Fashback, also charged with first degree murder in connection with the case, being set for June 11, it is probable that Landess will not be given a hearing until early in the September term of court. Attorneys for Landess, this afternoon, thought it likely that their client would be released under bond.

Five Redkey residents, whose names appear onthe indictment against Landess as witnesses for the state, refused to offer any information to the court Monday morning. They intimated by their testimony that they knew nothing of the case and that they did not know Landess to be the murderer. They did say, however, that the voice of Landess was recognized during a quarrel, presumably among several persons, at the rear of the Redkey hotel, where Brown roomed the night of the murder.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Hartford City, Ind., May 22.—The funeral of Joe Hall, a brother of John Hall, of this city, who was burned to death in a hotel fire near Tulsa, Okla., last Sunday, was held at Warren, the latter part of last week. He formerly lived in this locality. Hall and three other men occupied the same room in the hotel. The three others also perished.

FALLS EIGHTEEN FEET.

Huntington, Ind., May 22.—George Gordon, a painter, suffered severe injuries when a ladder broke and let him fall about eighteen feet to a cement sidewalk at the A. C. Wilkerson house. Mr. Gordon fell head first, striking his cheek and the side of his head first. It is thought one of the cheek bones was crushed.

$50,000 IS ESTIMATE OF STORM'S DAMAGE

Whitley County is Hit Hard —News from Columbia City.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Columbia City, Ind., May 22.—Besides destroying two barns and several head of stock for William Weaver, south of Pierceton, and also the barn and contents of John Lewis, northwest of Collins, Saturday night, the electrical wind storm wrought about $50,000 damage to fruit trees and orchards, fences, buildings and silos in various parts of Whitley county, chiefly the west half and the northern sections. The silos on the Al Watson and Lyell McGuire farms, in Troy township, were blown down and fine orchards on the Will Coolman, Elmer Stitees, Ed Richards and Millard Hass and several other farms, in Thorncreek township, were ruined. Gabe Beigh, of Richland township, saw a miniature funnel-shaped cloud descend upon his apple orchard Saturday evening, destroying a score of fine apple trees. A barn on the Jonathan Ulrey farm, near South Whitley, was partially unroofed, and on the William Raupfer farm, in Thorncreek township, a silo roof was blown 300 feet away. The granary on the Samuel Flickinger farm in Union township, and the summer kitchen of the Al Wolfe residence, southwest of Columbia City, were struck by lightning and considerable damage was wrought before the resultant fires were put out. Trees and fences in Thorncreek township were levelled. Considerable hail fell Saturday night, but Jefferson, Washington and Union townships received but little of the much needed rain, while four miles west of Columbia City, near the damaged belt, but little rain fell. Four transformers were burned out in Columbia City. Arnie Egolf, of Thorncreek township, while at a window in the home of a cousin, Henry Egolf, north of Columbia City, watching the storm Sturday evening, was stunned by an electric bolt.

During a recent storm the barn on the Michael O'Connell farm, north of Pierceton, near Barbe lake, was destroyed by fire after being struck by lightning, and it, together with contens, including an auto, were burned up at a loss of about $3,500. Four cows on the George Elder farm, north of Pierceton, were killed by lightning Saturday night. Most of the storm-suffering residents of the county carry cyclone and storm insurance.

Columbia City Items.

Magley, a layman, to attend the general eldership meeting of the Church of God at Wharton, Ohio, was Friday elected president of the organization, representing the entire United States and Canada. Rev. Luckenbill, who is pastor of the Oak Grove church, southeast of Columbia City, was elected treasurer of the general eldership a few years ago. He is a highly capable minister of years of experience, which was appreciated, inasmuch as he was elected president on the first ballot.

Two truck loads of young people, fifty couples from Fort Wayne, accoutred with considerable wet goods in the commissary department, motored to Columbia City Saturday evening, after getting stuck in the mud at Arcola, and danced until midnight. It is said they are the same bunch who were chased out of New Haven last summer and the practice will not be permitted here. They fairly littered the Commercial club halls, where their special dance was held.

Homer Trout, son of John Trout, of this city, and Miss Maude, daughter of W. H. Vandersaul, of Troy township, were wedded Sunday and will reside here, where the groom is employed as a lagorer.

Jesse Jackson, northwest of town, was kicked in the face by a horse Saturday evening and suffered concussion for several hours after staggering to his home. He suffered a bad cut on the inside of his left cheek.

Buy Your Piano or Player Now

During the next ten days we will sell every Piano or Player in our stock at a discount of 10%, beside the tax which will be imposed on all musical instruments after the bill below given passes, which in all possibility will pass by June first. This will mean a saving of from one hundred to two hundred dollars, according to the price of the instrument.

Two facts at work which will make piano prices higher. Only those who buy NOW, can hope to obtain the benefit of present low prices.

Every piano and player-piano offered for sale, whether it is now in the hands of the merchant or manufacturer, will be taxed 5 per cent. according to the new revenue bill which is now before Congress.

Besides this, the duty on tuning pins, ivory, felts, varnish gums, shellac, rubber and all other imported raw materials entering into the construction of pianos and player-pianos will be increased from 20 to 30 per cent.

This plainly means that pianos will have to bring from $50 to $100 more than their present price. There is no evading it.

And this advertisement is published to call to the attention of those who are expecting to place pianos in their homes within the next few months, the fact that if they want to take advantage of the low prices which are now prevailing—they must do so NOW—BEFORE THE WAR REVENUE BILL, WHICH IS NOW BEFORE CONGRESS, BECOMES A LAW.

This is a plain fact, that thrifty and prudent buyers simply CANNOT and should not ignore.

A WORK THAT SHOULD BE HELPED.

By the end of the month it is expected that Indiana will have raised $150,000 for the work of the Young Men's Christian association. That sum is the portion allotted to Indiana of the $3,000,000 required of the entire country to carry on the labors of the association in war. Indiana's share looks like a good deal of money viewed as $150,000, but it is rather a trifle to be split into almost infinitesimal parts among the three millions of Indiana's people. A nickel a head would do it. That is the price of a cheap cigar, a glass of beer, a package of gum or one admission to the movies. There is none of us who, as his case may be, would not forego at least one indulgence for the sake of a good work, or if not for that, at least for the sake of escaping such imputation as there might be in having refused. Of course there are some young heads among the three millions and withal some older and thicker heads that in the one instance cannot and in the other will not appreciate the vital import of that $150,000. That will raise the average per head to perhaps a dime. Who among us all so poor as that a dime is beyond his reach? There are some who will give more than a dime—a few so much as a dollar, no doubt. The thing is less in consequence as to how and from whom it shall come just so it shall come—that $150,000.

The service of the Young Men's Christian association in war is an inestimable service. It means much to the young manhood of America in the war; it may mean more to the young manhood of America after the war. It means much to the comfort, contentment and general well-being of all our young men who go forth to fight for the nation. The people of the country will uncomplainingly bear their burdens of taxation for the direct purposes of the war. They will submit without grumbling to the restrictions and shortages and forced economies of one sort and another that must be the portion of all in a great national crisis. For the war they must pour billions into the coffers of the government and this they will do gladly. The Young Men's Christian association needs for the inauguration of its vast service the paltry sum of three millions. That will provide its instalations in every camp and cantonment that the war department purposes to establish in the country for the training of the armies that are to go abroad to fight for the flag. To keep up the work and take it over seas with the armies more money will at length be needed, but so little, indeed, that to give it the people of the nation will not realize that they have the burden of it upon them.

Between now and the end of the month the people of Indiana ought to raise the $150,000 expected of them and raise a great deal more than that. If everybody will give a little no one will be burdened at all and a mighty patriotic and benevolent work will be buttressed with finances for the things it must do—the things that can by no other way and by no other agency be done.

It means much—it means almost everything—that the Young Men's Christian association service in the war be upheld and strengthened to look out for the young men in the camps and on the battlefields. It should be given every sustaining effort that the contribution of a little money can mean. Fort Wayne, which has been prompt, energetic and generous in every wise for the support of the government in this crisis, will not be remiss in coming to the aid of the Young Men's Christian association, which is one of the government's strongest arms.

LONG-TIME INVESTMENT.

Liberty loan bonds will run for fifteen years and may run for thirty years. They will be issued to bear a rate of 3½ per cent interest and will be convertible into 4 per cents if the government makes that the rate of any subsequent issue. There is a fact worth thinking about in the tenure of liberty loan bonds. Money put into them is securely invested for a long term. It is an investment that will give the investor no anxiety and will not shortly bring him face to face with necessity to find a new place for his money, as is true of many sorts of public issues that may pay a trifle more in interest, but are of short tenure and are progressively retired, compelling the holder to be diligent in watching for new investments that his funds may not be idle.

Coupled with the duty of all to support the government in all ways at hand, is the solid advantage of performing that duty in respect of the liberty loan bonds. It entails no sacrifice, it involves no risk, it does not impose inconvenience. No buyer is likely to apply for more than he can make out to pay for within the time all payments must be made. Once paid for and in his name and possession, the investor—especially if he be a person never accustomed to saving—will find that he has something from which he will take great contentment and from which he most probably will take steadfast impulse along a course of thrift. That would be well worth while in any event and it is the more worth while in the actual event where the selfish advantage is joined to a patriotic service.

An average of a little more than three dollars a week saved from this time until the day when the final payment must be made will make up the amount of one fifty-dollar bond. It is worth while to curtail a trifle here and there in order to do this. Once done, it realizes a permanent and profit-yielding gain. There will be an investment of fifty dollars in perfect security and for a long time. If the need for the cash should come the bond can be converted into cash, though we believe that not many who find themselves well started on a career of saving and investment will care to go back to thriftlessness and improvidence.

Invest in a liberty bond of whatever denomination you can see your way clear to pay for within the time permitted. Help the nation in war and help yourself for all of your time yet to come.

GOOD TIME TO QUIT.

The public of this city would be well pleased to hear from the city hall that purpose to go ahead with the auditorium building project had been put away for the time. Such an announcement ought to be forthcoming—should before this have come, indeed—and we believe that at length it will.

In any event, we do not believe the administration will have the hardihood to take responsibility for the kind of thing it must give the people if the folly of going ahead now is persisted in. After slashing from the plans half of what was in them when the late rejected bids were submitted and leaving but 25 per cent of what was in the plans when they originally were approved, we doubt if there will be found left anything that the officials will care to offer or that the people will consent to accept.

From day to day it is made clearer that this is no time for going on with this enterprise. From day to day it is made clearer that to go on with it will ensue in great public disappointment and wrath. From day to day it becomes clearer that to stubbornly push this matter means a practical waste of what goes into it. No such public assembly hall as Fort Wayne is willing to pay for can be had for the money remaining in the hands of the city for that purpose.

The city ought to be spared a botched and inadequate building and it ought to be given assurance very soon that it will be.

The discovery having been made that the colonel is one of the greatest military authorities in the world, it may not be too late or lacking in pertinence, even at the distance of a score of years from the event itself, to start an inquiry into the reason for the colored troops butting into the colonel's plan of battle at Kettle Hill.

It took congress six or seven weeks to get the army bill out of its system, but with the summer weather of Washington drawing nigher and nigher, congress will contrive shorter shrift for the war tax and some other matters of more or less account in these lurid days.

The two campaigns—buy a home and buy a bond—very happily do not collide, but march side by side. Buying a bond will not prevent any one buying a home. As a matter of fact it will help. A liberty loan bond for $100 or $500 will go as far to buy a home as the money itself.

The liberty loan bonds are for the people of America. With three months in which to pay for it there are few so poor as to be unable to invest in a bond for fifty dollars. No finer opportunity to begin the practice of saving was ever presented.

In this matter of off again, on again, gone again, the government of our new and we trust our worthy sister democracy of Russia has got the well-known Misther Finnegan larruped to a gossamer frazzle.

SONNET—"THE PASSING."

(Once the whole world united to praise her..... now the whole world unites to fear.....this is the passing of a might people.....)

"Lo, our proud lamps are emptied of their light,
Weary our hands to toil, our feet to roam;
Our day is past and swiftly falls Thy night.
Lord, lead us home."
—Deus Misereatur.

There are no flowers on their red altar-stone,
Their gods are dead, their fragrance burned away,
Or, it may be, those feet of bloody clay
Have flamed to flesh, albeit human grown,
And, worn by death and slaughter and the moan
Of ruined nations cursing as they pray,
Toll have they taken of their judgment day,
And set each man to face God's wrath alone.

They have destroyed the souls that knelt to them,
And turned their gas-green faces toward the East

WHAT MEXICAN EDITOR SAYS OF US

Editor's Note.—America has wondered what Mexico's attitude toward the United States really is since war has come. The following translation of a leading article from the Mexican Figaro, an important journal published in Mexico City, may throw some light on the situation. We've heard so many jingo tales concerning Mexico that this interpretation of Mexico's opinion of the United States is of real importance.

Mexican Figaro's Article.
(Written by Dr. Manuel Flores and Translated by J. T. Neville.)

"It seems the United States are taking their part as belligerents with all sincerity.'

"The nation gives no sign of being content with being only banker of the entente; it wants to be the provider of foodstuffs, ammunition and arms, the watchman of the seas and the creator of a great merchant marine and formidable navy.

"The American army is being increased far beyond our expectation. It will not only be a home defense, but a great auxiliary beyond the Atlantic.

"This vast program; the enthusiasm with which this step has been received by the masses (save here and there a discordant voice without echo); the enormous sums authorized by congress for the president's commands; the conference in Washington with high representatives of the entente—all these facts lead us to believe that the American attitude in this conflict will not be only that of a defensive, but in all probability will become an intense aggressive.

"When the American people, with enthusiasm, undertake a scheme there is no one on earth who can equal them in push, rapidity, fruitful invention and satisfactory results.

"No nation can construct railroads faster, longer or more in number than the American. The building of these roads is accomplished almost as fast as the speed of a locomotive.

"Their steamers are sea birds skimming the roughest waves; their buildings touch the clouds; the floors are counted by the dozen, and before the last is completed the building is thoroughly furnished and occupied.

"The shops and factories are reproductions of Babylon, with parks, street cars, postoffices, banks, schools, temples and theaters.

"Americans are the captors of Niagara Falls—the builders of Brooklyn bridge—the improvisors of New York, Chicago and Philadelphia, rivals of London, Berlin and Paris.

"Their population, immigration, production, consumption, exchange, wealth, universities, hotels, hospitals and all are beyond proportion of the known and usual.

"Such is the Yankee. He has only to make up his mind and with his imagination and labor can secure a means for all his ends.

"The important thing is for him to truly wish something. A few days ago we had doubts about this. We only believed in the financial help of the United States toward the entente. But it seems our cousins want fire, and with the quickness that characterizes them, will become ardent warriors.

"Since they have decided to fight (they will not only make believe they do, but actually do it), we will not be surprised in the least if tomorrow they tell us they have bridged the Atlantic and crossed it.

"We will believe it without hesitation. In fact, we will believe anything wonderful they tell us they have done."

BE PATRIOTIC—TOTE IT.

(New York Tribune.)

Carrying home your package instead of saying "Send it, please," is the latest scheme for carrying on in the war—or for doing your bit, if that phrase is any less irritatingly offensive than the other, which we feel all too well it is not. There have been a thousand schemes of hardship to date, ranging all the way from giving up bacon at breakfast to buying government bonds to avoid the super-tax. All are, no doubt, admirable. But we are beginning to understand the psychology of the man who read one too many and fled with a curse to enlist for the first real fighting job in sight.

We suspect that British phrases never can be properly acclimated in America. The meteorological charts of slang all show that words start in the west and work slowly eastward—reverse currents are almost unknown. In our amiable effort to adopt the idea of "doing our bit" we have underscored the last word and quite mistaken its meaning. Won't Mr. George Cohan or Mr. Frank Tinney invent an American phrase to state the real truth—that a bit is not enough and that every blessed one of us must do every blessed thing he can or we shall grimly deserve the utter and everlasting failure that will be ours?

SILENCING THE PRESS.

(New York World.)

In the matter of taxation the great question must always be: What is the purpose? Is it to raise revenue, or is it by indirect means to reach an end not named in the title of the bill?

Some such queries as these occur naturally to the mind when we read of the efforts making in congress, on the plea of necessity arising from war, to place excessive taxes upon the circulation of newspapers and magazines in the mails. The worst of these contemplate prohibitive postal rates in zones not far removed from the offices of publication, thus limiting the influence of important journals and periodicals. As we can see in this instance, there is a tremendous difference between taxes that permit life and taxes that are meant to kill.

No other department of the United States government is so much a business enterprise as that of the post, and no other is conducted with such utter disregard of common business principles. The carrying of the mails is an undertaking which by the liberality of its processes ought to be at once profitable in money and intelligence. Instead of that, its bad management dooms it to high costs and the perpetual threat of outrageous public penalties.

A press taxed to death or by taxation restricted to a narrow field might almost as well have been censored to death. Evidently defeated in the one purpose, is government now to resort to the other?

CARRAWAY, A TYPE.

(Chicago Herald.)

During the debate in congress on the loan bill up rose Representative Carraway, of Arkansas, to demand that the whole cost of the war be paid out of current incomes and to oppose the selective draft plan of the army general staff, President Wilson and Secretary Baker.

He is sedulous, is Representative Carraway, according to his own statement, to guard the poor who "will be at the front fighting the battle" from having the cost shifted to them by bonds. By his opposition to the draft he shows he is equally sedulous that every man, rich or poor, who wants to shift the cost of defending this country to the more willing and patriotic shall have a chance to do so.

Representative Carraway cannot see that there should be no shifting of either personal or financial responsibility to serve the country to the extent of one's abilities during war—that the two cases are much the same. He cannot see it because, presumably, he is the type of politician who sees only what fits in with his ideas on personal political expediency and lets the rest go hang.

CREEPING BARRAGE REVOLUTIONIZES

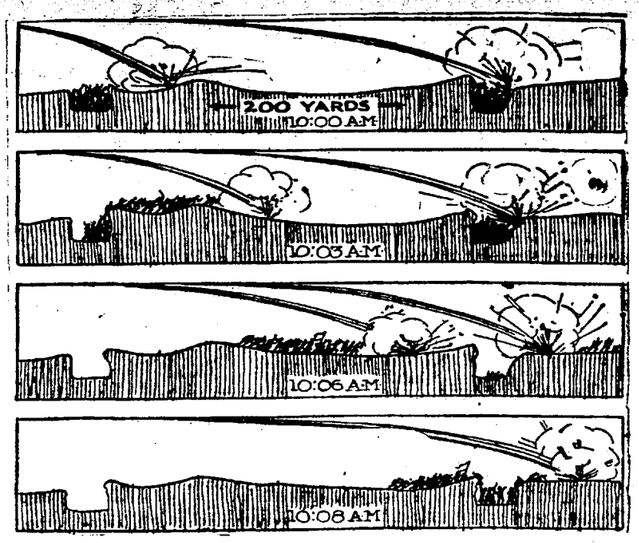

Diagram showing the working of the "creeping barrage," under cover of which British troops in France are now taking German trenches. Note the advancing infantry is preceded by a moving "curtain" of artillery fire.

(Staff Special.)

London, May 16.—British attacks in France are revolutionizing war methods. Artillery and infantry are being co-ordinated as never before.

Most novel new tactic is the "creeping barrage." This is a curtain of artillery fire that, timed to the second, precedes a wave of infantry as it sweeps out of the British and toward the German trenches.

Cannon in the rear are ordered to start firing at a given time and to elevate the line of fire slightly as a given rate.

Infantry in the front lines are told to leave their trenches at a given time, exactly, and move toward the German lines.

When the infantry start shells from their own artillery are bursting just in front of them, and as they advance, the shells keep bursting always the same distance in front.

At the same time other shells are bursting in the German trenches, making it impossible for their occupants to advance and causing many casualties.

At the instant the trench fire and the advancing "curtain" of fire meet, the cannonading of the German trenches ceases and the British pour into them, killing the survivors who refuse to surrender.

Then the British, having taken the trench, begin to prepare it for defense against the German cannonade which they expect to follow as soon as German officers discover the trenches have changed hands.

SAILOR BOY IS IN WRONG AT TOLEDO

Man Convicted Here in 1913 is Being Held in Ohio City.

Detective Sergeant Joseph Brennan, in charge of the bertillon records of the Fort Wayne police department, has been notified that James Sidney Bates, alias Henry Allen and Roy Bates, the sailor youth who scattered a wealth of fraudulent checks over the United States before he was convicted in Fort Wayne, in 1913, is under arrest in Toledo. Bates is garbed again in a sailor suit and claims to be just off a man of war. His check cashing methods are the same as of old, Brennan has been told.

Bates cashed a bad check for $62 on the Hamilton National bank, early in 1913. He continued his exploits until arrested in Chicago on July 2, 1913. He was brought to Fort Wayne and convicted on a forgery charge. He was sentenced to from two to fourteen years' imprisonment.

Two weeks ago he cashed a bogus check in Van Wert. He was arrested in Toledo. He is being held there. The Fort Wayne department is asked to give information about his past record. Brennan has much data at hand.

Miss Marie Sommers was honored by a party of much charm this afternoon at the home of Miss Mae Centlivre, of Spy Run avenue. Because of Miss Sommers' admiration for the color of blue, Miss Centlivre made her preparations to conform to that as much as possible. Nut baskets and place cards were of bluebird design and white roses, swansonia and blue tulle bows made a lovely decoration for the supper table. A corsage bouquet for Miss Sommers was of white rosebuds, sweet alyssum and forget-me-nots. The guests, who were members of a club, gave Miss Sommers a shower of gifts. Miss Centlive gave her a personal gift of a "bluebird" towel she had embroidered, and blue candles on the frosted cakes, heart and cupid forms of ice cream and the hemming of tea towels all combined to speak of the coming nuptials of the honor guest. The towels were showered on Miss Sommers.

A beautiful pre-nuptial party was given last evening at the home of Miss Hazel Miller, of East Creighton avenue, in compliment to Miss Mildred Flick. Miss Claire Voirol and Miss Marie Markey were the assisting hosts. Early in the evening the hostesses presented others of the company with magazines and materials for writing biographies of the honor guest and the groom-to-be. These stories were made from the magazine pictures and were supposed to be prophetic. At any rate they caused much merriment and made keepsakes for Miss Flick that she will prize for a long time. At supper time each guest found her place a most interesting spot. There were tiny cups of rice in which stood a rose candle holder with a tiny taper in it. Each one also found a tulle ribbon at her place which on being drawn from the center of the table revealed a card with something written on it. Then each guest read the various bits of advice and nonsense written on her card aloud, and Miss Flick blushed and smiled her appreciation of it all. There were many pink roses used on the table for decoration and favors and smilax and lilies of the valley in the livingroom, so the party was most springlike. The hosts presented the bride-elect with a gift.

After enjoying the performance at the Palace, Miss Lucile Vail and her guests had supper at the Anthony hotel last evening. The party was given by Miss Vail to honor Miss Ethel Doud's guest, Miss Irene Milnor, of Indianapolis, and there were ten in all. After the supper Miss Doud created a surprise by announcing that Miss Milnor is soon to be married to Victor Hendricks Winterrowd, of Indianapolis, the date being June 6. Miss Milnor's home is in Indianapolis and she has been Miss Doud's guest for several days.

Kirkpatrick—Weidler.

Miss Margaret Weidler, daughter of Mr. Jacob Weidler, a prominent farmer of Adams township, and Mr. Clifford Kirkpatrick, a tester in the general testing department of the General Eletric works, were married in Garrett last Saturday, May 19. The romance of this young couple began about a year ago and the wedding was planned to come off last summer just before the mobilization of troops for going to the border. The wedding was postponed as Mr. Kirkpatrick went south with Company E. This time the young people decided to be married first, as Company E is likely to be called again. AT THE PALACE

HILARIOUS COMEDY ACT.

"At Home" Is Immensely Funny Sketch at New Palace.

If there can be such a thing as artistic hilarity that's what Lulu McConnell's activities in the sketch, "At Home" are. This sketch, which is being presented at the New Palace the first portion of the week, is one of the funniest things ever presented on the short order stage, introducing three clever artists in natural humor. The jarring, rowing, bickering family, consisting of husband, wife and husband's brother, compose a vaudeville company who rehearse their act between fights. Miss McConnell is a sort of combination of Eva Tanguay and May Irwin, with a discernible strain of acrobat in her.

The two dainty Farber girls, Constance and Irene, are as alluringly charming as ever in their singing and dancing skit.

The Colour Gems, a group of five beautiful girls in a series of exquisitely lighted poses, blending the natural colors with the outlines of their forms in artistic triumphs; Sonie Dinkins, Arthur Barr and Billy Everett in a minstrel show in a livery stable; C. Francis Reisner, the Kentucky Kernel, and Laypo and Benjamin in sensational and thrilling athletic comicalities are others on this bill.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

FAVERSHAM AND CROSMAN.

Two Great Stars in Shaw's "Getting Married," May 29.

The two most distinguished artists in the all star cast that will present Bernard Shaw's "Getting Married," at the Majestic for a one night engagement, May 29, are William Faversham and Henrietta Crosman. They have several important scenes together, the most interesting of which occurs when Miss Crosman, representing Mrs. George, the sprightly mayoress, with clairvoyant tendencies, goes into a trance and astonishes the bishop portrayed by Mr. Faversham, by her advanced views on the subject of womanhood.

The scene is best explained by Mrs. George's own words, as follows: "At last I have escaped from myself and am become a voice for them that are afraid to speak, and a cry for the hearts that break in silence. When you loved me I gave you the whole sun and stars to play with. I gave you eternity in a single moment, a strength of the mountains in one clasp of your arms and the volume of all the seas in one impulse of your soul. A moment only; but was it not enough? Were you not paid then for all the rest of your struggle on earth? Must I mend your clothes and sweep your floors as well? Was it not enough? I paid the price without bargaining; I bore the children without flinching; was that a reason for heaping fresh burdens on me? I carried the child in my arms; must I carry the father, too? When I opened the gates of paradise, were you blind? Was it nothing to you? When all the stars sang in your ears and all the winds swept you into the heart of heaven, were you deaf? Were you dull? Was I no more to you than a bone to a dog? Was it not enough? We spent enternity together, and you ask me for a little lifetime more. We possessed all the universe together, and you ask me to give you my scanty wages as well. I have given you the greatest of all things, and you ask me to give you little things. I gave you your own soul, and you ask me for my body as a plaything. Was it not enough? Was it not enough? When you spoke to my soul years ago from your pulpit, you opened the doors of my salvation to me, and now they stand open for ever. It was enough. I have asked you for nothing since. I ask you for nothing now. I have lived; it i senough. I have had my wages, and I am ready for my work. I thank you and bless you and leave you."

CHILDREN IMITATE MANNERS.

Much of a child's earliest education, often the most valuable and most enduring part, is that which is unconsciously acquired at home, not by precept or teaching, but by imitation. From the earliest beginnings of learning the child is copying the sights and sounds about him.

Thus he learns to speak his first words, and from this time until he begins his formal education in school, and indeed through his entire childhood, he is imitating the language, manners, and emotions of the older people about him. His behavior and opinions are undoubtedly to some extent the direct result of this copying of his elders. He will repeat the tricks of speech and manner which they constantly employ.

If a child lives among people whose language is correct and agreeable, whose manners are pleasant, who show always a thoughtful consideration for others and whose behavior is gentle and kindly, he unconsciously acquires similar ways. The habit of courtesy comes not alone nor chiefly from direct instruction, but from imitation.

A DELICIOUS CAKE.

By Eleanor Record Sigel.
(Quoted from Pictorial Review for June, 1917.)

Every woman who makes a practice of serving afternoon tea wants new recipes for cakes to accompany the refreshing beverage. Here are a group, gathered from several quarters of the globe. Many of them will keep for days in a cooky jar—both children and grown-ups will like them:

Oriental Tea Cakes.

¼ cupful shortening.
1 cupful brown sugar.
⅛ teaspoonful soda.
1 tablespoonful cold water.
1 cupful flour.

Work the shortening until creamy, adding the brown sugar gradually and beating constantly. Dissolve the soda in the cold water and add this to the first mixture, then add vanilla and flour. Mix it until it holds together well and leaves no crumbs in the bowl. If it separates, add some water, a drop at a time, until the mixture can be molded into little balls. Place these balls on buttered tins about an inch and a half apart, and bake in a quick oven until delicately browned. This recipe will make forty cakes.

Vanilla Crescents (Hungarian.)

7 oz. butter.
8 oz. flour.
4 oz. blanched almonds.
2 oz. powdered vanilla sugar.

For this recipe it is well to prepare the vanilla sugar a week or two before you want to use it. Put one or two pounds of powdered sugar with a vanilla bean into a quart glass jar. Close tightly and when you are ready to use it, you will find the sugar has absorbed the vanilla flavor. To make the vanilla crescents, chop the almonds very fine after removing the skin by letting them stand a few minutes in boiling water. Put all the ingredients together quickly and work until the mixture is like pie-crust and does not stick to the hands. Divide the dough into little pieces, the size of a hickory-nut, roll slightly between the palms and pinch into a crescent form. Put on wax-paper in flat pans and bake in a moderate oven until biscuit color. Do not brown. While still warm, roll them lightly in powdered vanilla sugar and let them get thoroughly cold before packing away in a dry place. This quantity makes seventy small crescents. They will keep for months.

Little Almond Cakes (Mandoletti.)

2 egg whites.
¼ lb. sugar.
¼ lb. unblanched almonds.
3 oz. flour (scant.)

Beat the whites of the eggs until very stiff, add sugar and almonds cut in pieces but not too fine, add flour last and mix with hands, adding a few drops of flavoring if you wish. Mix until you can roll it into a ball. Take small pieces of the dough about the size of a little finger and flatten out on buttered tins. Bake in a moderate oven.

M. Rodzianko, president of the duma, was mainly responsible for the abdication of the ex-czar. He is a member of the old Russian nobility, a large land owner, and a man of great wealth.

GRADUATING CLASS OF THE FORT WAYNE BIBLE TRAINING SCHOOL.

Those in the picture are: Standing, in the rear—Miss Alga Blankenship, Tilman Amstutz, D. F. Siemens, Albert E. Oyer, D. A. Plunkett, John C. Clasper. Second row—Mrs. Emily Sandercock, Miss Sylvia Amstutz, Levi Hager, Henry W. Roth, Mrs. Alta Grieder, Mrs. Sarah Jane Monroe, Miss Barbara Warner. First row—Miss Melvina Eicher, Joseph Grieder, Miss Clara Steiner.

NEWEST COLOR NOTION IS BLACK AND WHITE.

The newest color notion is black and white.

With a white frock one wears white stockings, black shoes, black hat and black sweater. There is one difficulty which arises frequently when the lady follows a fad of this kind; she must explain constantly that nobody's dead, and that she is not in mourning. The black sweater will have but brief vogue. Popular acclaim will annihilate it before it gets a good start on a dismal run.

Silk sweaters of two colors are so delightfully gay that they will lure away your money. An idea, which is new, is that of setting in godets about the hips, and making these godets of another color. The full flouncy effect is desirable, and does away with the ugly stretched line at the back, which is the curse of all sweater garments.

JUDGMENT AGAINST DUDLO.

Judgment of $500 was rendered against the Dudlo Manufacturing company by Judge A. B. Anderson, in the federal court at Indianapolis, in favor of Walter A. Edwards, a former detective, who brought action for $10,000 damages, alleging malicious prosecution. Edwards was arrested through a complaint of the Dudlo company a year ago, when he was attempting to obtain a picture of machinery in an effort to establish evidence of an alleged patent infringement.

SYMPSON RESIGNS.

Just before leaving for Cleveland to take up his duties as assistant division engineer of the C. & P. division of the Pennsylvania, H. J. Sympson sent in his resignation as chairman of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. committee to President E. E. Griest. Mr. Sympson held that office since last fall, and was quite active in Y. M. C. A. work.

CAPITAL STOCK INCREASED.

The capital stock of C. C. Schlatter & Co., hardware dealers, has been increased $125,000, making it now $200,000. The increased capital stock is brought about because of the tremendous increase in business the company has had during the past few months.

NEW POSTAL CLERK.

James A. Ross has been added as a clerk in the Fort Wayne postoffice. He began work on Tuesday.

Wedding is Off as Agents Seek "British Hero"

MISS KATHERINE MILLER.

(Staff Special.)

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 21.—Miss Katherine Miller, a nurse of Flushing, will not marry "Lieutenant Commander George Ellis Stuart," who left suddenly and is being sought by secret service agents as an impostor.

Miss Miller is said to be heart-broken, but expresses joy at not having married a man who posed as a "British naval hero" and member of the Balfour party.

Agents say Stuart was never connected with any British military organization.

Stuart, it is said, was in the living room with Miss Miller at her home when the girl's father answered a telephone call in the next room. Stuart heard "Lieutenant Commander Stuart" and other parts relating to him spoken by Miller.

Going to a window, Stuart jumped out and ran across the lawn. It was the last Miss Miller saw of him.

BRIDAL LINGERIE OF BELGIAN VAL.

Negligees make a most fascinating part of a bride's trouseau.

These saucy boudoir robes consist of ingenious arrangements of fine lace, transparent tissues and soft ribbon.

An adorable garment is formed by catching straight widths of broad lace into an unfitted but graceful coatee.

A petticoat for wearing with the bridal dress has a deep-shaped flounce of Belgian val and hand embroidery.

MARK STUCK.

Garrett, Ind., May 22.—Mark Stuck, the 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Stuck, of this city, has surely shown his patriotism in the last few weeks by enlisting in the service of his country in helping to cut down the high cost of living. Mark is a live wire and is a carrier for the Fort Wayne Sentinel. Instead of enjoying a few hours more sleep in the early mornings he arises at 5:30 o'clock and with a big basket on his arm he hikes to the best place to gather greens and works faithfully until it draws near the school hour. Then he hustles home and gets his greens ready for the people of this city who readily buy them, many knowing their value as a spring tonic. He has to date earned $17 which he calls his "Green Money" and everyone will agree with him that it should look like "Green Backs."

His dog, Shep, is his constant companion and the two are inseparable. Mark is only a little fellow but he has earned a nice little sum of money without any investment but a good supply of backbone and determination.

WHY THAT LAME BACK?

That morning lameness—those sharp pains when bending or lifting, make work a burden and rest impossible. Don't be handicapped by a bad back—look to your kidneys. You will make no mistake by following this Fort Wayne resident's example.

Mrs. C. L. Roudebush, 2926 John street, Fort Wayne, says: "I was always subject to backache until it seemed almost natural to me. At times I could hardly move, owing to the pains that shot through my back. Someone told me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I got some at Regedanz's Pharmacy. After using one box, I was free from the suffering and have remained so ever since."

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Antwerp, Ohio, May 22.—A patriotic meeting of farmers and town people is called for Tuesday evening, the same will be held at the town hall or on the street. How to help Uncle Sam in the great struggle that is ahead will be the theme of discussion. The food problem, and other vital questions will be analyzed by prominent speakers.

Forrest Lacy, who has been holding down a job with the United States Tire Co., at Detroit, is home for a few days' visit, being the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ami Lacy during his stay.

Fred Pocock, of Fort Wayne, was an Antwerp visitor at this place Monday, the guest of his father, J. L. Pocock and wife.

Guy Deemer, teacher of science in our high school, has gone to Fremont, O., where he will visit his parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Deemer, for a few days.

The commencement exercises, which were held at the M. E. church Thursday evening, were well attended, the church being filled to its capacity. The graduating class numbered fifteen, seven boys and eight girls. Prof. C. H. Freeman, of Ada, O., delivered the address. The alumni banquet, held in the dinningroom of the Presbyterian church, Friday evening, was also well attended, covers being laid for one hundred and eight guests.

LOCAL MERCHANTS TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Dry Goods Association Will Meet at Indianapolis on June 12.

Fort Wayne will be well represented at the annual convention of the retail dry goods merchants of Indiana to be held in Indianapolis Tuesday, June 12. The meeting will be the third of its kind to be held under the auspices of the Indiana Retail Dry Goods association, of which practically all Fort Wayne dry goods merchants are members.

The association will depart from its usual rule and will omit the formal banquet. In its stead will be given a smoker, the entire convention being given over to the discussion of the business problems of the retail dry goods and ready-to-wear merchant.

At the smoker a question box will be conducted to which the dry goods merchants of the state have been asked to submit questions relative to any problem in their business which they have not been able to successfully solve, thus drawing out a free and open discussion of the particular subject and in this manner gaining the experience of other merchants who have successfully solved the same question.

The convention will last but one day and will be divided in three sessions, the final session being the smoker, all three sessions being held at the Claypool hotel.

Due to the conditions existing in all lines of business and especially in the retail dry goods line on account of the war, the convention promises to be of unusual interest.

At this convention the Mid-West Retail Dry Goods association will be formed comprised of the membership of the three states, Indiana, Illinois and Ohio.

Membership in the Indiana Retail Dry Goods association will carry with it membership in the Mid-West Retail Dry Goods association without additional cost. The convention Tuesday, June 12, will go a long way in bringing together in a closer relationship the retail dry goods merchants of the state and should be attended by every merchant in that line.

WILL ORGANIZE MOTOR RESERVE

Automobiles and Drivers Will Be Formed Into a Company.

MOVEMENT IS A NATION-WIDE ONE

Dan N. Beers is Named Chairman of Committee on Arrangements.

Realizing that the taxi cab saved Paris and proved a proficient means in the transportation of troops on the European battle field steps have been taken in the United States to form motor reserve companies in every city of any size.

Plans have already been made for the organization of a unit in Fort Wayne with Dan N. Beers as chairman. William Griffin and Austin Stultz are the other members of the committee. This committee was named at a meeting of the directors of the Fort Wayne Motor club held Monday afternoon. This committee in conjunction with a committee to be appointed by the Commercial club directors will formulate the plans to accomplish the purpose.

Application for membership in this organization will be received and acted upon by the committee which accepted applicants for the training camp of the officers' reserve.

This unit of national defense will only be called upon in case of emergency and according to the present plans will not be called from the state to perform their duties. These units may be called upon to transport troops in case the railroads are unable to transfer the men. The motor reserves may also be called upon in case of any serious disasters in the state.

A motor reserve company is composed of a car master, three assistant car masters, one machinist, one helper, one cook, one watchman, one trumpeter messenger, twenty-eight drivers, twenty-seven cars, one wrecking car and five motorcycles and drivers.

Recruiting Stimulated.

Settlement of the conscription law has caused recruiting to pick up again. Sixty youths from northern Indiana were sent from the Fort Wayne recruiting station on Monday. Recruiting was brisk Tuesday.

Raising of the pay of regular army soldiers is also given as a reason for the renewing of enlisting activities. Sergeants are now to receive $42 a month, besides their clothing and rations. Quartermasters will get $44 and staff sergeants $55.

Goes to Indianapolis.

Captain Thomas Ryan will go to Indianapolis later in the week to make arrangements for establishing of two companies of troops from this neighborhood in the Tenth infantry regiment, which will be trained at Fort Benjamin Harrison.

Captain Ryan believes that the regular army will reach its full quota before June 20. The state of Indiana has no doubt attained its full complement by this time, he states.

Preparing Advertising.

Preparation of more advertising matter for the regular army is going on at the East Main street station. There will be no words about the draft law in the new display matter. The conscription measure is outside the regular army sphere, although the more volunteers obtained the less will be the number of conscripts needed.

Four Sailors.

Four young men were enlisted in the navy department Tuesday morning. There is promise of renewed activity in navy recruiting, officers at the Federal building office believe.

Eyes Keep Him Out.

Kuneth Noble, son of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Noble, who has been anxious to enter the aviation corps of army work, found on examination in New York city that it would be impossible on account of his eyes. Mr. Noble is taking a postgraduate course in Taft school, Watertown, Conn., preparing for Yale, which he will now enter next fall. This summer the young man and two or three school friends are to go to a farm in Michigan, which his father owns, and work there.

ASK BOARD TO ASSIST

Plan for Demonstration on Day of Registration Are Discussed.

RECEIVE WORD FROM WAR DEPARTMENT

Captain Kilbourne Calls Meeting of Training Camps Association.

Plans for a big patriotic demonstration in connection with registration day on June 5 when all young men between the ages of 21 and 30, inclusive, will be required to register in compliance with the conscription measure recently passed by congress were discussed at noon, Tuesday, at a meeting at the Commercial club of the executive committee of the Officers Reserve Corps Military Training Camps association, of which Capt. E. H. Kilbourne is chairman.

Captain Kilbourne has called a meeting of the committee for Wednesday noon, together with a commmittee fro mthe Fort Wayne Council of Patriotic Peace, for further action. Inasmuch as the time is getting short it is imperative that the plans be made at once.

The communication from the central department of the United States army urges the members of the executive committee of the Officers Reserve Corps Military Training Camps association to see that preparations are started immediately to co-ordinate all interests in making June 5 the occasion for a great demonstration of patriotism. The communication says that plans should be perfected so that on June 5 every man within the prescribed age limits may be able to register without interfering with the economic activities of his community.

"People of the cities and of the countryside should accompany their sons, brothers and husbands to the registration place in the feeling that here in America is the altar of free institutions and that every man who is putting down his name is subscribing to a sacred service in the protection of those institutions," the communication says. "Every man as he registers should be provided with a khaki arm band of honor so that he can assume leadership in the work."

MAJOR LEAGUES TO PLAY SUNDAY TO AID IN WAR

Chicago, Ill., May 22.—Major league baseball on Sunday in all the cities of the eastern end of the circuit, the gross receipts to be donated to various units of the United States army, is what magnates of the American league hope to bring about. President B. B. Johnson of the league has already arranged with the approval of Mayor Mitchel of New York for a game in New York, Sunday, June 10, between the New York and St. Louis Americans. It is to be a championship game not an exhibition affair, the scheduled game of June 18, between the teams having been advanced for the occasion. Mayor Mitchel is to be custodian of the receipts, which are to be given to the New York engineer corps.

Machinery was set in motion today for the purpose of obtaining permission for American league teams to play championship games on Sunday in Washington, Philadelphia and Boston, the proceeds to go to some unit of the American army.

Summary of the Day's War News

[By The Associated Press.]

The German armies in France are slowly yielding ground before the relentless pressure exerted by Generals Haig and Petain and the vital question is as to whether their morale can be maintained under the terrific pounding to which they are subjected day and night.

Apparently the allied commanders have abandoned the policy of sudden thrusts at chosen points and are relying on a constant hammering over a wide front in the belief that sooner or later the iron German ring must either break or crack.

While there is little immediate prospect of sensational developments in the battle area the political situation remains fraught with many possibilities.

The latest news from Russia indicated that the crisis in that country continued acute and the menace that Russia may either withdraw from the entente or be plunged into chaos still throws its shadow over the future. The Russian radicals are apparently as determined as ever to reject the war program of England and France but show almost as much reluctance as Berlin to define their precise aims. A conference is projected at which the coalition government will be asked for a frank statement as to its position and there are uncomfortable rumors that the radicals intend to force repudiation of Russia's treaties with other members of the entente. On the other hand is the rising tide of indignation against Germany in Scandinavia and Spain. The anti-German faction in Sweden has been powerfully reinforced by the action of the Germans in sinking three Swedish grain ships, in violation of their own agreement to respect the safety of vessels. Spain is still awaiting a reply to her protest over the sinking of the Spanish steamer Patricio, destroyed while sailing under a German guarantee, and the tone of the Spanish press is increasingly peremptory in its demand that Germany be compelled to respect Spanish rights. What effect the course of the press is having on the German people remains practically a sealed book. The German censorship has reached a point of unparalleled efficiency and the little news that trickles across the frontier of the central empires offers scant basis for even speculation. Apparently the war of the Pan-Germans and Junkers on Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg is going merrily on, but there is nothing to indicate what effect it is having on the emperor, sole arbiter of the premier's destiny. The junkers claim to have enlisted Field Marshal von Hindenburg, but the issue will presumably remain in abeyance until the reichstag reconvenes on July 5.

Last night's actions on the French front confirmed French possession of the commanding high ground won the previous night near Moronvilliers, on the Champagne. The Germans thoroughly bombarded these new French positions and then delivered several infantry attacks, but were unable to shake the French hold and suffered considerable losses. The French have enumerated more than 1,000 unwounded prisoners taken in the fighting of the past few hours in this region.

Another complication has arisen in the Russian situation through a movement in Finland for complete independence of Russia. A congress of the most influential interests in the grand duchy has adopted a resolution favoring such a separation.

On the American continent developments in the war situation concerning Brazil and Mexico are reported. President Braze, of Brazil, has sent a message to congress recommending that the decree of Brazilian neutrality be revoked, in view of Brazil's traditional unity of view and sympathy with the United States.

According to a news agency dispatch from Berlin, through Amsterdam, Mexico is reported to have handed, through her minister in Berlin, a note to the German government protesting against Germany's submarine campaign.

MAN KILLED AT ASHLEY.

Ashley, Ind., May 22.—The body of a man was found Monday along the Wabash tracks just west of Helmar. It was badly mangled. From appearances the deceased was about 24 years old. On his clothing were found $10.50 and an identification card giving the name of M. C. Graham, Bridgeport, Conn.

MORE WOMEN HAVE SIGNED FOR VOTES

Notary Public to Be Hired to Aid Registration at Y. W. C. A.

Of the 960 voters who have registered at the city hall, more than half the number are women, say the registration clerks, Swartz and Bresnahan.

Mrs. Carina Warrington, woman attorney, with an office in the Shoaff block, delivered forty-five signed blanks at the registration office on Monday afternoon. She will bring in several slips every day until most of the women of the city have been accounted for, she states. She has been a leader in the woman suffrage movement and is anxious to establish her sisters in their new found duty. She also wants to be sure that women have a voice in the making of the new state constitution.

A notary public is to be established at the Y. W. C. A. on West Wayne street, in order to make valid the filling out of blanks at that place, where women of the city gather. The notary will be on duty one hour each day.

Women of the city, whose husbands are from foreign lands, are told to make sure that their companions have taken out their second naturalization papers. Unless the husbands have taken that action their wives cannot vote, even if they are American born. So far no case where it was necessary to deny a woman the right to register has been introduced.

The first male colored citizen to register appeared at the office Monday evening. The colored women of the city were represented at the registration office more than a week ago.

TURNED DOWN PETITIONS.

Two Sidewalks Will Not Be Built, Board Decides.

The board of works voted at its meeting Monday afternoon not to order sidewalks constructed on St. Mary's avenue, from Pape avenue to Third street, and on Franklin avenue, from Third street to Huffman street. Franklin avenue citizens will be allowed to file a new petition asking for walks on the west side of the street.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company was granted the right to build an industrial track in the alley between Holman and Montgomery streets, from Barr street to Clay street. The council must give the final word before the track can be constructed.

Action on the petition from the General Electric company, which asks for a sidetrack on Wall street, from Broadway to Ewing, will be acted upon next Monday by the board.

SAVED CITY MONEY.

Efforts of Dr. Steinmetz and Frank Dix Bear Fruit.

New methods of installing apparatus, worked out by Dr. C. P. Steinmetz and Frank Dix, superintendent of the city light department, have saved that department nearly $1,000 in the past year, the records at the light office show.

Dr. Steinmetz and Frank Dix both read papers before the Baltimore, Md., convention of the International Association of Municipal Electricians on the general subject of "Operating a Municipal Lighting System." Both men were interested in the points brought out by the other. A conference was arranged between the pair.

When Steinmetz came to Fort Wayne a month after the convention there was a prolonged discussion of the most effective methods of conducting a city lighting system between the two. Several minor changes were decided upon for the local plant. The new plans of wiring and installing nitrogen lamps saved much money for the city department, the accounting displays.

WILL NAME CENTERS.

City Clerk Boerger to Secure Conscription Locations.

Centers where registration for the conscription measure are to be carried on in Fort Wayne are to be secured by City Clerk Boerger as soon as possible, it was decided by the conscription registration board, which met in the office of Mayor W. J. Hosey, Monday evening.

An effort will be made to induce citizens to allow the use of the usual polling places for draft registration points. The owners of the property will be asked to grant the free use of the rooms as a patriotic duty. The conscription registration places will be made public as soon as possible in order that the citizens can register with as much dispatch as possible.

It is believed by the conscription board members that several deputies will be necessary in each of the thirty-one precincts to carry on the registration. The board members expect June 5, when more than 8,000 young men of Fort Wayne must sign up, will be one of the busiest times in the city's history.

WILL SELL LAND.

Council Expected to Allow Sale of Park Property.

The right to sell three lots near the Coombs street bridge to the plant of the Wayne Oil Tank and Pump company is expected to be given to the park board, Tuesday night, by the city council. The land was bought for a park site and the project has since been abadoned. The land can ow be sold to advantage to the city.

The council will also act upon the resolution which asks that the names of Dayton avenue and Oakwood street be changed to Oakwood drive.

Preparing Plans.

City Engineer F. M. Randall has been advised by the board of works to prepare plans [illegible]

Franklin street to St. Clair street. This action was decided upon by the board Tuesday night. The street is already carried over the old canal bed and only its extension across two lots will be necessary to bring it to St. Clair street.

Building Permits.

Building permits were issued to Henry Hilgeman, to erect frame dwelling, 1014 East Jefferson street, $1,000 and to Charles Rodenbeck, build residence, 2621 West Drive, $5,000.

Laying Conduits.

The city light department is laying conduits in the alley between Washington and Wayne street, from Calhoun to Clinton streets.

Goes to Indianapolis.

Dr. J. H. Gilpin, secretary to the city health board, and Dr. E. M. VanBuskirk, of the county health board, went to Indianapolis, Tuesday, where they will attend the two days' convention of Indiana health officers. Dr. Gilpin will deliver a paper on "Prevention of the Spread of Disease Among Children."

CLERK'S OFFICE WILL BE HIT THE HARDEST

Ten Young Men Employed in Court House Must Register.

Ten young men employed in the offices of the court house must comply with the conscription law registration. The clerk's office will be hit the hardest as three young men in this office come within the age limit and will consequently be forced to register on June 5.

The court house employes and the offices in which they are employed are as follows: Clerk's office, Ed Young, Art Lamont and Frank Koch; surveyor's office, Carlisle Duell and Hugh Deardorff; treasurer's office, William J. Pepe and Carl Greim; auditor's office, S. Loraine Boerger and Jay Brown, and the sheriff's office, Charles Kleint.

Will Go to Bluffton.

William Eggeman, county assessor, will go to Bluffton, Tuesday afternoon, where he will testify in the case against the Levy Brothers. He will take the assessment sheets for the past three years with him.

Case Is Transferred.

In the circuit court, Monday, in the case of Edward Miller vs. the Benevolent Order of Buffaloes, herd No. 1, of Fort Wayne, for $84 sick benefit alleged to be due, Attorneys Emrick & Emrick for the defendant, asked for a change of venue from Allen county, on the ground that their clients could not get a fair trial. Smith & Douglas, attorneys for the plaintiff, then dismissed the action from the circuit court, owing to the expense of a change of venue and the inconveniences it would impose and filed it in the court of Justice M. J. Tancey, where it will be heard.

LIFE WAS MISERABLE,

States Frieda K. Dillman in Suit for Divorce from A. F. Dillman.

Life was made miserable, states Frieda K. Dillman in her suit for divorce from Alfred F. Dillman, whom, she says, made many false accusations. She says he accused her falsely of being immoral. She asks for the custody of a minor child and also prays the court to issue an order restraining the Packayrd Piano company from paying him his wages.

To Elect Superintendent.

The twenty township trustees will meet at the court house on Monday, June 4, at which time the election of a superintendent of county schools will be held. Present indications are that D. O. McComb, the present incumbent, will be re-elected without opposition.

Fined $1 and Costs.

George A. Driftmeyer, a collector, charged with assault and battery, was fined $1 and costs in the circuit court Tuesday morning by Judge Eggeman. The young man accidentally struck the small child of Mr. and Mrs. David Foster, on North Calhoun street, last fall, while riding on the sidewalk with his bicycle. In the city court he was fined $100 and costs. He appealed the case.

Will is Probated.

The last will and testament of John Meyer was probated in the circuit court Tuesday morning. He bequeaths all his property, both personal and real, to his wife, which she is to keep until her death, unless she marries again. If she remarries the property is to be divided among her and the children according to the disposition of the law.

Charges Non-Support.

Charging non-support, Eunice Fleschnier is suing Toby Fleschner for divorce. She states in her complaint that they were married May 25, 1914, and separated May 1, 1916. She alleges that the defendant was cruel and inhuman to her and abused and humiliated her in many ways.

Y. M. C. A. WAR FUND STARTED

Over $35,000 Received in Opening Day of State-wide Campaign.

GET NEARLY $3,000 IN THIRD DISTRICT

Five Counties Fail to Get Started on the Opening Day.

The state-wide campaign for $150,000 to make possible Y. M. C. A. work in the army camps, started off on Monday with a fine swing; $35,112 was reported from the nine districts of the state. Of this amount $2,903 was reported from district No. 3, of which $2,655 was subscribed by Allen county citizens and $248 by Steuben county citizens.

The men in DeKalb and Huntington counties began their work Tuesday morning and are expected to make substantial reports Tuesday evening. The committees in Adams, Wells and Whitley counties were not able to get started quite so promptly, but have their plans well laid and have given assurance that their counties will meet their apportionment by the end of the week.

It is very gratifying to the committeemen and solicitors to find that this work at Fort Benjamin Harrison and other training and mobilization camps is appealing to the patriotism and generosity of the majority of the people. Inasmuch as there is no other opportunity whereby our soldiers may have facilities for reading, writing letters, enjoying entertainments and social features of any kind, in addition to opportunities for moral and spiritual uplift, it becomes an absolute necessity to get behind the Y. M. C. A. in doing this work for our own and our neighbors' sons.

The Allen county committee will not make a city-wide canvass for their share of the state fund, so that many men and women will not be called on personally to contribute. However, as many parents of enlisted men and others will want to have a part in this work, subscriptions will be gladly received by the district secretary, E. W. Peirce, at his office, 1407 Calhoun street.

MORE MEN ARE NEEDED TO HELP BUILD SHIPS

Local Branch of Free Employment Bureau Gets Word from Washington

More men are needed by the war department to assist in the building of ships. A month ago the free employment bureau branches throughout the state were called upon to secure men of all trades for this work. Fort Wayne at that time sent in the names of fifty men.

However, Fred Schmeling, in charge of the local branch, received word Monday afternoon from the war department stating that the required number of men were not received upon the first call. The second call is issued and it is believed that again as many will answer this time as did on the former occasion.

Applications will be received at the local branch of the free employment bureau in the Allen county court house.

The war department also announced that those men who filed their application on the first occasion will be summoned in the near future by written orders from the department.

Men who answer this call will be regarded as being in the service of their country and will consequently be excused from military duty.

KIWANIS CLUB HAS SECURED 33 MEMBERS

Organizer North Will Remain Here Until Seventy-Five Are Enrolled.

Through the efforts of Harry North, a national organizer, the local Kiwanis club has secured thirty-three members and Mr. North promises to remain until the membership has been boosted to seventy-five. This announcement was made at the regular weekly luncheon held Tuesday noon at the Commercial club.

This new organization is an international society and already eighty-eight chapters have been established in the United States. The membership in this club is limited to two men from each profession and no man can become a member unless he is an executive or in business for himself.

Howard Benninghoff presided at the meeting Tuesday noon and addresses were given by Harry North, E. F. Brinkman, Rose Keller, Charles Pask, Guy Mahurin and Mr. Beatty.

CUMMINS, THE BETTER SWIMMER, GRABS GAME

Grand Rapids is Victim When Chiefs Begin to Regain Standing.

Because he had no fears of water, Cummins won a battle from Bremer at League park yesterday, 3 to 2. The game was held up thirty minutes in the second inning in order to let the rain spill itself out, and was then continued, ending happily for the Chiefs. When a club starts out to regain its standing in the community from which it has been sent forth to do battle, some other club or clubs must do the victim act, and right now the part has fallen to Grand Rapids.

In the second frame Mike Kelly was was handed an unearned run when Second Baseman Carey, of the Black Sox, booted the ball with a double play in sight. 'Twas a different story in the sixth, however, when Pete Powers used his trusty warclub to good advantage and sent a pair of runners across the plate with his double into left field.

In the next inning the Black Sox became slightly dangerous, making two runs and threatening to tie the count. A pair of doubles by Mitchell and Cary sent the former across for the first marker. Alcock then grounded to Siegfried, who missed first base on his throw, leaving men on second and third. A sacrifice fly scored Crey but Alcock was sent out to third by Mike Kelly. Eddington was given a life on first, but became ambitious, tried to steal, and was nabbed.

After that not a player saw first, both pitchers retiring six in order as they came. The Chiefs looked good in spite of the bad weather, and there is a big chance that they may stage some winnings from now on.

In the next game Shortstop Whitcraft, from the Virginia league, will relieve Brown, who has been with the team so far this season. The latter has played some mighty fast semi-pro baseball but will need some more playing before he is ready for class B. A berth will be found for him in a lesser league. Whitcraft is touted as a nifty performer, and Vandy has been watching him for some time. He will in all probability be accompanied by a teammate, Outfielder Bilitse. Bilste is a sticker and has been clubbing the pill at the rate of .380 this season.

A. A. MANAGERS STILL FUSSING OVER SERIES

Joe Tinker Not in Favor of Experimenting During Present Season.

Chicago, May 22.—When the club owners of the American Association met again today in an effort to determine whether to abandon the scheduled interleague series with the International league they were still deadlocked. Final action on the question was prevented yesterday by the absence of O. H. Wathen, of the Louisville club.

James C. McGill, of Indianapolis, and Roger Bresnahan, of Toledo, with Mr. Wathen were said to compose the faction opposed to the move of President Hickey abandoning the series. Joseph Tinker, of Columbus; J. W. Norton, of St. Paul; M. Cantillon, of Minneapolis; A. F. Timme, of Milwaukee, and George Tebeau, of Kansas City, are backing the league head. Before leaving for Toledo, Tinker said that in his opinion the series was an experiment that should not be attempted at this time.

"We are in the throes of a war," he said. "Our players are liable to the draft and no man can tell what the next few months will bring forth. So far as I'm concerned the series will not be played."

McGill announced that the Indianapolis club would go through with the series if they had to play the games single handed.

"The agreement was made in good faith, and there is no good reason for breaking it," he said.

A suggestion was made at the meeting that the American association season may be split in two, and the winners in each play a series for the champion instead of the interleague games, but this did not appear to meet with favor.

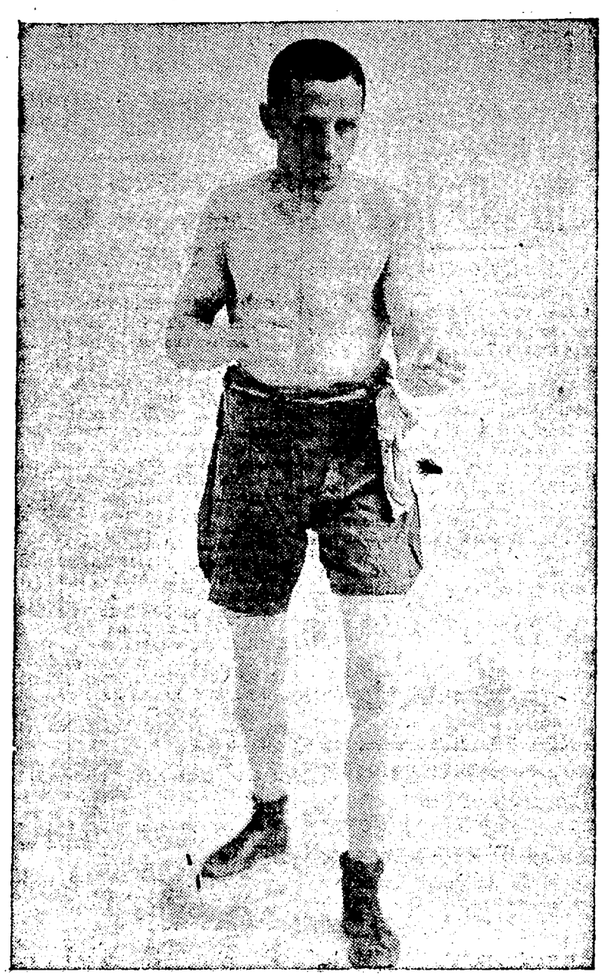
HAS HARD JOB CUT OUT FOR HIMSELF.



FRANKIE MASON,

Fort Wayne Premier of the Paperweight Division Who Meets the Zulu Kid Tonight for Ten-Round Go at the Majestic.

MASON AND ZULU KID ARE BOTH CONFIDENT OF WINNING BATTLE

Flyweights Are in Best of Condition and Will Stage a Hard Scrap.

No two more confident scrappers ever took the ring than Mason and the Zulu Kid, who meet at the Majestic theater tonight. This pair of clever flyweights are expected to put on the fastest bout ever witnessed in the city, and with both of them in the best of condition it will no doubt be a hard fight, with every possibility of a decision by the knockout route.

Frankie completed his training last night, and he states that he is far below the weight—112 pounds—and that he never felt better in all his life. The easterner, who arrived late yesterday afternoon with his manager, Sarno, is also confident that his condition is the best, and he stated that while he realizes that Mason is a fighter with a future, he is mighty certain that he can turn the trick. All of this leaves Frankie none the less confident.

The scrappers will weigh in at the Berry Buffet this afternoon at 3 o'clock, together with the pugs who will make up the rest of the card. In the curtain raiser Art Wellsbacher and Battling Hess will stage a continuation of a rivalry started here when Mason fought Coulon. These boys, both of them as husky as they come, have no love for each other since their last fight, and they will probably do some tall fighting.

The semi-final will be between Young Brown, of Toledo, who did Holzhauer so much damage on the last card, and Eddie Austin, of Chicago. Holzhauer was in no condition to fight Brown, who is a hard boiled proposition, but Austin can offer him lots, and a hard battle is expected.

In order to accommodate fans who come from out of the city, the scrap will be started at 8:30 o'clock, central time, or 9:30, eastern time. E. W. Dickerson, of Grand Rapids, and well known to fight fans as a competent referee, will officiate at all three bouts.

As a memorial to Gyp, the organizations' faithful mascot for many years, East Orange (N. J.) lodge of chauffeurs will erect a monument to the dog, which died recently. A notice of Gyp's death was posted in a garage.

WILL MINOR LEAGUES WEATHER WAR STORM?

Lesser Circuits Look to Be on Financial Rock According to Scribe.

(By Paul Purman.)

What of the minors?

Will they be able to weather the storm of this tumultuous season?

Is the present agitation in the American association merely a preface to a wholesale revolution in minor league ball?

The minor league situation is one which will bear a lot of study.

Few minor league clubs make much money. Many are supported by small town business men for the advertising they get out of a team. Active co-operation between men and the minor league magnates is all that keep dozens of clubs operating during the season.

The minor league baseball situation is becoming graver every year.

Every season more leagues are disbanded than new ones are formed.

Members in the National Association of Professional Baseball clubs fell from forty leagues in 1913 to twenty-five leagues in 1917, twenty-two of which finished the season.

And of the twenty-two leagues which finished there was not an average of two clubs per league which finished the season with a profit.

The first cry of wolf from the minors this year comes from the American association, one of the largest and most prosperous of the minors.

Club owners declare that unless players agree to accept salary cuts the clubs must suspend for the season.

President Hickey has called off the proposed post-season series between winning clubs of the association and International league on account of hard times on his circuit.

If the American association cannot get through without such measures how about the class A, B and C leagues?

How about the Western league, in which last year only one club made money, and that not the winner.

How about the Three-I or the Central?

Conditions in these leagues are similar to those in most in their classes.

Minor league magnates are worried and rightly.

If business men fail to lend their support many of these clubs must suffer, and as they have already suffered they cannot stand much more.

Superficially it appears that the only thing that will save the minors this year is complete co-operation of the business men in the cities where clubs hold franchises, combined with lower salary limits and the eradication of baseball passes.

SPORT CHATTER

Now that the Chiefs are fairly well launched on a winning streak it would be sad to have conscription come along and spill the beans.

Lovely heads athletics, comments an alert contemporary. Such a name should go well with ping pong and other strenuous athletic sports.

Chief Myers stole a base the other day. Next thing we know Ernie Koob will be getting a hit.

George Stallings probably wishes he had been thoughtful enough to drop a little ground glass in Fred Mitchell's coffee before he left Boston.

From the way the boxers are rushing to the colors it looks as though "slacker" and "yellow" should be substituted for "battling" and "cyclone" and such names for the members of that honorable profession.

Home-Run Baker made a home run the other day, which proves that even a name won't stop some fellows.

Sid Hatch postponed a 100 mile race on account of a couple of broken ribs. Even broken ribs would be preferable to running 100 miles.

Carl Morris should be barred from boxing every plac ein the country, according to Jess Willard. Maybe Jess is getting a little uneasy.

After that game between Dayton and the Chiefs yesterday, nothing would be a surprise.

Taberski will fight with his cue for his title, says a headline. We thought rough-house tactics had been abolished in three-cushion billiards.

It took the aid of many of his best friends to make Coulon see that he was through but now he is convinced.

Baseball fans would have paid the ticket speculator tax for world series games won't worry about the war tax on regular games.

TRAIN BODY WELL BEFORE TRYING DIFFICULT ATHLETIC STUNTS

Remarkably Developed Lad Holding 158-Pound Man On His Chest. James H. McNamara, Boy Wrestling Wander, Doing the "Bridge" Stunt.

(By James H. McNamara, 12-Year-old Boy Wrestling Marvel).

In the article that went before this I told of the bridging exercise, which is the first one taught by the wrestling instructor. You remember, the exercise where you lie on your back with your feet drawn up toward your body. You raise your stomach and chest, making a bridge with head and feet.

Pretty soon after I got to doing this bridge easy I could almost feel my neck muscles become stronger and my back get full of pep.

Then I began to learn the flying bridge, which means to be able to spin around with the head as a pivot. Then we learn the arm and leg dip; that is, lie at length on the stomach, raising up and down on the hands and toes. This tends to develop the arms and back.

During these exercises the right way to breathe is taught. Learning to breathe right will keep a person from tiring quick. Lots of people know how to swim; that is, they can stay on top of the water and manage to get along. But most people don't learn how to breathe right and lose half the fun of swimming. I want to say that while I like wrestling and believe it to be the greatest body developer, I swim and dive a lot and think it is great business.

But I was talking about the flying bridge and using the head as a pivot. Boys who are not working under an instructortality of body and brain."

should be very careful with this stunt. A boy needs to be built up to it before he attempts flying around on his noodle.

Just as I began to develop muscle and lose fat when I tried the first bridge exercise, I began to feel more good effects when I got to the flying bridge. Remember that while my instructor kept teaching me new holds he never let up on the ordinary breathing and muscle building exercises. It does not do a person any good to know science of wrestling if he doesn't build up his body to supply strength for applying holds and resisting them.

It doesn't make a boy or man a wrestler if he simply is strong. If he is strong to begin with it helps a lot. But he must learn the science. And let me tell you fellows that a very little instruction goes a long way.

You just naturally come to know when to get a certain hold as your opponent leaves an opening.

Al Williams, wrestling instructor of the Olympic club of San Francisco, who has tutored Herbert McNamara, refuses to allow any of his charges to wrestle for more than five minutes at a time. Williams is a firm believer in developing strong boys and young men, rather than putting out "champions."

Williams says: "The championship idea has been overdone in this country. My stunt is to build up and make them enjoy life to the limit, with self control and vigor."

One of the simplest and, in a sense, most beautiful of last sayings is that attributed to the beautiful and unfortunate Marie Antoinette. Everybody knows that she was a victim of the guillotine, and as she stumbled from the tumbril to the scaffold she accidently trod upon her executioner's foot as he stood ready to perform the task at which he had become an expert. "I beg your pardon," said the lady who had been the center of the most brilliant court in Europe. "I beg your pardon. I did not do it on purpose." A minute later her beautiful head fell into the basket.

EDDIE GRANT, FORMER GIANT, LAYS DOWN LAW BOOKS TO TAKE UP RIFLE IN U. S. SERVICE

One of the first ball players of national reputation to join the colors was Eddie Grant, infielder, formerly with the Giants, Cincinnati Reds and Phillies, who has been accepted for the officers' reserve corps at Plattsburg.

Grant gave up baseball at the close of the 1915 season to begin practicing law in New York.

If Grant's action is any criterion ball players as a general rule will not be found to be slackers in the great war. Although he had quit baseball, Grant had as much at stake as many active players. He had been practicing law just long enough to build up a practice which is sure to be lost while he is at the front.

Although Grant was in the National league for half a dozen years and took part in the last world series between the Giants and Athletics, he could never be classed as a great ball player.

For three years he played third base at Philadelphia, and was sent to Cincinnati, where he was used as a utility infielder until traded to New York in 1913.

He was with the Giants in 1913, 1914 and 1915 as a utility infielder, and was often used as a pinch hitter or substitute urnner.

His best year in baseball was 1914, when he batted .277 in eighty-eight games, and was one of the best fielding third basemen in the league.

The Store Which Goes On Forever

It Celebrates Its Semi-Centennial Next Year

Are you a stranger in the city? That this store has existed in Fort Wayne for half a century, and has always led the procession, is the best guarantee you can have that it is the place where you ought to purchase your Furniture, Rugs, Carpets, Stoves, Baby Carriages, etc.

Nothing phases the business of the "Big Store." The war scare cannot do it. The selling out this spring of the $100,000 stock of our strongest competitor, who has quit the business, strange to relate, has not only not reduced our sales since January first of this year, as compared with those for last year, but has actually increased them just $779. And this, too, notwithstanding we held a special sale last year during the month of January, and this year did not. Pardon the bad taste we show in patting ourselves a little upon our back for being able to make such a record for the first five months of 1917.

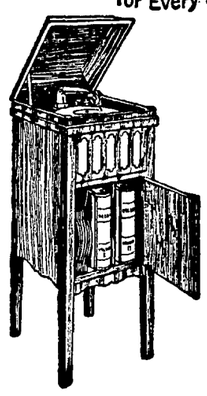
The Perfect Tone OPEROLLO For Every Home



PRICE. $35.00.

Everybody knows or should know that we are headquarters for the greatest musical instrument ever invented—the Edison Diamond Disc. But like all "best" things, it costs too much for some people. So we have also taken the agency for the Operollo, an instrument which plays the lateral Records, such as the Columbia, Victrola and others, and is, like them, a needle machine. It looks like a $100 machine but only costs you $35, and on easy payments at that. It has a large space below for albums for Records. It successfully competes with all makes of these instruments except the Edison. Come in and let us demonstrate its splendid qualities to you.

You may be wanting for your Parlor or Library a specially fine Suite covered in high-grade genuine leather. If so, here is your chance. An artistic Colonial design; all pieces match; very high-grade upholstering and the usual price in other stores, you will find to be about $125.00. Again we will surprise you and cause you to wonder when we tell you our price. Our special price is but..... $69.50

Here is another wonderful bargain for one week only—A Mahogany Bedroom Suite of three pieces, which speak for themselves. An artistic design; all pieces made to match; the panels veneered like a piano with crotch mahogany; the Dresser has a large French bevel plate mirror, and the Dressing Table three such mirrors, the two side mirrors pivoted so as to be turned as desired. The suite is in the "Adam Period Design," now so popular. If we asked you $100 for this suite you would not be surprised, but you will be when we say you may have it for one week or until they are all sold for $49.50

WILLIAM AND MARY PERIOD DESIGN DINING ROOM SUITS are exceedingly attractive. There are no carvings to gather dust and the wood is given an exquisite finish. The table shown is in Fumed Oak, the most durable of all finishes; the top measures 45 inches in diameter, and the construction is so perfect that we can guarantee this table to last your whole life long. You would probably guess the price to be at least $30.00, but for this week we quote it to you at

The Chair to match is a very high-grade one; has box frame—the strongest way to make a chair—the seats are covered in brown Spanish Leather, while the panel in the back is of cane, which is one of the marks of the William and Mary Period Designs. These Chairs, special for a week, will cost you only

$4.00 Each

TO LEAD PROCESSION OF AUTOMOBILES

A. I. E. E. Will Honor Dr. C. P. Steinmetz, Who Comes Wednesday.

Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz, who lectures under the auspices of the Fort Wayne section of the American Institute of Electric Engineers at the Majestic theater Wednesday night, will be honored with the first long ride in an Owens Magnetic car mainly built at the local General Electric works in this part of the country. It is the intention of the members of the A. I. E. E. to meet Dr. Steinmetz with a delegation at Waterloo, making the trip to that city in automobiles. There will be eight or ten machines in the procession and the finest—an Owens Magnetic demonstration car—will carry Dr. Steinmetz and some of the leading members of the association down from Waterloo. He will come to that city on a New York Central train, arriving there at 8:10 o'clock Wednesday morning, and to get to Waterloo at that hour the Fort Wayne party will have to make an early start.

Dr. Steinmetz will talk on "What Effect the War Will Have Upon American Industries," which subject is uppermost in the minds of all managers of big manufacturing concerns at present. Dr. Steinmetz, who is the consulting engineer of the General Electric works and one of the most famous electricians of the day, is a good talker and during his career in an engineering and business way in Germany and America, has accumulated a vast store of knowledge which eminently qualifiies him to talk on the subject he has chosen for tomorrow night's lecture. The admission to the lecture will be by invitation tickets, issued by Chairman J. J. Klein and Secretary R. B. Roberts, of the Fort Wayne section of the A. I. E. E., who will supply all friends who apply for them to the seating capacity of the theater.

When the party with Dr. Steinmetz arrives from Waterloo, he will take luncheon and then go to the local General Electric plant, where the distinguished visitor will spend the afternoon in looking over the works, in company with F. S. Hunting, J. J. Wood, E. A. Barnes and other local officials.

ELECTRO-TECHNICS TONIGHT.

The committee of arrangements for the Electric-Technic club meeting tonight has not disclosed the character of the program. "Come and see," is the answer to the inquiry concerning it. "We have something good to offer and want to surprise you," said one of the committeemen. It has leaked out that there will be a sensational breach of promise trial as one of the features, but other features are not being disclosed. The meeting tonight marks the close of the 1916-1917 lecture course season and new officers will be elected.

WILL ENTERTAIN COMRADES.

Boilermaker Louis Russell, of the Pennsylvania shops, owns a cottage on the assembly grounds at Rome City, which he will open for the season next Saturday and Sunday. He proposes to make the opening the occasion for a house party to twelve or fifteen of his shopmates and has invited them up to Rome City on Saturday, to remain until Sunday night. The "boys" anticipate a good time and plenty of turtle, bass, bluegills and perch, along with all the appurtenances of the feast at the lakes, which have given the Russell cottage such an enviable reputation for hospitality.

ELECT DELEGATES WEDNESDAY.

From 4 to 7 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, at Machinists' hall in the Lau block, Typographical union, No. 78, will vote on delegate to the international convention at Colorado Springs, where the meeting will be held at the Printers' home. There are five delegates and the election is going to be hotly contested. The delegates are George Overdear, J. L. Sessler, Herman Meyers, P. J. Miller and J. Hoar. A vote will also be taken on the referendum question, submitted by the international union.

SHOW SYMPATHY FOR COMRADE.

All employes in the Pennsylvania air brake room, headed by Foreman James A. Foster, will march in a body to the home of Dennis Cleary, one of their shopmates, this evening, to pay tribute to the memory of his mother and as an expression of sympathy with Mr. Cleary over the loss of his beloved mother. Mrs. Johanna Cleary, the deceased, will be buried tomorrow morning and because of the hour of the funeral it will be impossible for all the shopmates to attend, hence the sympathetic demonstration this evening.

CALLED IN AN OPERATION.

Division Operator J. F. Betts, of the G. R. & I., has not secured a clerk to take the place of Herbert Daseler, transferred and promoted to a position in the Pennsylvania superintendent's office, and until he secures a regular clerk F. L. Stevens, a telegraph operator, will fill the office. John Wilkinson, also an operator, has been called to the main office to work in Mr. Stevens' place until he returns.

MR. WYNEKEN PROMOTED.

This morning F. G. Wyneken, who had been acting chief clerk to L. S. Trachsel, of the piecework price-making department of the Pennsylvania shops, assumeed that title, having succeeded Ed Breimeier, who resigned to take employment in the office of S. F. Bowser & Company two weeks ago. Mr. Wyneken came here from his home in Carlin, Ill., about seven months ago to take a position in the Pennsylvania offices, and he has been there ever since.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE.

Machinist John Raidy, of the Pennsylvania erecting shop, had a fall this morning that might have resulted seriously, but didn't. He lost his balance while on a locomotive and tumbled to the floor, a distance of ten or twelve feet. He was shaken up and sustained some minor bruises, but escaped serious injury, much to the surprise of the men who witnessed the accident.

ENGINES COLLIDE IN YARDS.

At 4 o'clock this morning the engine which brought in westbound Pennsylvania passenger train, No. 25, collided with a switch engine near Clinton street. Both engines were backing up, the passenger engine to the round house and the switch engine on a cross-over track. Both tenders were derailed, but not seriously damaged.

ATTENDING MEETING AT CHICAGO.

The division engineers of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg are holding a meeting in Chicago today, to talk over the situation as it relates to the work of the season. Division Engineer Guy Scott, of the Pennsylvania, and Division Engineer R. C. Jones, of the G. R. & I., are attending the meeting.

THREE NEW INSPECTORS.

E. L. Haffner, chief inspector of the apparatus department of the General Electric works, has added three inspectors to his department. Joseph Baptist will preside at the brushholder room. AN EVEN DOZEN
The German-American National Bank
COMPLETES ITS TWELFTH YEAR
Some facts and figures regarding the history and growth of this popular bank:

ON the 19th of May, 1917, this bank completed the first twelve years of its history. The story of these years has been a story of hard work and high ambition. It has also been a story of success achieved beyond our most sanguine expectations. Our first day's business gave promise of a splendid future and the intervening years have brought even greater growth than was foreshadowed in our opening. The bank has made good in every way. It has earned the confidence of the public and it has compelled the respect of its elders. The men who have been identified with its management feel very proud of its success. They have given its affairs close attention, and its steady, substantial growth has been in a large degree due to the splendid list of men who have formed its board of directors. They have worked together, making the bank's success their only aim. Throughout these twelve years the utmost harmony has prevailed in the management of the bank—strife and contention have been unknown, and here is the result as shown in our growth of deposits:

Deposits

End of first day	$ 102,306.90
End of first year	717,914.54
End of second year	1,129,711.17
End of third year	1,266,296.62
End of fourth year	1,531,600.77
End of fifth year	1,907,803.09
End of sixth year	2,000,189.92
End of seventh year	2,375,424.03
End of eighth year	2,648,056.53
End of ninth year	2,722,493.32
End of tenth year	2,741,610.30
End of eleventh year	3,130,255.22
End of twelfth year	3,878,700.00

Of course, if this growth had been obtained through extravagant methods and the sacrifice of profits, that ought to have been earned, it would not be much to our credit, even though the growth has been so great. But we have not been doing business for fun. We have treated our customers liberally. The figures given below demonstrate this, and we believe it will be readily admitted.

By the use of modern methods and the practice of rigid economy in conducting the affairs of the bank, a good amount has each year "stuck to the ribs." New financial institutions generally have a long period of "getting started," during which no one expects them to more than make expenses. We got started the first day, and we have stayed started ever since.

Here is what we have done for the public:

Paid Out in Interest to Depositors in Our Savings Department	$170,496.75
Paid Out in Interest on Deposits, out-of-town Banks	68,448.36
Paid Out in Interest on Certificates of Deposit	321,629.39
Paid Out in Interest on Deposits of Public Monies (Estimated)	49,100.00
TOTAL INTEREST PAID ON DEPOSITS	$609,674.50

Here is what we have done for ourselves:

Paid Out to Our Stockholders in Dividends	$195,600.00
Accumulated Profits Not Yet Distributed	43,230.29
Paid Out, in Behalf of Our Stockholders, Local Taxes	69,406.43
Charged Off, Out of Earnings, from Furniture and Fixtures	13,251.05
Set Aside, from Earnings, as a Surplus Fund, for the Further protection of Our Depositors	130,000.00
MAKING THE TOTAL PROFITS FOR TWELVE YEARS	$451,487.77

There are some things about our bank that are a little different from most banks. It is not a one-man bank. It is not run by, nor for the benefit of any one man or set of men. The board of directors has full voice in the management of its affairs. Neither is it a family bank in the sense that one or two or three families control its stock. Our stock is widely held. We have 250 stockholders among whom are many of our most responsible merchants, manufacturers, farmers and professional men.

We are great believers in the strength which comes from having a large number of small and moderate-sized accounts. Every little added to the little that you have makes a little more, and many "little mores" make a big total. The good will of a large number of small depositors is the best asset a bank can have. It does more than anything else to build up its business and to secure for it friends whose loyalty can be depended on. The small depositor of today may become, within a few years, a man of large affairs and of much importance in the community.

We want to get hold of the young men of thrift and energy. In a few years they will be the big men of Fort Wayne. They belong to us. They will feel comfortable with us. They will rejoice in our growth, even as we shall rejoice in theirs. The German-American has in it all the possibilities of youth. Its future is bright with promise, even as its past is full of achievement.

IT IS THE HOME OF THE SMALL DEPOSITOR.

Thomas W. Patton, aged 39, is held at Springfield, Ill., on the double charge of being a bigamist and of selling fake mining stock. Wire from Springfield states that he formerly lived in Fort Wayne.

He was married to a Fort Wayne girl five years before he departed from the city. His whereabouts have not been known to his foster parents for several years.

According to the telegraphic report, Patton was arrested in Kansas City, Mo., and returned to Springfield, on a warrant sworn out by Mrs. Mae McAtte, of Springfield. She complains that he sold her $530 worth of worthless mining stock. Chief of Police Morris, of Springfield, swore to the charge of bigamy against Patton, the message states.

In the new Russian government the important post of minister of finance was first allotted to a young man of little more than thirty years of age, Mikhail Tereschenko. Inheriting a huge business fortune when he was a young man, he proceeded not merely to develop it and to "enter parliament, as a business magnate would do in England, but to do big things in the world. He has courage, initiative and great ability, and will go far to building up the future of free Russia.

ROYAL EXILES DEVOTE LIVES TO THE RED CROSS.

I can enjoy myself again since Resinol Soap cleared my skin

When my complexion was red, rough and pimply, I was so ashamed that I never had any fun. I imagined that people avoided me—perhaps they did! But the regular use of Resinol Soap—with a little Resinol Ointment just at first—has given me back my clear, healthy skin. I wish you'd try it!

Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment are sold by all druggists. For samples of each, free, write to Dept. 9-N, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

GRABILL IS VISITED BY ELECTRICAL STORM

Small Buildings, Many Trees and Fences Blown Down —Barns Are Hit.

(Special to The Seninel.)

Grabill, Ind., May 22.—One of the most severe electrical storms ever witnessed here occurred Saturday night and Sunday morning between the hours of 9 and 2 o'clock. A high wind accompanied the heavy rains and considerable damage was done in the way of blowing down trees and small buildings and scattering fences. Lightning burned several barns a few miles north of here, also struck the tower of the Missionary church of this place, burned the strawstack of Joseph Klopfenstein and partly removed the roof of the new residence of Peter Amstuts.

Short Grabill Items.

Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Klopfenstein and grandson, Bronson, of Fort Wayne, spent Sunday with relatives here.

Mrs. Benedict Schlatter, who lives west of here, is in a very critical condition and not much hope is entertained for her recovery.

John Schlatter, of Iowa, who came here to attend the funeral of Joseph Schlatter, is visiting for a few days with relatives.

Rufus Roth, an employe of the Fort Wayne postoffice, spent Sunday with his parents, Rev. David Roth and family.

The funeral of Joseph Schlatter, which was held in the Mennonite church Sunday morning, was one of the largest ever held at this place, it being an automobile procession. Rev. E. M. Slagle, of Pioneer, Ohio, assisted by Rev. Eli Lants, of Berne, Ind., had charge of the services. Interment at the Leo cemetery.

David Gerig, of the Tri-State Loan and Trust company, of Fort Wayne, is spending a two weeks' vacation here with his parents, B. S. Gerig and family.

John Yaggy and family, of Woodburn, spent Sunday with relatives here.

On account of the funeral of Mr. Schlatter, there was no Sunday school held Sunday morning at either of the churches here.

Making a Garden.

The Tomato—One of Our Most Important Vegetables.

((Another of a series of articles, edited by the committee on publicity and information of the National Food Relief Union, Fort Wayne branch. This article is by Carl J. Getz, City Park Superintendent.)

Tomato Is Useful.

This vegetable may be classed as one of our most useful vegetables. Raw, it makes an attractive and refreshing salad, and may be served by itself or in combination with other vegetables, with meat or with fish. Made into catsup or pickles it serves as a relish. The addition of a little tomato gives a pleasant, acid flavor to many soups and sauces, and also to meat, fish and vegetable dishes. If possible the tomatoes should ripen on the vines, as the flavor is much better than when picked green and then allowed to ripen.

When properly canned this vegetable keeps well and retains its natural flavor. The housekeeper who has a generous supply of canned tomatoes on hand will find them very valuable at all times of the year, but especially in the winter months when the variety of vegetables is not great.

Overcooking spoils the flavor and color of the tomato.

Seeding.

Start tomatoes by sowing seeds in March in a hotbed, greenhouse flat or in a box inside the window of a room where a night temperature of not less than fifty degrees is kept. Plant in drille one inch apart and half an inch deep. One ounce of seed will make 1,500 plants. For plants enough for one acre of ground, sow about one-fourth pound of seed. From six to ten days is the length of time required for the seeds to come up.

Number Required.

Transplanting 3 feet by 3 feet, 4,840 plants will be required per acre. If the rows are four feet apart and the plants, three feet apart in the rows, 3,630 plants will be required per acre, and if 4 by 4 feet spacing is used, 2,722 plants per acre will be required. As a city lot 50x100 feet is approximately one-ninth of an acre, divide the total number of plants by 9 to determine the number plants required per respective spacing used. For example, 4,840 divided by 9 equals 537. Thus it will require 537 plants for a lot 50x100 feet, spacing your plants 3 feet by 3 feet. If the lot is not plowed to the extreme edge, deductions should be made.

Transplanting.

When the plants are about two inches high they should be set out three inches apart in boxes which are three inches deep or potted into three inch pots allowing a single plant to a pot. They are sometimes shifted a second time into larger pots by which process the plants are rendered more sturdy and branching.

Plant Treatment.

About the first week in May the plants should be acclimated by "hardening off." This is done by ventilation in the greenhouse and hotbed and by setting the plants outside during the daytime, if grown in a box in the house or in a window box. For a few days before the plants are to be transplanted to the garden, they should be watered very sparingly. If this treatment is employed the plants will immediately grow when placed in the garden. After they are transplanted to their permanent location they should be watered freely. It is also best to do the transplanting, if only a small number are to be planted, during the late afternoon so the plants are fairly well established before the hot sun's rays arrive. Set the plant in the garden the third week in May or after all danger of frost is past.

Plant Deep.

The success in the planting of tomatoes lies in the depth of planting. An eleven inch plant should be planted at least five inches deep. At this depth the roots will come in contact with moisture and growth will start at once, and the roots are less apt to be dried out by the sun's rays. It is essential to press the dirt well about the plant.

Kind of Soil.

Deep rich mellow underdrained soil is a prime factor in producing best vegetables. When there is a limited supply of fertilizer, it will be well to put two or three spadefuls in each hill, spreading it over a couple of square feet of surface as the tomatoes make considerable root growth. Other essentials to good growth are frequent cultivation not only to keep the weeds down but to form a surface mulch to conserve the moisture of the soil.

Prune Plants.

Grow plants to a single stem and prune of all superfluous growth. Cut back branches if it is seen the plant is growing too tall, as we want the strength of the plant to manifest itself in the size and quality of the fruit rather than in the size of the plant. Allow but two or three fruits to set on a branch. As soon as the plant begins to blossom pinch off the ends of the shoots beyond the flowers, that fruit may set early. This will materially hasten the ripening of the first fruit.

Proper Support Necessary.

Tomatoes produce better fruit when staked up, or where trained against walls or fences. There is a circular wire tomato support on the market that is admirable and quite within the reach of the small private gardener.

Insects and Diseases.

The tomatoes are very often afflicted with blight or rot and for this spray early and at intervals with Bordeaux Mixture, which is a fungicide for the cure and prevention of black rot, mildew, scab and all fungoid diseases. Dissolve 1 gallon in 50 gallons of water and apply as a spray. Apply this spray three weeks after transplanting and then at intervals of three weeks until it has been applied four times. For worm use arsenate of lead, 1 pound to a 40-gallon barrel of water, will usually be strong enough for tender plants. The strength may be increased up to 2 or 3 pounds for hard wooded plants. To get rid of the pest known as the white fly use a solution of soap and water and spray under side of leaves thoroughly. A good way to protect plants from cut worm is to wrap stem of plant with brown paper before transplanting them in the garden.

Keeping Until Christmas.

Gather the large unripened fruit before frost and lay without touching each other on excelsior, hay or straw to permit a circulation of air about them. Place in the shade in room of moderate temperature and they will continue to ripen and color up, sometimes lasting until Christmas.

What to Plant.

For the private garden the Ponderosa tomato is one of the very best, being smooth, round, large and prolific and exceptionally free from spot, and with very little seed. This variety is, however, not a very early ripener. Spark's Earliana is an extra early sort and is more hardy in plant than the Stone, and a few plants of this variety may be set out to advance the season. Dwarf varieties, like Dwarf Champion and Dwarf Stone are very desirable in small gardens as they may be planted in close rows or can be supported to a single small stake. Other varieties that are very good are Early Jewel, Acme and Burpie's Dwarf Giant.

Cultivation and Irrigation.

The cultivation of garden vegetables must be constant and thorough, in order to keep the soil pulverized, which acts as a mulch to retain moisture by retarding evaporation and to keep down weeds. The hand hoe and rake are necessary, and no garden is too small to have a wheel hoe or cultivator used in it. This makes cultivation easier and more rapid, the work now becomes almost a pleasure. Every city lot gardener should purchase a hand wheel cultivator. They cost from $3.00 to $3.50, and can be purchased in any hardware or implement store.

Vegetables need plenty of water. If city water is available, it should be planned to give the garden a thorough soaking once or twice a week, rather than a little water every day.

THE MARKETS

MARKETS ARE DROWNED BY TORRENTS OF RAIN

Lonesome Load of Corn is All That Keeps the Street Alive.

Had it not been for one load of corn, Fort Wayne wouldn't have had any market at all Tuesday. This load of corn was taken to the city scales and sold at $1.67 per bushel. Not only was the wholesale department practically vacant, but the retail business was also a minus quantity.

Practically every dealer reported that there was nothing coming in, and as a result there were no material changes made in buying or selling prices. Wheat was steady, following the 18c advance made here Monday, and flour quotations were not tampered with.

TRADE IN JULY WHEAT WHOLLY DISAPPEARS

Future Delivery Trading Confined to September With Life in Corn.

Chicago, May 22.—Future delivery trade in wheat today was reduced to scant dealings in a single option—September. No business was done in the July delivery and it was said that soon under existing arbitrary rules all transactions whatever in contracts for future delivery of wheat were likely to come to an automatic stop. The market, that is the September wheat delivery, opened this morning 3c higher, owing to absence of offerings, but afterward reacted 2c, starting at $2.13 and falling back to $2.11.

Corn prices bulged on account of general buying which developed when the pit crowd saw that offerings were meager.

After opening ⅛@¼c off to ¼@⅜c advance, the market scored moderate gains all around.

Oats developed firmness in sympathy with corn.

Scattered buying hardened the provision market.

PROFIT TAKING HAS EFFECT ON STOCKS

Demand for Metals and Oils Supports the List in Later Hours.

New York, May 22.—Selling for profits was in evidence at the opening of today's market as indicated by the irregularity of prices. United States Steel duplicated its recent high record of 125⅝ at the outset but immediately receded a point. Factional advances in Bethlehem Steel, new stock, Anaconda Copper, Baldwin Locomotive, Mexican Petroleum and Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies underwent similar revision. The motor group was again heavy and moderate declines were made by Central Leather, Westinghouse, Industrial Alcohol and some of the rails. Alcohol, however, soon showed an actual gain.

A general demand for metals and oils buoyed the list after the first signs of a backward movement. Utah, Inspiration, Kennecotte, Chino, Cerro De Pasco, Grande and Calumet and Arizona coppers and American Smelting, American Zinc and Butte and Superior advanced one to almost two points. Mexican Petroleum rose 1⅝ and Texas company 2¾, minor issues of the latter group also hardening. Included in the list of active and strong specialties were American Can, Beet Sugar, Airbrake and Harvester corporation. The more prominent industrials and equipments remained under pressure. Rails an dshippings rose briskly at midday. Bonds were irregular.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The pressure is high over northern sections, and another high area lies off the north Pacific coast. The storm which was central yesterday morning over southwestern Kansas has moved northeastward and this morning it is centered over western Illinois. Rain has resulted from this storm in the central valleys, in the southern portion of the lake region and in the middle Atlantic states. Rain has also occurred in the northern portion of the plateau region and in the northern Rocky mountain states. Except that the temperature is nearly normal in portions of the east gulf and south Atlantic states and Ohio valley, the weather is generally colder than the seasonal average, the deficiency of temperature being quite marked in the western part of the lake region and in the upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys.

Why Buy or Build a Home Now?

Second of a Series of Buy-a-Home Articles
by
B. J. GRISWOLD

The reputation of Fort Wayne as "the city of homes" will not suffer this year. The people are building, as usual.

But the wonder is that so few of them are building, after all.

I am not surprised at this. Until I looked into the matter, I had the idea, as many others still have, that it might be a good thing to wait awhile to see if building conditions will improve. But I have been fully convinced that the man who defers building a home until next year or the year after will make a mistake to be regretted all his days.

Here is the situation:

Labor is cheaper now than it will be a year hence.

Lumber is cheaper than it will be a year from now.

Every item which goes into the building of the home will raise in price.

The need of homes will be more imperative a year from now than it is today.

The man who rents will have to pay an increasingly larger rate, and he will wish, by all that's worth wishing for, that he had had sense enough to build while the opportunity was his.

Let us analyze the situation:

1—The Labor Problem: Three years ago, the Master Builders' Association of Fort Wayne entered into an agreement with the carpenters whereby a stated increase of 2½ cents per hour would be made at the beginning of each year for that period. The men received the larger scale with the opening of each year, beginning with May 1. On the first of the present month, the last increase under the terms of the agreement was made, and this scale remains in effect until the 1st of May, 1918. The men, while feeling that they should have a larger increase, have stood by their agreement and are willing to stand by it until the expiration of one year more.

And then what?

Judging from the demands of men in many other lines which have worked under no such agreement as that of the carpenters, there will be an insistent demand for larger pay just as soon as the present agreement comes to an end. All right. The men will receive higher wages. Who will pay the increase? The contractor or the home owner? It won't be the contractor, because he must maintain his percentage of profit.

The home owner will pay the higher price. The way to avoid this is to build now—this spring or summer—before the higher wage scale causes an increase.

And how about common labor—that which comes not within the scope of wage scales? I find, from talking with contractors, that the price they pay for common labor this year is from ten to fifteen cents per hour higher than last year. "And goodness knows what we'll have to pay next year," observeed one of them. He made no direct reference to the increasing scarcity of common labor through enlistments and in the wider demand for men in the manufacturing plants, but it would seem that these elements would figure largely in the intensifying of the situation. Somehow, the labor situation would seem to urge, almost demand, the building of homes this year instead of postponing the action until next year or some other year.

2. The price of material: For a variety of contributing reasons the price of lumber—the greatest item in the building of the average home, has not increased in price in keeping with many of the other items used in commercial and manufacturing structure. Steel has been hit hard. Here, in Fort Wayne, we see it in the attitude of those who have charge of the construction of the municipal colliseum and the building of the Young Men's Christian association. In the case of these latter examples, the price of steel and other items which go into the building of these large structures figure but little in the cost of a home. And yet, when we see conservative men refraining from the building of large structures, we get the idea that everything in the building lines is "out of sight."

It isn't so.

Lumber has "behaved" very nicely. It is one of the articles in the building line which, like rice, among the eatables, has not soared beyond reach. And this fact should gain lodgment in the cranium of every citizen who has in that same cranium the longing for a home.

One fact is clear: To postpone building until a more favorable cost condition may be to postpone it altogether. Even if you are planning to build for renting, no more favorable time than the present will present itself in this generation. Lumber will be more expensive next year than it is now. Possibly the curtailment of shipments abroad has had something to do with keeping the price down. If it has, the resumption of those shipments will boost prices beyond our present calculations. One of the largest contractors and users of lumber in Fort Wayne said to me the other day:

"I can see no chance for lumber to lessen price. We are fortunate that it has stayed as low as it has. But it seems to me that with the increasing difficulty in taking it from the forests and getting it to the market we may expect to have to pay for the larger cost to the producer. Each year the lumber area is growing smaller, and the policy of conservation—splendid as it is—is adding to the problem of keeping the supply up to the demand. I a madvising my friends to build now if they have it in mind to build at all, for a more favorable time will never present itself."

The members of the Fort Wayne Real Estate board are engaged this week in doing the people of Fort Wayne the favor of calling their attention strongly to the facts which point to the strong advisability of buying or building a home this year as a matter of economy, if on no other basis.

MOVIE ACTRESSES AND THEIR HAIR.

Did it ever occur to you that every movie actress you have seen has lovely hair, while the most popular count their curls as their chief beauty? In fact, many are leading ladies just because of their attractive locks. Inquiry among them discloses the fact that they bring out all the natural beauty of their hair by careful shampooing, not with any soap or makeshift, but with a simple mixture by putting a teaspoonful of canthrox (which they get from the druggist) in a cup of hot water and applying this instead of soap. This full cup of shampoo liquid is enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. After its use, the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. The hair is so fluffy that it looks much heavier than it is, while its lustre and softness is delightful—Advertisement.

VIOLENT MISTAKE PROVES CONFINING

Man of Proper Intentions Goes to State Farm for Two Months.

It was once too often when Adam Lair, Dwenger avenue, made the mistake of attacking his wife, last Saturday. The excuse of his intentions being good did not hold with Judge Kerr Tuesday morning. Lair was fined $10 and costs and sentenced to fifty days at the state farm on a charge of assault and battery.

When Lair set fire to his home, two months ago, causing $200 loss to the furniture and building, he was acquitted on a charge of arson because he explained to the court that he had no intentions of starting the blaze.

When Mrs. Elizabeth Lair, his helpmeet for thirty years, refused to argue with him last Saturday, the man struck her. She rolled up the sleeve of her waist and displayed a highly colored arm to Judge Kerr Tuesday morning. Lair said it was accidental. He will be at the state farm more than two months.

Other Police Court Cases.

Andrew Donnelly completed his sentence of 115 days at the state farm, where he was sent because of repeated intoxication convictions, on Saturday morning. He was drunk on Saturday night, officers testified. Judge Kerr will send him back to the farm for ninety days more, he decided, Tuesday morning, when Donnelly pleaded guilty to the intoxication charge.

Other cases of public intoxication were: Henry Kruse, fined $1 and costs, and John Doe, who forfeited $15 bond. Arthur Thoman, who referred to the judge as "My dear," in his promises to be temperate, was released. Pat O'Brien will be tried on May 25 and Frank Notestine on May 28. Ben Jones was released.

Judge Kerr dismissed the charge of grand larceny against Walter Cole, who was said to have neglected the making of deliveries after taking orders for a tire filling chemical. Cole said he would have delivered the goods if he had been given time. The case against Amzie Black, charged with wife neglect, was dismissed. Disorderly conduct charges against Mr. and Mrs. William Kruse were continued until May 25. It is charged that Mrs. Kruse pointed a revolver at the officer who went to the home for the husband last week. Emmett Farnan, charged with attacking small boys, will be tried on Thursday. Elmer Lowery and Sam Frank two boys held on a loitering charge, were released.

HOSPITAL IS IN GOOD FINANCIAL CONDITION

Rev. Phillip Wambsganss Elected President of Lutheran Association.

The annual meeting of the Lutheran Hospital association was held Monday afternoon at the hospital. All the congregations belonging to the association were represented by delegates. The meeting was opened with a short devotion led by the chairman, Rev. Phillip Wambsganss. In spite of the high cost of living the report of the treasurer showed a good cash balance. Not until necessity compelled them did the board advance the room rates. The daily average of patients in the hospital was 98. Many times application for rooms and beds had to be refused. During the year donations amounting to $3,330 were received for the debt fund. Five hundred and seventy-five dollars was received for charity work. Besides this money much foodstuff was donated.

The following officers were elected: Rev. Ph. Wambsganss, president; Henry Moellering, vice president; Rev. August Lange, secretary; Wm. Baade, financial secretary; August Freese, treasurer; Messrs. H. Wehrenberg, J. Brandt and Christ Vonderau, trustees for three years.

August Becker was put on the auditing committee in place of Henry Branning, who is sick, and August Stahlhut was elected on the committee to liquidate the debt in place of Mr. Holtermann, who is also ill.

A vote of thanks was tendered to all who in any way were helpful and of service in the welfare of the hospital.

EVERYBODY PUSHED YET TRAIN HIT AUTO

Too Many Hands Diversified Their Efforts So Car Stood Still.

It all happened in less than a minute.

Louis Martine, road contractor, of Laporte, approached the Pennsylvania railroad tracks, a mile east of Dixon, when on his way from Lima to Fort Wayne, Monday afternoon.

"Stop," yelled half a dozen section hands, who were working at the crossing, Martine says. He stopped his machine on the first line of tracks and in the transaction killed the engine. Approaching at 60 miles an hour, he saw the Pennsylvania limited coming down the same track where his car was stalled.

"Help," he called to the section hands. The men scampered to his assistance. Martine leaped from his car and tried to aid in pushing the automobile from the track. But he could not, he claims, because three of the section workers pushed with might and main on the front of the car and three pushed for all they were worth at the rear. The car stood still.

"Jump," shouted Martine. All the men leaped away from the car.

There Always are Some People

Who buy the poorest kind of WALL PAPER. Some even pay a fair price for it, and yet get such miserable results, that it is a pity they are satisfied with such papers. They buy the rest of their furniture with better care—but when it comes to WALL PAPER—they get the poorest. Because papers are put up differently than they show in the piece, they are disappointed when the job is up. Our expert advice is a certain guarantee against disappointment of this kind, and we welcome the opportunity of showing you how easy it is to get perfect results in good decoration. —Third Floor.

EXPECT TO CONTROL FOOD EXTORTIONERS

GOVERNMENT WILL NOT SEEK TO FIX A MAXIMUM PRICE

NEW FOOD CONTROL TO BE RATIONAL

Washington, May 22.—Although government food experts oppose fixing maximum prices on staple food products except to force big holders to release their supplies, protection for the consumer will be one of the first considerations of the new food control administration.

If there is a shortage in any food staple and it becomes essential to lower the price, the government, it was said today, will not hesitate to take over supplies and distribute them itself.

In this way officials believe more can be accomplished than by setting maximum prices beyond which sellers may not charge. If there is an abundance of food, however, they do not think it will become necessary to exercise the power of commandeering. A short crop of any commodity, food experts say, will send prices up through competitive bidding, despite ordinary regulatory measures and the only remedy, they hold, in this case is for the government to take over the product, paying the grower a good price and distributing the food where it is most needed. European demands for food this year, will take all America's surplus. The allies, it has been stated on good authority, needed one billion bushels of grain to carry them through the year. With normal crops this country can furnish four hundred million bushels of this and Canada two hundred million. This will fill 50 per cent of the allies' needs, but it is believed that America by economizing can increase this to 80 per cent, provided crops are normal.

The new food administration as soon as organized will start a campaign for saving in the household and hopes to cut down ordinary consumption to a considerable extent.

The government's food experts think the plan for a voluntary organization to handle the food situation will win the co-operation of the country. If it fails a bureaucratic system, they believe, will have to be instituted.

THOUSANDS OF HOMES BURNED

Multitude Made Shelterless by Conflagration in Atlanta.

LOSS LIKELY TO EXCEED $3,000,000

Worst Fire Southern Metropolis Has Seen Since Civil War.

Atlanta, Ga., May 22.—Estimates today were that from 10,000 to 15,000 persons are homeless as a result of yesterday's fire that swept through approximately seventy-five blocks of residence property ranging from negro shacks to homes of influential citizens in the northeastern section of the city.

S. R. Russet, assistant secretary of the Southeastern Underwriters' association, roughly estimated the property loss at $3,500,000 and loss to insurance companies at $2,500,000.

Relief work started hours before the flames were subdued, was pushed rapidly today. The public safety committee of the Atlanta chamber of commerce at a joint meeting laid plans for handling the situation and later a mass

STORM DAMAGES HOME OF D. C. M'KEEMAN

The lightning struck a tree in front of the residence of David D. McKeeman, 2811 South Barr street, during the storm at the noon hour, Tuesday, and broke five window panes in the front of the residence, including a bay window. The tree was completely shattered an dsplinters flew as far as a hundred feet away, landing on the tops of buildings in the neighborhood. There was a terrific downpour of rain and considerable lightning.

ENGLAND HAS SOLVED THE WAR TIME FREIGHT PROBLEM.

Officers of the First dock battalion. Lord Derby is seated in the front row, third from the left, and Major Lemonius second from the left. Will the dock laborers of New York, Chicago, Detroit, Boston, San Francisco and all other American ports be wearing Uncle Samuel's uniform ere long and marching to their work in time to bugle calls? That plan and other details of a system worked out by Lord Derby have solved England's great wartime longshore problem at a time when war had made this problem vital to the nation's life. The loading and unloading of great ships like clockwork may be necessary to our national welfare. And not only has Lord Derby's plan solved the problem of handling an island nation's military shipping when on the handling of that shipping hung the island nation's very life, but it has had an immense and valuable effect upon large masses of that nation's working population, raising from the depths a class which had been set aside as "casual" to the point of utter hopelessness.

CHANCELLOR CHALLENGED

Berlin Newspaper Calls Hollweg to Account for Statement.

Von Hindenburg Quoted as Sharing the Hopes of Pan-Germans.

Copenhagen, May 22.—Director Zimmermann, of the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger, challenges in the Monday article, Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg's statement in the reichstag that he and the military leaders were in full accord regarding the war aims.

Herr Zimmermann says that the unity of views, according to his knowledge, applies only to military and strategic aims on which the chancellor has accepted the views of Hindenburg and Ludendorf, the morally responsible generals. He denies that von Bethmann has any right to claim the generals as the champions of his views as to the political and economic aims of the war.

Against Chancellor.

The Lokal Anzeiger, since it passed into the hands of a syndicate, headed by champions of industry of the Rhine district and a former minister, whom von Bethmann threw overboard, has ceased to be a subservient government organ and now is more or less consistent in opposition to the chancellor.

Herr Zimmermann, in continuation of his criticism, questions the stability of the Bethmann bloc in the reichstag and denies that the vote on the peace interpellation can be interpreted as a vote of confidence.

Quotes Von Hindenburg.

Simultaneously the paper announces that von Hindenburg, answering a telegram of greeting from a Danzig group of avowed pan-Germans and opponents of the chancellor, replied:

"I hear your hopes for the fulfillment of your wishes for the future of the fatherland."

The original telegram emphasized the demand for a peace agreement, "corresponding to Germany's sacrifices." The field marshal's reply will unquestionably encourage the campaign against the chancellor and supports Director Zimmermann's intimations that von Bethmann Hollweg is not in complete accord with the army chiefs.

BRAZIL WANTS TO ABROGATE NEUTRALITY

Rio Janiero, May 22.—President Braz has sent a message to congress recommending the revocation of neutrality in the war between the United States and Germany. Congress is expected to accept the recommendation by a large majority.

The message declares that the order to the Brazilian authorities enjoining the observance of neutrality was only intended to have effect until congress met. It continues: "Today, in consideration of the fact that the United States is an integral part of the American union, in consideration also of the traditional policy of Brazil which has always been governed by a complete unity of view with the United States and finally in consideration of the sympathies of a great majority of the Brazilian nation, the administration invites congress to revoke the decree of neutrality."

INCH AND A HALF OF RAIN DURING NIGHT

The weather man states that there are good chances for some more the earlier part of the evening. There was a steady downpour of rain during the entire night, starting in at 9 o'clock Monday evening. It stopped at about 7:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. Farmers state they needed the rain badly and that the crops will be greatly benefited as a result.

NEW YORK IS BUYING BONDS

Prospect is That Big City Will Over-Purchase Allotment.

Big Stores Sell Bonds to Customers, Charging to Account.

New York, May 22.—The flying squadron of bond salesmen working in the financial districts and the establishment of booths in the larger retail stores of the city for the sale of bonds have so stimulated the general sale that members of the bankers' committees were predicting today that New York would oversubscribe New York's allotment of $250,000,000 of the Liberty loan.

Stores Find Buyers.

The department stores promise to be the largest sources of subscriptions, many of which permit credit customers to charge $50 worth of bonds to their registered accounts, payable in installments until August. Yesterday's sales, because of this system amounted to thousands of dollars in several of the larger stores. A majority of the customers were women and the subscriptions ranged from $50 to $1,500.

Under the plan, the Retail Merchants' Liberty loan committee, bonds

WASHINGTON SAYS NOTICE IS TAKEN

Portland, Me., May 22.—Persistent reports current since war was declared that a German submarine was in New England waters were given official recognition today.

It was stated by naval officers that new reports had been received and that an investigation was under way. It was reported to the naval stations that after the sighting of a periscope a submarine was seen running awash off Machias last night.

The news was forwarded to Boston and New York but not made public.

This morning three lobster fishermen told of having sighted what they believed to have been a submarine and when their reports were carried by newspapermen to the naval officers referred to above he admitted having received earlier and similar reports and said they were being acted upon.

HOUSE NEARS AN END OF DEBATES ON THE WAR TAX

Washington, May 22.—Consideration of the war tax bill was nearing an end in the house today and while the leaders hoped to reach a final vote by tonight this seemed by no means certain. The amusement tax section was taken up again today.

A compromise on the proposed second-class mail tax so as to make it from 1 and 1½ cents per pound in the first per cent zone to 8 cents in the eighth zone was agreed upon today by the house ways and means committee.

Receipts from educational entertainments were excluded by the house from the proposed 10 per cent amusement tax by a vote of 114 to 1, Representative Moore, of Pennsylvania, opposing. He insisted that it was unfair that William Jennings Bryan should receive from $250 to $750 a night for "educational" entertainments while the government got nothing from them.

WILL GO TO EVANSVILLE

Committee Will Visit With Col. Lewis to Explain City's Advantages.

Project is Discussed at Meeting Tuesday at Commercial Club.

Chairman W. H. Scheimann, of the Fort Wayne council of patriotic service, was given authority to appoint the members of a committee to go to Evansville Tuesday night, where on Wednesday they will confer with Colonel Lewis and explain to him the advantages which Fort Wayne can offer as a possible site for a training camp.

The matter of determining the site for the training camp will be presented to the members of the Real Estate exchange Tuesday evening. It is understood that the committee has several ideal locations near Fort Wayne in sight. Two of these possible locations afford an excellent location for a training camp on account of the contour of the ground included.

The committee which met at noon Tuesday at the Commercial club discussed the advantages and the disadvantages which a camp of this kind would mean to Fort Wayne. The majority of the members of the committee were of the opinion that the bringing of 25,000 men to a city of this size would without a doubt mean

Memphis, Tenn., May 22.—Ell Persons, a negro, confessed murderer of Antoinette Rapheal several weeks ago, was burned to death near the scene of the crime at 9 o'clock today. A mob estimated from 2,000 to 3,000 saw the death of the negro.

In preparation for burning the body was soaked in oil and afterward suspended in midair from the limb of a nearby tree. A torch was then applied and the body burned fiercely until the scorched flesh of the negro fell to the ground.

Persons is said to have repeated his confession that he killed the child and implicated two other negroes. Members of the mob immediately set out in pursuit of them. When all was in readiness Mrs. Rapheal, mother of the dead girl, was taken to the bridge, where the prisoner was held, and identified him. In a short speech to the mob she declared she wished Persons to suffer the tortures he dealt to his victim.

Telephone messages at 10:30 o'clock stated that the mob had captured Dewitt Ford, a mute, one of the negroes implicated by Persons in the murder

IF YOU LACK VIM AND VIGOR GET IRONATED HERBS

PRAISES MEDICINE

Nearly every form of disease begins in the stomach and this has been proven in thousands of cases. It is the neglect of the first symptoms of a run down condition, causing these troubles. People who are irritable, who lack energy and ambition, feel blue and discouraged, suffer from headache, dizziness, backache, weak memory, bad blood circulation and unsound sleep, should take heed in time, for these are the ever failing signs of a deranged stomach.

The new modern stomach remedy, Ironated Herbs with Pepsin in liquid form, is designed to meet just such a contingency; it acts directly on the stomach, causing the food to digest perfectly, thereby relieving the suffering immediately, and if taken for a short time the results will be permanent.

Permanent results have been obtained in the cases of Mrs. May Schock, wife of a well known business man of this city. Mr. Schock conducts a dry cleaning establishment at 820 Harrison street, and was greatly worried over the condition of his wife, who continually complained about stomach trouble, general run down, and headaches. It was suggested that she should try a bottle of Ironated Herbs and after the first few doses her condition improved considerably. In her large circle of friends it will be greatly appreciated and noticed that she has improved so much and that Ironated Herbs has supplied her with what she needed, a good all-round tonic, which put new life into her.

We now urgently request you who are not feeling well to go at once to Meyer Bros. Drug Store, 902 Calhoun street, and have our representative, Mr. Curtis, explain to you the merits of this wonderful medicine.

Also on sale at Columbia street, Baker street, and Broadway stores.—Advertisement.

tucky and West Virginia, who are taking the training to become officers.

They've Got Everything.

"Brains, enthusiasm and patriotism have been disclosed here during the first week of the camp, as they've never been in all my army experience," said Col. Glenn. "These boys have come here with a determination to give their country the best they have in them. Every regular army officer at this post has expressed delight over the things accomplished. The way these American men have worked to learn the military game should make every slacker hang his head. I'm proud of every man of them."

Col. Glenn and his staff is also greatly pleased withthe health of the men in camp, although there are approximately 5,000 men in camp, roll call revealed only 18 men unfit for duty yesterday and these were men suffering from the reaction of vaccination.

Students Are Moving.

The student officers yesterday began moving out of the permanent barracks and taking quarters in the new cantonment east of the post hospital in preparation for the arrival of the Tenth Infantry, U. S. A., from the Panama canal zone. The cantonment is not completed and some of the regulars probably will occupy tents until the new quarters for the reserve candidates are ready for occupancy. The return of the Tenth will be in the nature of a homecoming, as it was first tenant of Fort Harrison. According to word from Washington, the Tenth will be divided here, two battalions being used to form the nucleus of the Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth regiments, new units.

of the Raphael girl, and was on the way to the scene of the first lynching.

News that the negro had been brought into the country reached the city early and by 8 o'clock all roads leading to the Macon road bridge were choked with automobiles. An hour later it was impossible to approach by car or wagon to within a half mile of the scene. Hundreds of spectators, including many women and children, tramped through muddy fields to get a view.

Persons was taken in charge by the mob atPotts Camp, Miss., and brought to this county. Throughout the night hundreds of automobiles patrolled the roads leading to the state line to see that no organized effort was made to intercept the party holding the negro. The condition of the roads, after t heavy rain in the night made progress slow and by the time they reached the bridge a great throng from Memphis and all points in the county, as well as from nearby counties, was on hand. There was no disorder and little excitement, the mob was well organized and worked quietly, dispersing after lynching Persons meeting called by Mayor Candler was held.

Preparations had been made to feed 5,000 homeless. More than that are believed to need immediate relief.

The fire started in a warehouse on Decatur and Fort streets and drove first due north and then northeast, at some points a block wide and at times half a mile in width.

It crossed Ponce de Leon avenue at one point and swept down Boulevard Place for a block. On the south side of Ponce de Leon avenue a wide residence street, the burned area extended from North Jackson street, some seven blocks east of Peachtree street, the principal section, out almost to the baseball park.

Greatest Since Sherman's Raid.

It was the greatest fire in Atlanta's history since civil war days when General Sherman, terming it the backbone of the confederacy decreed that it must be burned. In property loss and hardship it was even greater, for the city General Sherman destroyed had only 10,000 inhabitants.

Destitute persons from the burned area, which included negro homes and costly residences of white people, were cared for by the local Red Cross and the associated charities. Hundreds were fed last night and today and lodging was provided in the auditorium, armory, the Negro Odd Fellows hall, churches, private homes and hotels. Preparations were completed today to feed 5,000 people.

Relief work got under way early, several thousand dollars being subscribed in a few hours. A meeting of the city's representative men was called for today to provide relief for those needing it.

Outside Aid Not Needed.

Mayor Candler and President Allen, of the local chamber of commerce, agreed that no outside aid would be needed. Both expressed their appreciation of scores of offers telegraphed to them.

Only one person is known to have died as a result of the fire. Mrs. Bessie Hodges died of shock after her home was destroyed. Injuries were remarkably few. The people fled before the flames as from an invading army. Heat drove out hundreds of people who sought to save their personal efforts.

Here and there firebrands blew ahead of the blaze, firing houses a block ahead of the wall of fire. Gradually the flames advanced northward. Before them came hundreds of persons. The flames grew to a roar when within a distance of a block or more. Men who had comforted their families with statements that the fire would not reach them realized at the last moment that their homes were doomed.

Automobiles Give Aid.

Automobile trucks, express wagons and every conceivable vehicle were pressed into service. Gathering what belongings they could the people fled. Along the sidewalks rushed men carrying whatever property they had hurriedly collected.

After the fire reached within a block or two of Ponce de Leon avenue, an hour before dark fell, order began to come out of the confusion. Companies of the Fifth regiment, Georgia National Guard, and prospective United States army officers from the training camp at Fort McPherson, took charge of the situation, under personal direction of Col. Charles R. Noyes, commander at Fort McPherson, to whom the police delegated authority to handle the guard duty. As the soldiers took charge, abandoning homes in the threatened districts was carried out consistently.

Automobiles furnished by hundreds carried people and their most valuable belongings to other parts of the city. The soldiers went on guard duty and remained all night. Furniture, bedclothes and all the odds and ends from the many homes littered the streets which were made impassable in many cases by fallen wires and splinters from dynamited houses. The soldiers allowed nothing to be moved during the night and blocked civilians from the fire zone and a wide area around it. Only one case of attempted looting was reported and that resulted in an arrest.

Vast Work to Be Done.

Beside actual relief work today there was a tremendous task ahead of Atlanta in getting its scattered citizens together. Members of many families had become separated. Today a man advertised for his 90-year-old grandmother. Another sought his wife and baby through the "want ad" section of the morning papers. There were scores of similar cases and it was expected that a clearing house to carry out this work would have to be established.

The burned district is roughly defined as including all that territory between Fort Street on the west and the Boulevard on the east between Decatur street and Ponce de Leon avenue. It was much narrower near Decatur street and from Highland avenue out to Ponce de Leon avenue the burned district was five blocks wide, Fort street being the western boundary and part of the block to the east, Boulevard being destroyed. On the south side of Ponce de Leon avenue the fire swept from North Jackson street three blocks east of Fort, almost to the baseball park which caught fire but was saved with virtually no damage done. The flames crossed Ponce de Leon avenue, burning out about a block on both sides of the street.

It is understood that a committee appointed by the chairman of this body of men was to visit the possible sites of the training camp Tuesday afternoon and take a rough sketch of the ground with them and present it to Colonel Lewis.

The submarine which appeared to be about 200 feet in length was picked up by two fishermen south of Seguin light at 9:15 o'clock this morning. She was a mile and a half distant but the fishermen were sure of the character of the stranger.

As they were watching her the engine of their motorboat backfired and instantly following the report the submarine submerged. The fishermen hurried ashore and reported what they had seen. They had no more than reached shore when a third fisherman arrived with the report that he had seen the craft a little later to the west of Seguin light.

The position of the craft seen by the fishermen would fit in with her probable position if she continued in her westerly course after being sighted off Cross island last night. Later she was seen by two members of the coast guard. One guard first saw her and later he was joined by a second guard and the two men watched the vessel for an hour. They had ample time to study her closely under favorable conditions and were convinced that she was a submarine.

Repeatedly, reports of a submarine off the northeast coast of Massachusetts outside the entrance to Portsmouth, N. H., harbor, and on the Maine coast have been brought in by coastwise vessels and fishermen. In every instance official confirmation of such reports was lacking and usually naval officers have publicly scoffed at the possibility of an enemy ship venturing into American waters, though privately several officials admitted taking these reports more seriously than their formal utterances betrayed.

Chancellor of German Empire

Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, the imperial German chancellor, in one of the most vigorous and plain spoken speeches he has made before the reichstag since the beginning of the war, bluntly refused to enter into a discussion of Germany's peace aims as demanded in interpellations by the conservatives and socialists. The chancellor asserted that these called for the government's specific peace program, the announcement of which at the present time not only would be premature, but which would be difficult to formulate and also of no practical service to the nation in the present situation. A significant feature of the session was the introduction into their remarks by Philipp Scheidemann, the social democratic leader, and George Ledebour, the independent socialist, of references to a possible revolution in Germany. Herr Scheidemann intimated that if the British and French renounced the idea of annexation and Germany insisted on annexing territory there would be a revolution. This resulted in indignant repudiation by a large section of the house, and Herr Scheidemann hastened to say it had not gone so far as that yet.

GERMAN AVIATOR AND DESERTER HELD AS SPY

Lieut. Frank Wolf Got in U. S. Army and Then Got in Toils.

San Francisco, Cal., May 18.—In the arrest of Lieutenant Frank Wolf, former officer in the German aviation corps and deserter from the same branch of the United States army, federal officials believe they have run to earth important spy operations in this country.

Lieutenant Frank Wolf, former German aviator, deserter from United States aviation corps, held as spy by United States government.

In order to escape the death penalty, if possible, Lieutenant Wolf is said to have made confessions involving men in high standing in the United States.

Wolf is said to have come to the United States after being wounded with German aerial forces at Verdun. He was arrested here while working as a dishwasher in a German hospital.

His recent operations, according to federal officers, are as follows:

Fought in the German aviation corps as a lieutenant.

Was wounded in an air battle at Verdun.

Came to the United States upon his recovery as a spy for the German government.

Enlisted in the United States army at San Diego under the alias of Frank Fels.

Deserted last January with valuable information for the German government.

Came to San Francisco and secured work as a dishwasher at the hospital.

In his possession were found road maps, diagrams of the city, plans of fortifications and other valuable information, according to the federal officials.

He says he is not yet 21 years old. He is unnerved by his experiences during the war.

This veteran, S. B. Lamphere, was addicted to the excessive use of tobacco for many years. He wanted to quit but needed something to help him.

He learned of a free book that tells about tobacco habit and how to conquer it quickly, easily and safely. In a recent letter he writes: "I have no desire for tobacco any more. I feel like a new man."

Any one desiring a copy of this book on tobacco habit, smoking and chewing, can get it free, postpaid, by writing to Edward J. Woods, 1312 H, Station E, New York City. You will be surprised and pleased. Look for quieter nerves, stronger heart, better digestion, improved eyesight, increased vigor, longer life and other advantages if you quit poisoning yourself.

THREE HURT WHEN AUTO IS SIDE-SWIPED

Car Is Sideswiped by Another Machine Three Miles North of Zanesville.

Zanesville, Ind., May 22.—Three were injured, two of them probably seriously, when an automobile in which they were riding was sideswiped by another machine three miles north of this city at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. Charles Gordon, his small son, George, and a guest by the name of Haley from St. Louis stopped at this point on the road to ask if Mr. Caley, who was fixing his tires, needed any help.

Cliff Chaney, a farmer living near Huntington, came sailing along about this time and attempted to pass between the two cars. He sideswiped the Gordon machine, turning it over. Charles B. Kent, of Lafayette, bound for Fort Wayne, gave first assistance. Shortly afterward Dr. H. B. Shoup, of Zanesville, arrived and took the injured trio to the Gordon home. Mr. Gordon and his son are suffering from internal injuries and their outcome is doubtful.

STATE REFUSES TO REVEAL HAND

Big Surprise is Sprung in the Ray Landess Habeas Corpus Proceedings.

Portland, Ind., May 22.—Attorneys and witnesses engaged by the state in the prosecution of Ray Landess, of Redkey, who is charged in a grand jury indictment with first degree murder in connection with the death of Roy Brown, Redkey grocer, one year ago, refused to divulge their evidence against Landess when the habeas corpus proceedings, which the defendant filed two weeks ago, was called for hearing before Judge McGriff, in the circuit court Monday.

The action taken came as a thunderbolt from a clear sky to counsel for the defense, who are seeking to have their client released from jail under bond. Owing to the trial of William Fashback, also charged with first degree murder in connection with the case, being set for June 11, it is probable that Landess will not be given a hearing until early in the September term of court. Attorneys for Landess, this afternoon, thought it likely that their client would be released under bond.

Five Redkey residents, whose names appear onthe indictment against Landess as witnesses for the state, refused to offer any information to the court Monday morning. They intimated by their testimony that they knew nothing of the case and that they did not know Landess to be the murderer. They did say, however, that the voice of Landess was recognized during a quarrel, presumably among several persons, at the rear of the Redkey hotel, where Brown roomed the night of the murder.

Hartford City, Ind., May 22.—The funeral of Joe Hall, a brother of John Hall, of this city, who was burned to death in a hotel fire near Tulsa, Okla., last Sunday, was held at Warren, the latter part of last week. He formerly lived in this locality. Hall and three other men occupied the same room in the hotel. The three others also perished.

$50,000 IS ESTIMATE OF STORM'S DAMAGE

Whitley County is Hit Hard —News from Columbia City.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Columbia City, Ind., May 22.—Besides destroying two barns and several head of stock for William Weaver, south of Pierceton, and also the barn and contents of John Lewis, northwest of Collins, Saturday night, the electrical wind storm wrought about $50,000 damage to fruit trees and orchards, fences, buildings and silos in various parts of Whitley county, chiefly the west half and the northern sections. The silos on the Al Watson and Lyell McGuire farms, in Troy township, were blown down and fine orchards on the Will Coolman, Elmer Stitces, Ed Richards and Millard Hass and several other farms, in Thorncreek township, were ruined. Gabe Beigh, of Richland township, saw a miniature funnel-shaped cloud descend upon his apple orchard Saturday evening, destroying a score of fine apple trees. A barn on the Jonathan Ulrey farm, near South Whitley, was partially unroofed, and on the William Raupfer farm, in Thorncreek township, a silo roof was blown 300 feet away. The granary on the Samuel Flickinger farm in Union township, and the summer kitchen of the Al Wolfe residence, southwest of Columbia City, were struck by lightning and considerable damage was wrought before the resultant fires were put out. Trees and fences in Thorncreek township were levelled. Considerable hail fell Saturday night, but Jefferson, Washington and Union townships received but little of the much needed rain, while four miles west of Columbia City, near the damaged belt, but little rain fell. Four transformers were burned out in Columbia City. Arnie Egolf, of Thorncreek township, while at a window in the home of a cousin, Henry Egolf, north of Columbia City, watching the storm Sunday evening, was stunned by an electric bolt.

During a recent storm the barn on the Michael O'Connell farm, north of Pierceton, near Barbe lake, was destroyed by fire after being struck by lightning, and it, together with contons, including an auto, were burned up at a loss of about $3,500. Four cows on the George Elder farm, north of Pierceton, were killed by lightning Saturday night. Most of the storm-suffering residents of the county carry cyclone and storm insurance.

Columbia City Items.

Rev. Luckenbill, who is pastor of the Oak Grove church, southeast of Columbia City, was elected treasurer of the general eldership a few years ago. He is a highly capable minister of years of experience, which was appreciated, inasmuch as he was elected president on the first ballot.

Two truck loads of young people, fifty couples from Fort Wayne, accoutred with considerable wet goods in the commissary department, motored to Columbia City Saturday evening, after getting stuck in the mud at Arcola, and danced until midnight. It is said they are the same bunch who were chased out of New Haven last summer and the practice will not be permitted here. They fairly littered the Commercial club halls, where their special dance was held.

Homer Trout, son of John Trout, of this city, and Miss Maude, daughter of W. H. Vandersaul, of Troy township, were wedded Sunday and will reside here, where the groom is employed as a lagorer.

Jesse Jackson, northwest of town, was kicked in the face by a horse Saturday evening and suffered concussion for several hours after staggering to his home. He suffered a bad cut on the inside of his left cheek.

Buy Your Piano or Player Now

During the next ten days we will sell every Piano or Player in our stock at a discount of 10%, beside the tax which will be imposed on all musical instruments after the bill below given passes, which in all possibility will pass by June first. This will mean a saving of from one hundred to two hundred dollars, according to the price of the instrument.

Two facts at work which will make piano prices higher. Only those who buy NOW, can hope to obtain the benefit of present low prices.

Every piano and player-piano offered for sale, whether it is now in the hands of the merchant or manufacturer, will be taxed 5 per cent. according to the new revenue bill which is now before Congress.

Besides this, the duty on tuning pins, ivory, felts, varnish gums, shellac, rubber and all other imported raw materials entering into the construction of pianos and player-pianos will be increased from 20 to 30 per cent.

This plainly means that pianos will have to bring from $50 to $100 more than their present price. There is no evading it.

And this advertisement is published to call to the attention of those who are expecting to place pianos in their homes within the next few months, the fact that if they want to take advantage of the low prices which are now prevailing—they must do so NOW—BEFORE THE WAR REVENUE BILL, WHICH IS NOW BEFORE CONGRESS, BECOMES A LAW.

This is a plain fact, that thrifty and prudent buyers simply CANNOT and should not ignore.

A WORK THAT SHOULD BE HELPED.

By the end of the month it is expected that Indiana will have raised $150,000 for the work of the Young Men's Christian association. That sum is the portion allotted to Indiana of the $3,000,000 required of the entire country to carry on the labors of the association in war. Indiana's share looks like a good deal of money viewed as $150,000, but it is rather a trifle to be split into almost infinitesimal parts among the three millions of Indiana's people. A nickel a head would do it. That is the price of a cheap cigar, a glass of beer, a package of gum or one admission to the movies. There is none of us who, as his case may be, would not forego at least one indulgence for the sake of a good work, or if not for that, at least for the sake of escaping such imputation as there might be in having refused. Of course there are some young heads among the three millions and withal some older and thicker heads that in the one instance cannot and in the other will not appreciate the vital import of that $150,000. That will raise the average per head to perhaps a dime. Who among us all so poor as that a dime is beyond his reach? There are some who will give more than a dime—a few so much as a dollar, no doubt. The thing is less in consequence as to how and from whom it shall come just so it shall come—that $150,000.

The service of the Young Men's Christian association in war is an inestimable service. It means much to the young manhood of America in the war; it may mean more to the young manhood of America after the war. It means much to the comfort, contentment and general well-being of all our young men who go forth to fight for the nation. The people of the country will uncomplainingly bear their burdens of taxation for the direct purposes of the war. They will submit without grumbling to the restrictions and shortages and forced economies of one sort and another that must be the portion of all in a great national crisis. For the war they must pour billions into the coffers of the government and this they will do gladly. The Young Men's Christian association needs for the inauguration of its vast service the paltry sum of three millions. That will provide its instalations in every camp and cantonment that the war department purposes to establish in the country for the training of the armies that are to go abroad to fight for the flag. To keep up the work and take it over seas with the armies more money will at length be needed, but so little, indeed, that to give it the people of the nation will not realize that they have the burden of it upon them.

Between now and the end of the month the people of Indiana ought to raise the $150,000 expected of them and raise a great deal more than that. If everybody will give a little no one will be burdened at all and a mighty patriotic and benevolent work will be buttressed with finances for the things it must do—the things that can by no other way and by no other agency be done.

It means much—it means almost everything—that the Young Men's Christian association service in the war be upheld and strengthened to look out for the young men in the camps and on the battlefields. It should be given every sustaining effort that the contribution of a little money can mean. Fort Wayne, which has been prompt, energetic and generous in every wise for the support of the government in this crisis, will not be remiss in coming to the aid of the Young Men's Christian association, which is one of the government's strongest arms.

LONG-TIME INVESTMENT.

Liberty loan bonds will run for fifteen years and may run for thirty years. They will be issued to bear a rate of 3½ per cent interest and will be convertible into 4 per cents if the government makes that the rate of any subsequent issue. There is a fact worth thinking about in the tenure of liberty loan bonds. Money put into them is securely invested for a long term. It is an investment that will give the investor no anxiety and will not shortly bring him face to face with necessity to find a new place for his money, as is true of many sorts of public issues that may pay a trifle more in interest, but are of short tenure and are progressively retired, compelling the holder to be diligent in watching for new investments that his funds may not be idle.

Coupled with the duty of all to support the government in all ways at hand, is the solid advantage of performing that duty in respect of the liberty loan bonds. It entails no sacrifice, it involves no risk, it does not impose inconvenience. No buyer is likely to apply for more than he can make out to pay for within the time all payments must be made. Once paid for and in his name and possession, the investor—especially if he be a person never accustomed to saving—will find that he has something from which he will take great contentment and from which he most probably will take steadfast impulse along a course of thrift. That would be well worth while in any event and it is the more worth while in the actual event where the selfish advantage is joined to a patriotic service.

An average of a little more than three dollars a week saved from this time until the day when the final payment must be made will make up the amount of one fifty-dollar bond. It is worth while to curtail a trifle here and there in order to do this. Once done, it realizes a permanent and profit-yielding gain. There will be an investment of fifty dollars in perfect security and for a long time. If the need for the cash should come the bond can be converted into cash, though we believe that not many who find themselves well started on a career of saving and investment will care to go back to thriftlessness and improvidence.

Invest in a liberty bond of whatever denomination you can see your way clear to pay for within the time permitted. Help the nation in war and help yourself for all of your time yet to come.

GOOD TIME TO QUIT.

The public of this city would be well pleased to hear from the city hall that purpose to go ahead with the auditorium building project had been put away for the time. Such an announcement ought to be forthcoming—should before this have come, indeed—and we believe that at length it will.

In any event, we do not believe the administration will have the hardihood to take responsibility for the kind of thing it must give the people if the folly of going ahead now is persisted in. After slashing from the plans half of what was in them when the late rejected bids were submitted and leaving but 25 per cent of what was in the plans when they originally were approved, we doubt if there will be found left anything that the officials will care to offer or that the people will consent to accept.

From day to day it is made clearer that this is no time for going on with this enterprise. From day to day it is made clearer that to go on with it will ensue in great public disappointment and wrath. From day to day it becomes clearer that to stubbornly push this matter means a practical waste of what goes into it. No such public assembly hall as Fort Wayne is willing to pay for can be had for the money remaining in the hands of the city for that purpose.

The city ought to be spared a botched and inadequate building and it ought to be given assurance very soon that it will be.

The discovery having been made that the colonel is one of the greatest military authorities in the world, it may not be too late or lacking in pertinence, even at the distance of a score of years from the event itself, to start an inquiry into the reason for the colored troops butting into the colonel's plan of battle at Kettle Hill.

It took congress six or seven weeks to get the army bill out of its system, but with the summer weather of Washington drawing nigher and nigher, congress will contrive shorter shrift for the war tax and some other matters of more or less account in these lurid days.

The two campaigns—buy a home and buy a bond—very happily do not collide, but march side by side. Buying a bond will not prevent any one buying a home. As a matter of fact it will help. A liberty loan bond for $100 or $500 will go as far to buy a home as the money itself.

The liberty loan bonds are for the people of America. With three months in which to pay for it there are few so poor as to be unable to invest in a bond for fifty dollars. No finer opportunity to begin the practice of saving was ever presented.

In this matter of off again, on again, gone again, the government of our new and we trust our worthy sister democracy of Russia has got the well-known Misther Finnegan larruped to a gossamer frazzle.

SONNET—"THE PASSING."

(Once the whole world united to praise her..... now the whole world unites to fear.....this is the passing of a might people.....)

"Lo, our proud lamps are emptied of their light,
Weary our hands to toil, our feet to roam;
Our day is past and swiftly falls Thy night.
Lord, lead us home."
—Deus Misereatur.

There are no flowers on their red altar-stone,
Their gods are dead, their fragrance burned away.
Or, it may be, those feet of bloody clay
Have flamed to flesh, albeit human grown,
And, worn by death and slaughter and the moan
Of ruined nations cursing as they pray,
Toll have they taken of their judgment day,
And set each man to face God's wrath alone.

They have destroyed the souls that knelt to them,
And turned their gas-green faces toward the East
To catch the glow where others sacrificed—
Mean kings to wear a stolen diadem,
Poor pilgrims at another's wedding feast,
Strewing dead lilies at the feet of Christ!

WHAT MEXICAN EDITOR SAYS OF US

Editor's Note.—America has wondered what Mexico's attitude toward the United States really is since war has come. The following translation of a leading article from the Mexican Figaro, an important journal published in Mexico City, may throw some light on the situation. We've heard so many jingo tales concerning Mexico that this interpretation of Mexico's opinion of the United States is of real importance.

Mexican Figaro's Article.

(Written by Dr. Manuel Flores and Translated by J. T. Neville.)

"It seems the United States are taking their part as belligerents with all sincerity.'

"The nation gives no sign of being content with being only banker of the entente; it wants to be the provider of foodstuffs, ammunition and arms, the watchman of the seas and the creator of a great merchant marine and formidable navy.

"The American army is being increased far beyond our expectation. It will not only be a home defense, but a great auxiliary beyond the Atlantic.

"This vast program; the enthusiasm with which this step has been received by the masses (save here and there a discordant voice without echo); the enormous sums authorized by congress for the president's commands; the conference in Washington with high representatives of the entente—all these facts lead us to believe that the American attitude in this conflict will not be only that of a defensive, but in all probability will become an intense aggressive.

"When the American people, with enthusiasm, undertake a scheme there is no one on earth who can equal them in push, rapidity, fruitful invention and satisfactory results.

"No nation can construct railroads faster, longer or more in number than the American. The building of these roads is accomplished almost as fast as the speed of a locomotive.

"Their steamers are sea birds skimming the roughest waves; their buildings touch the clouds; the floors are counted by the dozen, and before the last is completed the building is thoroughly furnished and occupied.

"The shops and factories are reproductions of Babylon, with parks, street cars, postoffices, banks, schools, temples and theaters.

"Americans are the captors of Niagara Falls—the builders of Brooklyn bridge—the improvisors of New York, Chicago and Philadelphia, rivals of London, Berlin and Paris.

"Their population, immigration, production, consumption, exchange, wealth, universities, hotels, hospitals and all are beyond proportion of the known and usual.

"Such is the Yankee. He has only to make up his mind and with his imagination and labor can secure a means for all his ends.

"The important thing is for him to truly wish something. A few days ago we had doubts about this. We only believed in the financial help of the United States toward the entente. But it seems our cousins want fire, and with the quickness that characterizes them, will become ardent warriors.

"Since they have decided to fight (they will not only make believe they do, but actually do it), we will not be surprised in the least if tomorrow they tell us they have bridged the Atlantic and crossed it.

"We will believe it without hesitation. In fact, we will believe anything wonderful they tell us they have done."

BE PATRIOTIC—TOTE IT.

(New York Tribune.)

Carrying home your package instead of saying "Send it, please," is the latest scheme for carrying on in the war—or for doing your bit, if that phrase is any less irritatingly offensive than the other, which we feel all too well it is not. There have been a thousand schemes of hardship to date, ranging all the way from giving up bacon at breakfast to buying government bonds to avoid the super-tax. All are, no doubt, admirable. But we are beginning to understand the psychology of the man who read one too many and fled with a curse to enlist for the first real fighting job in sight.

We suspect that British phrases never can be properly acclimated in America. The meteorological charts of slang all show that words start in the west and work slowly eastward—reverse currents are almost unknown. In our amiable effort to adopt the idea of "doing our bit" we have underscored the last word and quite mistaken its meaning. Won't Mr. George Cohan or Mr. Frank Tinney invent an American phrase to state the real truth—that a bit is not enough and that every blessed one of us must do every blessed thing he can or we shall grimly deserve the utter and everlasting failure that will be ours?

SILENCING THE PRESS.

(New York World.)

In the matter of taxation the great question must always be: What is the purpose? Is it to raise revenue, or is it by indirect means to reach an end not named in the title of the bill?

Some such queries as these occur naturally to the mind when we read of the efforts making in congress, on the plea of necessity arising from war, to place excessive taxes upon the circulation of newspapers and magazines in the mails. The worst of these contemplate prohibitive postal rates in zones not far removed from the offices of publication, thus limiting the influence of important journals and periodicals. As we can see in this instance, there is a tremendous difference between taxes that permit life and taxes that are meant to kill.

No other department of the United States government is so much a business enterprise as that of the post, and no other is conducted with such utter disregard of common business principles. The carrying of the mails is an undertaking which by the liberality of its processes ought to be at once profitable in money and intelligence. Instead of that, its bad management dooms it to high costs and the perpetual threat of outrageous public penalties.

A press taxed to death or by taxation restricted to a narrow field might almost as well have been censored to death. Evidently defeated in the one purpose, is government now to resort to the other?

CARRAWAY, A TYPE.

(Chicago Herald.)

During the debate in congress on the loan bill up rose Representative Carraway, of Arkansas, to demand that the whole cost of the war be paid out of current incomes and to oppose the selective draft plan of the army general staff, President Wilson and Secretary Baker.

He is sedulous. Is Representative Carraway, according to his own statement, to guard the poor who "will be at the front fighting the battle" from having the cost shifted to them by bonds. By his opposition to the draft he shows he is equally sedulous that every man, rich or poor, who wants to shift the cost of defending this country to the more willing and patriotic shall have a chance to do so.

Representative Carraway cannot see that there should be no shifting of either personal or financial responsibility to serve the country to the extent of one's abilities during war—that the two cases are much the same. He cannot see it because, presumably, he is the type of politician who sees only what fits in with his ideas on personal political expediency and lets the rest go hang.

CREEPING BARRAGE REVOLUTIONIZES

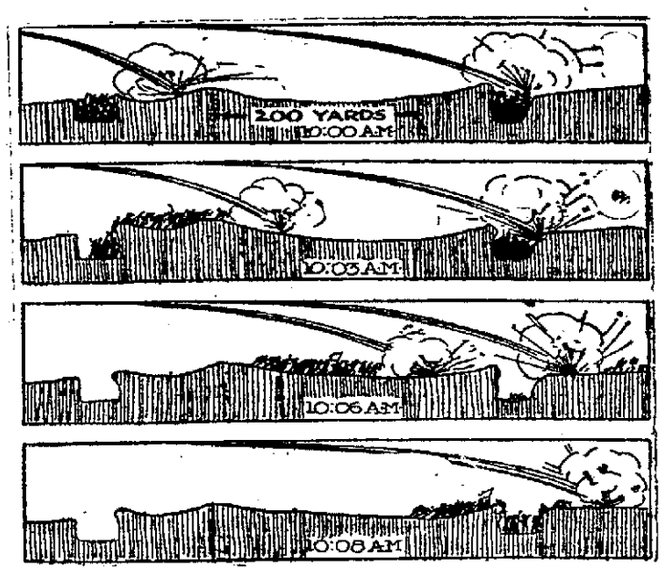

Diagram showing the working of the "creeping barrage," under cover of which British troops in France are now taking German trenches. Note the advancing infantry is preceded by a moving "curtain" of artillery fire.

(Staff Special.)

London, May 15.—British attacks in France are revolutionizing war methods. Artillery and infantry are being co-ordinated as never before.

Most novel new tactic is the "creeping barrage." This is a curtain of artillery fire that, timed to the second, precedes a wave of infantry as it sweeps out of the British and toward the German trenches.

Cannon in the rear are ordered to start firing at a given time and to elevate the line of fire slightly as a given rate.

Infantry in the front lines are told to leave their trenches at a given time, exactly, and move toward the German lines.

When the infantry start shells from their own artillery are bursting just in front of them, and as they advance, the shells keep bursting always the same distance in front.

At the same time other shells are bursting in the German trenches, making it impossible for their occupants to advance and causing many casualties.

At the instant the trench fire and the advancing "curtain" of fire meet, the cannonading of the German trenches ceases and the British pour into them, killing the survivors who refuse to surrender.

Then the British, having taken the trench, begin to prepare it for defense against the German cannonade which they expect to follow as soon as German officers discover the trenches have changed hands.

SAILOR BOY IS IN WRONG AT TOLEDO

Man Convicted Here in 1913 is Being Held in Ohio City.

Detective Sergeant Joseph Brennan, in charge of the bertillon records of the Fort Wayne police department, has been notified that James Sidney Bates, alias Henry Allen and Roy Bates, the sailor youth who scattered a wealth of fraudulent checks over the United States before he was convicted in Fort Wayne, in 1913, is under arrest in Toledo. Bates is garbed again in a sailor suit and claims to be just off a man of war. His check cashing methods are the same as of old, Brennan has been told.

Bates cashed a bad check for $62 on the Hamilton National bank, early in 1913. He continued his exploits until arrested in Chicago on July 2, 1913. He was brought to Fort Wayne and convicted on a forgery charge. He was sentenced to from two to fourteen years' imprisonment.

Two weeks ago he cashed a bogus check in Van Wert. He was arrested in Toledo. He is being held there. The Fort Wayne department is asked to give information about his past record. Brennan has much data at hand.

Fred Stritter, recorder of Vanderburg county, Indiana, has been doing a little figuring on the European war. He finds that the allies could raise an army of 37,860,705 men, figuring their capacity on a percentage basis of population. The combined population of the nations fighting under the allied flags is 1,085,372,645. Combined population of the nations fighting under the German flag is 145,397,648. Miss Marie Sommers was honored by a party of much charm this afternoon at the home of Miss Mae Centlivre, of Spy Run avenue. Because of Miss Sommers' admiration for the color of blue, Miss Centlivre made her preparations to conform to that as much as possible. Nut baskets and place cards were of bluebird design and white roses, swansonia and blue tulle bows made a lovely decoration for the supper table. A corsage bouquet for Miss Sommers was of white rosebuds, sweet alyssum and forget-me-nots. The guests, who were members of a club, gave Miss Sommers a shower of gifts. Miss Centlive gave her a personal gift of a "bluebird" towel she had embroidered, and blue candles on the frosted cakes, heart and cupid forms of ice cream and the hemming of tea towels all combined to speak of the coming nuptials of the honor guest. The towels were showered on Miss Sommers.

A beautiful pre-nuptial party was given last evening at the home of Miss Hazel Miller, of East Creighton avenue, in compliment to Miss Mildred Flick. Miss Claire Voirol and Miss Marie Markey were the assisting hosts. Early in the evening the hostesses presented others of the company with magazines and materials for writing biographies of the honor guest and the groom-to-be. These stories were made from the magazine pictures and were supposed to be prophetic. At any rate they caused much merriment and made keepsakes for Miss Flick that she will prize for a long time. At supper time each guest found her place a most interesting spot. There were tiny cups of rice in which stood a rose candle holder with a tiny taper in it. Each one also found a tulle ribbon at her place which on being drawn from the center of the table revealed a card with something written on it. Then each guest read the various bits of advice and nonsense written on her card aloud, and Miss Flick blushed and smiled her appreciation of it all. There were many pink roses used on the table for decoration and favors and snilax and lilies of the valley in the livingroom, so the party was most springlike. The hosts presented the bride-elect with a gift.

After enjoying the performance at the Palace, Miss Lucile Vail and her guests had supper at the Anthony hotel last evening. The party was given by Miss Vail to honor Miss Ethel Doud's guest, Miss Irene Milnor, of Indianapolis, and there were ten in all. The table was decked in a variety of spring flowers of which lilacs and calendulas were the centerpiece and white carnations were individual favors. After the supper Miss Doud treated a surprise by announcing that Miss Milnor is soon to be married to Victor Hendricks Winterrowd, of Indianapolis, the date being June 6. Miss Milnor's home is in Indianapolis and she has been Miss Doud's guest for several days.

AT THE PALACE

HILARIOUS COMEDY ACT.

"At Home" Is Immensely Funny Sketch at New Palace.

If there can be such a thing as artistic hilarity that's what Lulu McConnell's activities in the sketch, "At Home" are. This sketch, which is being presented at the New Palace the first portion of the week, is one of the funniest things ever presented on the short order stage, introducing three clever artists in natural humor. The jarring, rowing, bickering family, consisting of husband, wife and husband's brother, compose a vaudeville company who rehearse their act between fights. Miss McConnell is a sort of combination of Eva Tanguay and May Irwin, with a discernible strain of acrobat in her.

The two dainty Farber girls, Constance and Irene, are as alluringly charming as ever in their singing and dancing skit.

The Colour Gems, a group of five beautiful girls in a series of exquisitely lighted poses, blending the natural colors with the outlines of their forms in artistic triumphs; Sonie Dinkins, Arthur Barr and Billy Everett in a minstrel show in a livery stable; C. Francis Reisner, the Kentucky Kernel, and Laypo and Benjamin in sensational and thrilling athletic comicalities are others on this bill.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

FAVERSHAM AND CROSMAN.

Two Great Stars in Shaw's "Getting Married," May 29.

The two most distinguished artists in the all star cast that will present Bernard Shaw's "Getting Married," at the Majestic for a one night engagement, May 29, are William Faversham and Henrietta Crosman. They have several important scenes together, the most interesting of which occurs when Miss Crosman, representing Mrs. George, the sprightly mayoress, with clairvoyant tendencies, goes into a trance and astonishes the bishop portrayed by Mr. Faversham, by her advanced views on the subject of womanhood.

The scene is best explained by Mrs. George's own words, as follows: "At last I have escaped from myself and am become a voice for them that are afraid to speak, and a cry for the hearts that break in silence. When you loved me I gave you the whole sun and stars to play with. I gave you eternity in a single moment, a strength of the mountains in one clasp of your arms and the volume of all the seas in one impulse of your soul. A moment only; but was it not enough? Were you not paid then for all the rest of your struggle on earth? Must I mend your clothes and sweep your floors as well? Was it not enough? I paid the price without bargaining; I bore the children without flinching; was that a reason for heaping fresh burdens on me? I carried the child in my arms; must I carry the father, too? When I opened the gates of paradise, were you blind? Was it nothing to you? When all the stars sang in your ears and all the winds swept you into the heart of heaven, were you deaf? Were you dull? Was I no more to you than a bone to a dog? Was it not enough? We spent eternity together, and you ask me for a little lifetime more. We possessed all the universe together, and you ask me to give you my scanty wages as well. I have given you the greatest of all things, and you ask me to give you little things. I gave you your own soul, and you ask me for my body as a plaything. Was it not enough? Was it not enough? When you spoke to my soul years ago from your pulpit, you opened the doors of my salvation to me, and now they stand open for ever. It was enough. I have asked you for nothing since. I ask you for nothing now. I have lived; it i senough. I have had my wages, and I am ready for my work. I thank you and bless you and leave you."

CHILDREN IMITATE MANNERS.

Much of a child's earliest education, often the most valuable and most enduring part, is that which is unconsciously acquired at home, not by precept or teaching, but by imitation. From the earliest beginnings of learning the child is copying the sights and sounds about him.

Thus he learns to speak his first words, and from this time until he begins his formal education in school, and indeed through his entire childhood, he is imitating the language, manners, and emotions of the older people about him. His behavior and opinions are undoubtedly to some extent the direct result of this copying of his elders. He will repeat the tricks of speech and manner which they constantly employ.

If a child lives among people whose language is correct and agreeable, whose manners are pleasant, who show always a thoughtful consideration for others and whose behavior is gentle and kindly, he unconsciously acquires similar ways. The habit of courtesy comes not alone nor chiefly from direct instruction, but from imitation.

A DELICIOUS CAKE.

By Eleanor Record Sigel.
(Quoted from Pictorial Review for June, 1917.)

Every woman who makes a practice of serving afternoon tea wants new recipes for cakes to accompany the refreshing beverage. Here are a group, gathered from several quarters of the globe. Many of them will keep for days in a cooky jar—both children and grown-ups will like them:

Oriental Tea Cakes.

¼ cupful shortening.
1 cupful brown sugar.
½ teaspoonful soda.
1 tablespoonful cold water.
1 cupful flour.

Work the shortening until creamy, adding the brown sugar gradually and beating constantly. Dissolve the soda in the cold water and add this to the first mixture, then add vanilla and flour. Mix it until it holds together well and leaves no crumbs in the bowl. If it separates, add some water, a drop at a time, until the mixture can be molded into little balls. Place these balls on buttered tins about an inch and a half apart, and bake in a quick oven until delicately browned. This recipe will make forty cakes.

Vanilla Crescents (Hungarian.)

7 oz. butter.
8 oz. flour.
4 oz. blanched almonds.
2 oz. powdered vanilla sugar.

For this recipe it is well to prepare the vanilla sugar a week or two before you want to use it. Put one or two pounds of powdered sugar with a vanilla bean into a quart glass jar. Close tightly and when you are ready to use it, you will find the sugar has absorbed the vanilla flavor. To make the vanilla crescents, chop the almonds very fine after removing the skin by letting them stand a few minutes in boiling water. Put all the ingredients together quickly and work until the mixture is like pie-crust and does not stick to the hands. Divide the dough into little pieces, the size of a hickorynut, roll slightly between the palms and pinch into a crescent form. Put on wax-paper in flat pans and bake in a moderate oven until biscuit color. Do not brown. While still warm, roll them lightly in powdered vanilla sugar and let them get thoroughly cold before packing away in a dry place. This quantity makes seventy small crescents. They will keep for months.

Little Almond Cakes (Mandolotti.)

2 egg whites.
¼ lb. sugar.
¼ lb. unblanched almonds.
3 oz. flour (scant.)

Beat the whites of the eggs until very stiff, add sugar and almonds cut in pieces but not too fine, add flour last and mix with hands, adding a few drops of flavoring if you wish. Mix until you can roll it into a ball. Take small pieces of the dough about the size of a little finger and flatten out on buttered tins. Bake in a moderate oven.

GRADUATING CLASS OF THE FORT WAYNE BIBLE TRAINING SCHOOL.

Those in the picture are: Standing, in the rear—Miss Alga Blankenship, Tilman Amstutz, D. F. Siemens, Albert E. Oyer, D. A. Plunkett, John C. Clasper. Second row—Mrs. Emily Sandercock, Miss Sylvia Amstutz, Levi Hager, Henry W. Roth, Mrs. Alta Grieder, Mrs. Sarah Jane Monroe, Miss Barbara Warner. First row—Miss Melvina Eicher, Joseph Grieder, Miss Clara Steiner.

NEWEST COLOR NOTION IS BLACK AND WHITE.

The newest color notion is black and white.

With a white frock one wears white stockings, black shoes, black hat and black sweater. There is one difficulty which arises frequently when the lady follows a fad of this kind; she must explain constantly that nobody's dead, and that she is not in mourning. The black sweater will have but brief vogue. Popular acclaim will annihilate it before it gets a good start on a dismal run.

Silk sweaters of two colors are so delightfully gay that they will lure away your money. An idea, which is new, is that of setting in godets about the hips, and making these godets of another color. The full flouncy effect is desirable, and does away with the ugly stretched line at the back, which is the curse of all sweater garments.

JUDGMENT AGAINST DUDLO.

Judgment of $500 was rendered against the Dudlo Manufacturing company by Judge A. B. Anderson, in the federal court at Indianapolis, in favor of Walter A. Edwards, a former detective, who brought action for $10,000 damages, alleging malicious prosecution. Edwards was arrested through a complaint of the Dudlo company a year ago, when he was attempting to obtain a picture of machinery in an effort to establish evidence of an alleged patent infringement.

SYMPSON RESIGNS.

Just before leaving for Cleveland to take up his duties as assistant division engineer of the C. & P. division of the Pennsylvania, H. J. Sympson sent in his resignation as chairman of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. committee to President E. E. Griest. Mr. Sympson held that office since last fall, and was quite active in Y. M. C. A. work.

CAPITAL STOCK INCREASED.

The capital stock of C. C. Schlatter & Co., hardware dealers, has been increased $125,000, making it now $200,000. The increased capital stock is brought about because of the tremendous increase in business the company has had during the past few months.

NEW POSTAL CLERK.

James A. Ross has been added as a clerk in the Fort Wayne postoffice. He began work on Tuesday.

MISS KATHERINE MILLER.

(Staff Special.)

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 21.—Miss Katherine Miller, a nurse of Flushing, will not marry "Lieutenant Commander George Ellis Stuart," who left suddenly and is being sought by secret service agents as an imposior.

Miss Miller is said to be heart-broken, but expresses joy at not having married a man who posed as a "British naval hero" and member of the Balfour party.

Agents say Stuart was never connected with any British military organization.

Stuart, it is said, was in the living room with Miss Miller at her home when the girl's father answered a telephone call in the next room. Stuart heard "Lieutenant Commander Stuart" and other parts relating to him spoken by Miller.

Going to a window, Stuart jumped out and ran across the lawn. It was the last Miss Miller saw of him.

MARK STUCK.

Garrett, Ind., May 22.—Mark Stuck, the 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Stuck, of this city, has surely shown his patriotism in the last few weeks by enlisting in the service of his country in helping to cut down the high cost of living. Mark is a live wire and is a carrier for the Fort Wayne Sentinel. Instead of enjoying a few hours more sleep in the early mornings he arises at 5:30 o'clock and with a big basket on his arm he hikes to the best place to gather greens and works faithfully until it draws near the school hour. Then he hustles home and gets his greens ready for the people of this city who readily buy them, many knowing their value as a spring tonic. He has to date earned $17 which he calls his "Green Money" and everyone will agree with him that it should look like "Green Backs."

His dog, Shep, is his constant companion and the two are inseparable. Mark is only a little fellow but he has earned a nice little sum of money without any investment but a good supply of backbone and determination.

Mrs. C. L. Roudebush, 2926 John street, Fort Wayne, says: "I was always subject to backache until it seemed almost natural to me. After using one box, I was free from the suffering and have remained so ever since."

Guy Deemer, teacher of science in our high school, has gone to Fremont, O., where he will visit his parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Deemer, for a few days.

The commencement exercises, which were held at the M. E. church Thursday evening, were well attended, the church being filled to its capacity. The graduating class numbered fifteen, seven boys and eight girls. Prof. C. H. Freeman, of Ada, O., delivered the address. The alumni banquet, held in the dinningroom of the Presbyterian church, Friday evening, was also well attended, covers being laid for one hundred and eight guests.

LOCAL MERCHANTS TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Dry Goods Association Will Meet at Indianapolis on June 12.

Fort Wayne will be well represented at the annual convention of the retail dry goods merchants of Indiana to be held in Indianapolis Tuesday, June 12. The meeting will be the third of its kind to be held under the auspices of the Indiana Retail Dry Goods association, of which practically all Fort Wayne dry goods merchants are members.

The association will depart from its usual rule and will omit the formal banquet. In its stead will be given a smoker, the entire convention being given over to the discussion of the business problems of the retail dry goods and ready-to-wear merchant.

At the smoker a question box will be conducted to which the dry goods merchants of the state have been asked to submit questions relative to any problem in their business which they have not been able to successfully solve, thus drawing out a free and open discussion of the particular subject and in this manner gaining the experience of other merchants who have successfully solved the same question.

The convention will last but one day and will be divided in three sessions, the final session being the smoker, all three sessions being held at the Claypool hotel.

Due to the conditions existing in all lines of business and especially in the retail dry goods line on account of the war, the convention promises to be of unusual interest.

At this convention the Mid-West Retail Dry Goods association will be formed comprised of the membership of the three states, Indiana, Illinois and Ohio.

Membership in the Indiana Retail Dry Goods association will carry with it membership in the Mid-West Retail Dry Goods association without additional cost. The convention Tuesday, June 12, will go a long way in bringing together in a closer relationship the retail dry goods merchants of the state and should be attended by every merchant in that line.

WILL ORGANIZE MOTOR RESERVE

Automobiles and Drivers Will Be Formed Into a Company.

Dan N. Beers is Named Chairman of Committee on Arrangements.

Realizing that the taxi cab saved Paris and proved a proficient means in the transportation of troops on the European battle field steps have been taken in the United States to form motor reserve companies in every city of any size.

Plans have already been made for the organization of a unit in Fort Wayne with Dan N. Beers as chairman. William Griffin and Austin Stultz are the other members of the committee. This committee was named at a meeting of the directors of the Fort Wayne Motor club held Monday afternoon. This committee in conjunction with a committee to be appointed by the Commercial club directors will formulate the plans to accomplish the purpose.

Application for membership in this organization will be received and acted upon by the committee which accepted applicants for the training camp of the officers' reserve.

This unit of national defense will only be called upon in case of emergency and according to the present plans will not be called from the state to perform their duties. These units may be called upon to transport troops in case the railroads are unable to transfer the men. The motor reserves may also be called upon in case of any serious disasters in the state.

A motor reserve company is composed of a car master, three assistant car masters, one machinist, one helper, one cook, one watchman, one trumpeter messenger, twenty-eight drivers, twenty-seven cars, one wrecking car and five motorcycles and drivers.

Recruiting Stimulated.

Settlement of the conscription law has caused recruiting to pick up again. Sixty youths from northern Indiana were sent from the Fort Wayne recruiting station on Monday. Recruiting was brisk Tuesday.

Raising of the pay of regular army soldiers is also given as a reason for the renewing of enlisting activities. Sergeants are now to receive $42 a month, besides their clothing and rations. Quartermasters will get $44 and staff sergeants $55.

Goes to Indianapolis.

Captain Thomas Ryan will go to Indianapolis later in the week to make arrangements for establishing of two companies of troops from this neighborhood in the Tenth infantry regiment, which will be trained at Fort Benjamin Harrison.

Captain Ryan believes that the regular army will reach its full quota before June 20. The state of Indiana has no doubt attained its full complement by this time, he states.

Preparing Advertising.

Preparation of more advertising matter for the regular army is going on at the East Main street station. There will be no words about the draft law in the new display matter. The conscription measure is outside the regular army sphere, although the more volunteers obtained the less will be the number of conscripts needed.

Four Sailors.

Four young men were enlisted in the navy department Tuesday morning. There is promise of renewed activity in navy recruiting, officers at the Federal building office believe.

Eyes Keep Him Out.

Kuneth Noble, son of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Noble, who has been anxious to enter the aviation corps of army work, found on examination in New York city that it would be impossible on account of his eyes. Mr. Noble is taking a postgraduate course in Taft school, Watertown, Conn., preparing for Yale, which he will now enter next fall. This summer the young man and two or three school friends are to go to a farm in Michigan, which his father owns, and work there.

EXPECTS 100 TO TAKE EXAMINATION

County Superintendent D. O. McComb expects one hundred teachers in the county to take the county or state examination next Saturday at the Commercial rooms of the International Business college. These examinations are held each month and those who have failed thus far or those who have not as yet taken the test will undoubtedly makes a try this month.

ASK BOARD TO ASSIST

Plan for Demonstration on Day of Registration Are Discussed.

RECEIVE WORD FROM WAR DEPARTMENT

Captain Kilbourne Calls Meeting of Training Camps Association.

Plans for a big patriotic demonstration in connection with registration day on June 5 when all young men between the ages of 21 and 30, inclusive, will be required to register in compliance with the conscription measure recently passed by congress were discussed at noon, Tuesday, at a meeting at the Commercial club of the executive committee of the Officers Reserve Corps Military Training Camps association, of which Capt. E. H. Kilbourne is chairman.

Captain Kilbourne has called a meeting of the committee for Wednesday noon, together with a commmittee fro mthe Fort Wayne Council of Patriotic Peace, for further action. Inasmuch as the time is getting short it is imperative that the plans be made at once.

The communication from the central department of the United States army urges the members of the executive committee of the Officers Reserve Corps Military Training Camps association to see that preparations are started immediately to co-ordinate all interests in making June 5 the occasion for a great demonstration of patriotism. The communication says that plans should be perfected so that on June 5 every man within the prescribed age limits may be able to register without interfering with the economic activities of his community.

"People of the cities and of the countryside should accompany their sons, brothers and husbands to the registration place in the feeling that here in America is the altar of free institutions and that every man who is putting down his name is subscribing to a sacred service in the protection of those institutions," the communication says. "Every man as he registers should be provided with a khaki arm band of honor so that he can assume leadership in the work."

MAJOR LEAGUES TO PLAY SUNDAY TO AID IN WAR

Chicago, Ill., May 22.—Major league baseball on Sunday in all the cities of the eastern end of the circuit, the gross receipts to be donated to various units of the United States army, is what magnates of the American league hope to bring about. President B. B. Johnson of the league has already arranged with the approval of Mayor Mitchel of New York for a game in New York, Sunday, June 10, between the New York and St. Louis Americans. It is to be a championship game not an exhibition affair, the scheduled game of June 18, between the teams having been advanced for the occasion. Mayor Mitchel is to be custodian of the receipts, which are to be given to the New York engineer corps.

Machinery was set in motion today for the purpose of obtaining permission for American league teams to play championship games on Sunday in Washington, Philadelphia and Boston, the proceeds to go to some unit of the American army.

Summary of the Day's War News

[By The Associated Press.]

The German armies in France are slowly yielding ground before the relentless pressure exerted by Generals Haig and Petain and the vital question is as to whether their morale can be maintained under the terrific pounding to which they are subjected day and night.

Apparently the allied commanders have abandoned the policy of sudden thrusts at chosen points and are relying on a constant hammering over a wide front in the belief that sooner or later the iron German ring must either break or crack.

While there is little immediate prospect of sensational developments in the battle area the political situation remains fraught with many possibilities.

The latest news from Russia indicated that the crisis in that country continued acute and the menace that Russia may either withdraw from the entente or be plunged into chaos still throws its shadow over the future. The Russian radicals are apparently as determined as ever to reject the war program of England and France but show almost as much reluctance as Berlin to define their precise aims. A conference is projected at which the coalition government will be asked for a frank statement as to its position and there are uncomfortable rumors that the radicals intend to force repudiation of Russia's treaties with other members of the entente. On the other hand is the rising tide of indignation against Germany in Scandinavia and Spain. The anti-German faction in Sweden has been powerfully reinforced by the action of the Germans in sinking three Swedish grain ships, in violation of their own agreement to respect the safety of vessels. Spain is still awaiting a reply to her protest over the sinking of the Spanish steamer Patricio, destroyed while sailing under a German guarantee, and the tone of the Spanish press is increasingly peremptory in its demand that Germany be compelled to respect Spanish rights. What effect the course of the press is having on the German people remains practically a sealed book. The German censorship has reached a point of unparalleled efficiency and the little news that trickles across the frontier of the central empires offers scant basis for even speculation. Apparently the war of the Pan-Germans and junkers on Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg is going merrily on, but there is nothing to indicate what effect it is having on the emperor, sole arbiter of the premier's destiny. The junkers claim to have enlisted Field Marshal von Hindenburg, but the issue will presumably remain in abeyance until the reichstag reconvenes on July 5.

Last night's actions on the French front confirmed French possession of the commanding high ground won the previous night near Moronvilliers, on the Champagne. The Germans thoroughly bombarded these new French positions and then delivered several infantry attacks, but were unable to shake the French hold and suffered considerable losses. The French have enumerated more than 1,000 unwounded prisoners taken in the fighting of the past few hours in this region.

Another complication has arisen in the Russian situation through a movement in Finland for complete independence of Russia. A congress of the most influential interests in the grand duchy has adopted a resolution favoring such a separation.

On the American continent developments in the war situation concerning Brazil and Mexico are reported. President Braze, of Brazil, has sent a message to congress recommending that the decree of Brazilian neutrality be revoked, in view of Brazil's traditional unity of view and sympathy with the United States.

According to a news agency dispatch from Berlin, through Amsterdam, Mexico is reported to have handed, through her minister in Berlin, a note to the German government protesting against Germany's submarine campaign.

MAN KILLED AT ASHLEY.

Ashley, Ind., May 22.—The body of a man was found Monday along the Wabash tracks just west of Helmar. It was badly mangled. From appearances the deceased was about 24 years old. On his clothing were found $10.50 and an identification card giving the name of M. C. Graham, Bridgeport, Conn.

MORE WOMEN HAVE SIGNED FOR VOTES

Notary Public to Be Hired to Aid Registration at Y. W. C. A.

Of the 960 voters who have registered at the city hall, more than half the number are women, say the registration clerks, Swartz and Bresnahan.

Mrs. Carina Warrington, woman attorney, with an office in the Shoaff block, delivered forty-five signed blanks at the registration office on Monday afternoon. She will bring in several slips every day until most of the women of the city have been accounted for, she states. She has been a leader in the woman suffrage movement and is anxious to establish her sisters in their new found duty. She also wants to be sure that women have a voice in the making of the new state constitution.

A notary public is to be established at the Y. W. C. A. on West Wayne street, in order to make valid the filling out of blanks at that place, where women of the city gather. The notary will be on duty one hour each day.

Women of the city, whose husbands are from foreign lands, are told to make sure that their companions have taken out their second naturalization papers. Unless the husbands have taken that action their wives cannot vote, even if they are American born. So far no case where it was necessary to deny a woman the right to register has been introduced.

The first male colored citizen to register appeared at the office Monday evening. The colored women of the city were represented at the registration office more than a week ago.

TURNED DOWN PETITIONS.

Two Sidewalks Will Not Be Built, Board Decides.

The board of works voted at its meeting Monday afternoon not to order sidewalks constructed on St. Mary's avenue, from Pape avenue to Third street, and on Franklin avenue, from Third street to Huffman street. Franklin avenue citizens will be allowed to file a new petition asking for walks on the west side of the street.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company was granted the right to build an industrial track in the alley between Holman and Montgomery streets, from Barr street to Clay street. The council must give the final word before the track can be constructed.

Action on the petition from the General Electric company, which asks for a sidetrack on Wall street, from Broadway to Ewing, will be acted upon next Monday by the board.

SAVED CITY MONEY.

Efforts of Dr. Steinmetz and Frank Dix Bear Fruit.

New methods of installing apparatus, worked out by Dr. C. P. Steinmetz and Frank Dix, superintendent of the city light department, have saved that department nearly $1,000 in the past year, the records at the light office show.

Dr. Steinmetz and Frank Dix both read papers before the Baltimore, Md., convention of the International Association of Municipal Electricians on the general subject of "Operating a Municipal Lighting System." Both men were interested in the points brought out by the other. A conference was arranged between the pair.

When Steinmetz came to Fort Wayne a month after the convention there was a prolonged discussion of the most effective methods of conducting a city lighting system between the two. Several minor changes were decided upon for the local plant. The new plans of wiring and installing nitrogen lamps saved much money for the city department, the accounting displays.

WILL NAME CENTERS.

City Clerk Boerger to Secure Conscription Locations.

Centers where registration for the conscription measure are to be carried on in Fort Wayne are to be secured by City Clerk Boerger as soon as possible, it was decided by the conscription registration board, which met in the office of Mayor W. J. Hosey, Monday evening.

An effort will be made to induce citizens to allow the use of the usual polling places for draft registration points. The owners of the property will be asked to grant the free use of the rooms as a patriotic duty. The conscription registration places will be made public as soon as possible in order that the citizens can register with as much dispatch as possible.

It is believed by the conscription board members that several deputies will be necessary in each of the thirty-one precincts to carry on the registration. The board members expect June 5, when more than 8,000 young men of Fort Wayne must sign up, will be one of the busiest times in the city's history.

WILL SELL LAND.

Council Expected to Allow Sale of Park Property.

The right to sell three lots near the Coombs street bridge to the plant of the Wayne Oil Tank and Pump company is expected to be given to the park board, Tuesday night, by the city council. The land was bought for a park site and the project has since been abadoned. The land can ow be sold to advantage to the city.

The council will also act upon the resolution which asks that the names of Dayton avenue and Oakwood street be changed to Oakwood drive.

Preparing Plans.

City Engineer F. M. Randall has been ordered by the board of works to prepare plans for the extension of Franklin street to St. Clair street. This action was decided upon by the board Tuesday night. The street is already carried over the old canal bed and only its extension across two lots will be necessary to bring it to St. Clair street.

Building Permits.

Building permits were issued to Henry Hilgoman, to erect frame dwelling, 1014 East Jefferson street, $1,000 and to Charles Rodenbeck, build residence, 2621 West Drive, $5,000.

Laying Conduits.

The city light department is laying conduits in the alley between Washington and Wayne street, from Calhoun to Clinton streets.

Dr. J. H. Gilpin, secretary to the city health board, and Dr. E. M. VanBuskirk, of the county health board, went to Indianapolis, Tuesday, where they will attend the two days' convention of Indiana health officers. Dr. Gilpin will deliver a paper on "Prevention of the Spread of Disease Among Children."

Ten Young Men Employed in Court House Must Register.

Ten young men employed in the offices of the court house must comply with the conscription law registration. The clerk's office will be hit the hardest as three young men in this office come within the age limit and will consequently be forced to register on June 5.

The court house employes and the offices in which they are employed are as follows: Clerk's office, Ed Young, Art Lamont and Frank Koch; surveyor's office, Carlisle Duell and Hugh Deardorff; treasurer's office, William J. Pepe and Carl Greim; auditor's office, S. Loraine Boerger and Jay Brown, and the sheriff's office, Charles Kleint.

Will Go to Bluffton.

William Eggeman, county assessor, will go to Bluffton, Tuesday afternoon, where he will testify in the case against the Levy Brothers. He will take the assessment sheets for the past three years with him.

Case Is Transferred.

In the circuit court, Monday, in the case of Edward Miller vs. the Benevolent Order of Buffaloes, herd No. 1, of Fort Wayne, for $84 sick benefit alleged to be due, Attorneys Emrick & Emrick for the defendant, asked for a change of venue from Allen county, on the ground that their clients could not get a fair trial. Smith & Douglas, attorneys for the plaintiff, then dismissed the action from the circuit court, owing to the expense of a change of venue and the inconveniences it would impose and filed it in the court of Justice M. J. Tancey, where it will be heard.

LIFE WAS MISERABLE,

States Frieda K. Dillman in Suit for Divorce from A. F. Dillman.

Life was made miserable, states Frieda K. Dillman in her suit for divorce from Alfred F. Dillman, whom, she says, made many false accusations. She says he accused her falsely of being immoral. She asks for the custody of a minor child and also prays the court to issue an order restraining the Packayrd Piano company from paying him his wages.

To Elect Superintendent.

The twenty township trustees will meet at the court house on Monday, June 4, at which time the election of a superintendent of county schools will be held. Present indications are that D. O. McComb, the present incumbent, will be reelected without opposition.

Fined $1 and Costs.

George A. Driftmeyer, a collector, charged with assault and battery, was fined $1 and costs in the circuit court Tuesday morning by Judge Eggeman. The young man accidentally struck the small child of Mr. and Mrs. David Foster, on North Calhoun street, last fall, while riding on the sidewalk with his bicycle. In the city court he was fined $100 and costs. He appealed the case.

Will is Probated.

The last will and testament of John Meyer was probated in the circuit court Tuesday morning. He bequeaths all his property, both personal and real, to his wife, which she is to keep until her death, unless she marries again. If she remarries the property is to be divided among her and the children according to the disposition of the law.

Charges Non-Support.

Charging non-support, Eunice Fleschnier is suing Toby Fleschner for divorce. She states in her complaint that they were married May 25, 1914, and separated May 1, 1916. She alleges that the defendant was cruel and inhuman to her and abused and humiliated her in many ways.

Hearing Evidence.

Judge Eggeman is hearing evidence in the case against Austin Lanier, charged with assault and battery on an Assyrian with intent to kill.

JUMPS AND SAVES HIS LIFE.

Louis Martine, a traveling salesman from Luporte, Ind., had a narrow escape from instant death at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon. His machine was struck by the Pennsy flyer one mile east of Dixon, O. When he saw the danger he jumped, thereby saving his life. The machine was broken to splinters.

Y. M. C. A. WAR FUND STARTED

Over $35,000 Received in Opening Day of State-wide Campaign.

Five Counties Fail to Get Started on the Opening Day.

The state-wide campaign for $150,000 to make possible Y. M. C. A. work in the army camps, started off on Monday with a fine swing; $35,112 was reported from the nine districts of the state. Of this amount $2,903 was reported from district No. 8, of which $2,655 was subscribed by Allen county citizens and $248 by Steuben county citizens.

The men in DeKalb and Huntington counties began their work Tuesday morning and are expected to make substantial reports Tuesday evening. The committees in Adams, Wells and Whitley counties were not able to get started quite so promptly, but have their plans well laid and have given assurance that their counties will meet their apportionment by the end of the week.

It is very gratifying to the committeemen and solicitors to find that this work at Fort Benjamin Harrison and other training and mobilization camps is appealing to the patriotism and generosity of the majority of the people. Inasmuch as there is no other opportunity whereby our soldiers may have facilities for reading, writing letters, enjoying entertainments and social features of any kind, in addition to opportunities for moral and spiritual uplift, it becomes an absolute necessity to get behind the Y. M. C. A. in doing this work for our own and our neighbors' sons.

The Allen county committee will not make a city-wide canvass for their share of the state fund, so that many men and women will not be called on personally to contribute. However, as many parents of enlisted men and others will want to have a part in this work, subscriptions will be gladly received by the district secretary, E. W. Peirce, at his office, 1407 Calhoun street.

MORE MEN ARE NEEDED TO HELP BUILD SHIPS

Local Branch of Free Employment Bureau Gets Word from Washington

More men are needed by the war department to assist in the building of ships. A month ago the free employment bureau branches throughout the state were called upon to secure men of all trades for this work. Fort Wayne at that time sent in the names of fifty men.

However, Fred Schmeling, in charge of the local branch, received word Monday afternoon from the war department stating that the required number of men were not received upon the first call. The second call is issued and it is believed that again as many will answer this time as did on the former occasion.

Applications will be received at the local branch of the free employment bureau in the Allen county court house.

The war department also announced that those men who filed their application on the first occasion will be summoned in the near future by written orders from the department.

Men who answer this call will be regarded as being in the service of their country and will consequently be excused from military duty.

KIWANIS CLUB HAS SECURED 33 MEMBERS

Organizer North Will Remain Here Until Seventy-Five Are Enrolled.

Through the efforts of Harry North, a national organizer, the local Kiwanis club has secured thirty-three members and Mr. North promises to remain until the membership has been boosted to seventy-five. This announcement was made at the regular weekly luncheon held Tuesday noon at the Commercial club.

This new organization is an international society and already eighty-eight chapters have been established in the United States. The membership in this club is limited to two men from each profession and no man can become a member unless he is an executive or in business for himself.

Howard Benninghoff presided at the meeting Tuesday noon and addresses were given by Harry North, E. F. Brinkman, Rose Keller, Charles Pask, Guy Mahurin and Mr. Becker.

This club was organized just two weeks ago and has grown remarkably in this short time. It is expected that by next week the membership will have grown to at least fifty.

CUMMINS, THE BETTER SWIMMER, GRABS GAME

Grand Rapids is Victim When Chiefs Begin to Regain Standing.

Because he had no fears of water, Cummins won a battle from Bremer at League park yesterday, 3 to 2. The game was held up thirty minutes in the second inning in order to let the rain spill itself out, and was then continued, ending happily for the Chiefs. When a club starts out to regain its standing in the community from which it has been sent forth to do battle, some other club or clubs must do the victim act, and right now the part has fallen to Grand Rapids.

In the second frame Mike Kelly was was handed an unearned run when Second Baseman Carey, of the Black Sox, booted the ball with a double play in sight. 'Twas a different story in the sixth, however, when Pete Powers used his trusty warclub to good advantage and sent a pair of runners across the plate with his double into left field.

In the next inning the Black Sox became slightly dangerous, making two runs and threatening to tie the count. A pair of doubles by Mitchell and Cary sent the former across for the first marker. Alcock then grounded to Siegfried, who missed first base on his throw, leaving men on second and third. A sacrifice fly scored Crey but Alcock was sent out to third by Mike Kelly. Eddington was given a life on first, but became ambitious, tried to steal, and was nabbed.

After that not a player saw first, both pitchers retiring six in order as they came. The Chiefs looked good in spite of the bad weather, and there is a big chance that they may stage some winnings from now on.

In the next game Shortstop Whitcraft, from the Virginia league, will relieve Brown, who has been with the team so far this season. The latter has played some mighty fast semi-pro baseball but will need some more playing before he is ready for class B. A berth will be found for him in a lesser league. Whitcraft is touted as a nifty performer, and Vandy has been watching him for some time. He will in all probability be accompanied by a teammate, Outfielder Bilisa. Bilisa is a sticker and has been clubbing the pill at the rate of .380 this season.

A. A. MANAGERS STILL FUSSING OVER SERIES

Joe Tinker Not in Favor of Experimenting During Present Season.

Chicago, May 22.—When the club owners of the American Association met again today in an effort to determine whether to abandon the scheduled interleague series with the International league they were still deadlocked. Final action on the question was prevented yesterday by the absence of O. H. Wathen, of the Louisville club.

James C. McGill, of Indianapolis, and Roger Bresnahan, of Toledo, with Mr. Wathen were said to compose the faction opposed to the move of President Hickey abandoning the series. Joseph Tinker, of Columbus; J. W. Norton, of St. Paul; M. Cantillon, of Minneapolis; A. F. Timme, of Milwaukee, and George Tebeau, of Kansas City, are backing the league head. Before leaving for Toledo, Tinker said that in his opinion the series was an experiment that should not be attempted at this time.

"We are in the throes of a war," he said. "Our players are liable to the draft and no man can tell what the next few months will bring forth. So far as I'm concerned the series will not be played."

McGill announced that the Indianapolis club would go through with the series if they had to play the games single handed.

"The agreement was made in good faith, and there is no good reason for breaking it," he said.

A suggestion was made at the meeting that the American association season may be split in two, and the winners in each play a series for the champion instead of the interleague games, but this did not appear to meet with favor.

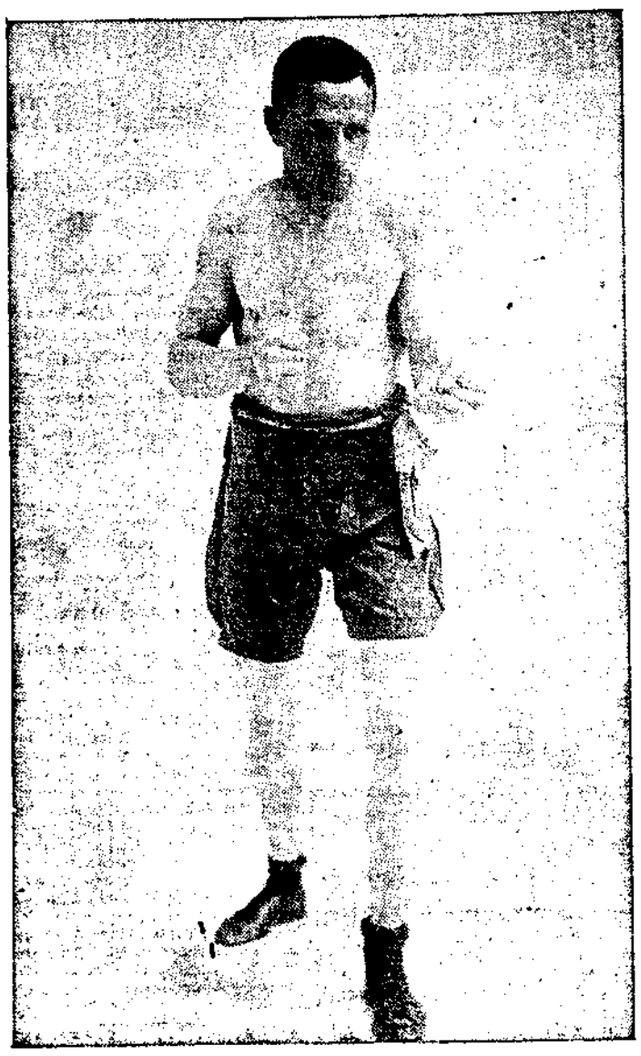
HAS HARD JOB CUT OUT FOR HIMSELF.



FRANKIE MASON,

Fort Wayne Premier of the Paperweight Division Who Meets the Zulu Kid Tonight for Ten-Round Go at the Majestic.

Flyweights Are in Best of Condition and Will Stage a Hard Scrap.

No two more confident scrappers ever took the ring than Mason and the Zulu Kid, who meet at the Majestic theater tonight. This pair of clever flyweights are expected to put on the fastest bout ever witnessed in the city, and with both of them in the best of condition it will no doubt be a hard fight, with every possibility of a decision by the knockout route.

Frankie completed his training last night, and he states that he is far below the weight—112 pounds—and that he never felt better in all his life. The easterner, who arrived late yesterday afternoon with his manager, Sarno, is also confident that his condition is the best, and he stated that while he realizes that Mason is a fighter with a future, he is mighty certain that he can turn the trick. All of this leaves Frankie none the less confident.

The scrappers will weigh in at the Berry Buffet this afternoon at 3 o'clock, together with the pugs who will make up the rest of the card. In the curtain raiser Art Wellsbacher and Battling Hess will stage a continuation of a rivalry started here when Mason fought Coulon. These boys, both of them as husky as they come, have no love for each other since their last fight, and they will probably do some tall fighting.

The semi-final will be between Young Brown, of Toledo, who did Holzhauer so much damage on the last card, and Eddie Austin, of Chicago. Holzhauer was in no condition to fight Brown, who is a hard boiled proposition, but Austin can offer him lots, and a hard battle is expected.

In order to accommodate fans who come from out of the city, the scrap will be started at 8:30 o'clock, central time, or 9:30, eastern time. E. W. Dickerson, of Grand Rapids, and well known to fight fans as a competent referee, will officiate at all three bouts.

As a memorial to Gyp, the organizations' faithful mascot for many years, East Orange (N. J.) lodge of chauffeurs will erect a monument to the dog, which died recently. A notice of Gyp's death was posted in a garage.

WILL MINOR LEAGUES WEATHER WAR STORM?

Lesser Circuits Look to Be on Financial Rock According to Scribe.

(By Paul Purman.)

What of the minors?

Will they be able to weather the storm of this tumultuous season?

Is the present agitation in the American association merely a preface to a wholesale revolution in minor league ball?

The minor league situation is one which will bear a lot of study.

Few minor league clubs make much money. Many are supported by small town business men for the advertising they get out of a team. Active co-operation between men and the minor league magnates is all that keep dozens of clubs operating during the season.

The minor league baseball situation is becoming graver every year.

Every season more leagues are disbanded than new ones are formed.

Members in the National Association of Professional Baseball clubs fell from forty leagues in 1913 to twenty-five leagues in 1917, twenty-two of which finished the season.

And of the twenty-two leagues which finished there was not an average of two clubs per league which finished the season with a profit.

The first cry of wolf from the minors this year comes from the American association, one of the largest and most prosperous of the minors.

Club owners declare that unless players agree to accept salary cuts the clubs must suspend for the season.

President Hickey has called off the proposed post-season series between winning clubs of the association and International league on account of hard times on his circuit.

If the American association cannot get through without such measures how about the class A, B and C leagues?

How about the Western league, in which last year only one club made money, and that not the winner.

How about the Three-I or the Central?

Conditions in these leagues are similar to those in most in their classes.

Minor league magnates are worried and rightly.

If business men fail to lend their support many of these clubs must suffer, and as they have already suffered they cannot stand much more.

Superficially it appears that the only thing that will save the minors this year is complete co-operation of the business men in the cities where clubs hold franchises, combined with lower salary limits and the eradication of baseball passes.

SPORTS CHATTER

Now that the Chiefs are fairly well launched on a winning streak it would be sad to have conscription come along and spill the beans.

Lovely heads athletics, comments an alert contemporary. Such a name should go well with ping pong and other strenuous athletic sports.

Chief Myers stole a base the other day. Next thing we know Ernie Koob will be getting a hit.

ground glass in Fred Mitchell's coffee before he left Boston.

From the way the boxers are rushing to the colors it looks as though "slacker" and "yellow" should be substituted for "battling" and "cyclone" and such names for the members of that honorable profession.

Home-Run Baker made a home run the other day, which proves that even a name won't stop some fellows.

Sid Hatch postponed a 100 mile race on account of a couple of broken ribs. Even broken ribs would be preferable to running 100 miles.

Carl Morris should be barred from boxing every plac eln the country, according to Jess Willard. Maybe Jess is getting a little uneasy.

After that game between Dayton and the Chiefs yesterday, nothing would be a surprise.

Taberski will fight with his cue for his title, says a headline. We thought roughhouse tactics had been abolished in three-cushion billiards.

It took the aid of many of his best friends to make Coulon see that he was through but now he is convinced.

Baseball fans would have paid the ticket speculator tax for world series games won't worry about the war tax on regular games.

TRAIN BODY WELL BEFORE TRYING DIFFICULT ATHLETIC STUNTS

Remarkably Developed Lad Holding 158-Pound Man On His Chest. James H. McNamara, Boy Wrestling Wonder, Doing the "Bridge" Stunt.

(By James H. McNamara, 13-Year-old Boy Wrestling Marvel).

In the article that went before this I told of the bridging exercise, which is the first one taught by the wrestling instructor. You remember, the exercise where you lie on your back with your feet drawn up toward your body. You raise your stomach and chest, making a bridge with head and feet.

Pretty soon after I got to doing this bridge easy I could almost feel my neck muscles become stronger and my back get full of pep.

Then I began to learn the flying bridge, which means to be able to spin around with the head as a pivot. Then we learn the arm and leg dip; that is, lie at length on the stomach, raising up and down on the hands and toes. This tends to develop the arms and back.

During these exercises the right way to breathe is taught. Learning to breathe right will keep a person from tiring quick. Lots of people know how to swim; that is, they can stay on top of the water and manage to get along. But most people don't learn how to breathe right and lose half the fun of swimming. I want to say that while I like wrestling and believe it to be the greatest body developer, I swim and dive a lot and think it is great business.

But I was talking about the flying bridge and using the head as a pivot. Boys who are not working under an instructortality of body and brain."

should be very careful with this stunt. A boy needs to be built up to it before he attempts flying around on his noodle.

Just as I began to develop muscle and lose fat when I tried the first bridge exercise, I began to feel more good effects when I got to the flying bridge. Remember that while my instructor kept teaching me new holds he never let up on the ordinary breathing and muscle building exercises. It does not do a person any good to know science of wrestling if he doesn't build up his body to supply strength for applying holds and resisting them.

It doesn't make a boy or man a wrestler if he simply is strong. If he is strong to begin with it helps a lot. But he must learn the science. And let me tell you fellows that a very little instruction goes a long way.

You just naturally come to know when to get a certain hold as your opponent leaves an opening.

Al Williams, wrestling instructor of the Olympic club of San Francisco, who has tutored Herbert McNamara, refuses to allow any of his charges to wrestle for more than five minutes at a time. Williams is a firm believer in developing strong boys and young men, rather than putting out "champions."

Williams says: "The championship idea has been overdone in this country. My stunt is to build up and make them enjoy life to the limit, with self control and vi-

One of the simplest and, in a sense, most beautiful of last sayings is that attributed to the beautiful and unfortunate Marie Antoinette. Everybody knows that she was a victim of the guillotine, and as she stumbled from the tumbril to the scaffold she accidently trod upon her executioner's foot as he stood ready to perform the task at which he had become an expert. "I beg your pardon," said the lady who had been the center of the most brilliant court in Europe. "I beg your pardon. I did not do it on purpose." A minute later her beautiful head fell into the basket.

EDDIE GRANT, FORMER GIANT, LAYS DOWN LAW BOOKS TO TAKE UP RIFLE IN U. S. SERVICE

One of the first ball players of national reputation to join the colors was Eddie Grant, infielder, formerly with the Giants, Cincinnati Reds and Phillies, who has been accepted for the officers' reserve corps at Plattsburg.

Grant gave up baseball at the close of the 1915 season to begin practicing law in New York.

If Grant's action is any criterion ball players as a general rule will not be found to be slackers in the great war. Although he had quit baseball, Grant had as much at stake as many active players. He had been practicing law just long enough to build up a practice which is sure to be lost while he is at the front.

Although Grant was in the National league for half a dozen years and took part in the last world series between the Giants and Athletics, he could never be classed as a great ball player.

For three years he played third base at Philadelphia, and was sent to Cincinnati, where he was used as a utility infielder until traded to New York in 1913.

He was with the Giants in 1913, 1914 and 1915 as a utility infielder, and was often used as a pinch hitter or substitute runner.

His best year in baseball was 1914, when he batted .277 in eighty-eight games, and was one of the best fielding third basemen in the league.

The Store Which Goes On Forever

It Celebrates Its Semi-Centennial Next Year

Are you a stranger in the city? That this store has existed in Fort Wayne for half a century, and has always led the procession, is the best guarantee you can have that it is the place where you ought to purchase your Furniture, Rugs, Carpets, Stoves, Baby Carriages, etc.

Nothing phases the business of the "Big Store." The war scare cannot do it. The selling out this spring of the $100,000 stock of our strongest competitor, who has quit the business, strange to relate, has not only not reduced our sales since January first of this year, as compared with those for last year, but has actually increased them just $779. And this, too, notwithstanding we held a special sale last year during the month of January, and this year did not. Pardon the bad taste we show in patting ourselves a little upon our back for being able to make such a record for the first five months of 1917.

It is the kind of furniture you find in the most elaborate homes, built broad and massive, luxuriously upholstered, a suite that will tone up your entire household. Yet here it is priced within the reach of the most modest purse. By contracting for these suites at the maker's dullest period, we are enabled to offer you one of the most sensational values of our entire stock.

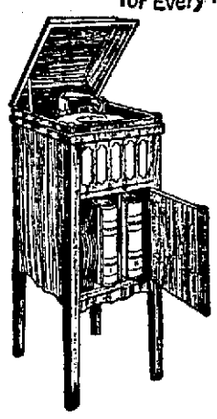
Genuine Quarter-Sawed Oak Each piece of this three-piece suite is made with genuine quarter-sawed oak frame, in rich, golden polish or rich brown fumed oak dull finish. Arms are broad and liberal in size, extra massive. Front posts are very prettily shaped. Below seat is a full width rail, giving ample opportunity to show the beautiful flake in the quarter-sawed oak and the care that is given the finish.

The Upholstering is in our good grade brown Madden leather, a covering that will rival genuine leather for wear, beauty and resiliency. We can also furnish this suite in brown Madden Spanish leather. No matter which one you order, you will get all that the greatest upholstering skill can produce. Backs are luxuriously padded, seats contain sanitary coil springs, securely joined with steel bands, thickly overlaid and padded.

The "Duofold" Divan Bed makes a magnificent, stately divan by day—a decoration to your parlor or library, and at night a bed unfolds automatically from underneath the seat, affording you a full sized, comfortable bed. No intricate mechanism to get out of order. Any child can convert it from a divan to a bed or back again. You do not sleep upon the upholstering like in the automatic davenports. This Madden is equipped with regular spring and adapted for regular mattress bed, giving you every possible comfort of a regular bed.

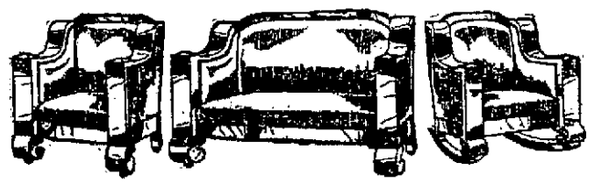
FOR ONE WEEK ONLY, $39.50 NET FOR ALL THREE PIECES.

The Perfect Tone OPEROLLO For Every Home



PRICE, $35.00.

Everybody knows or should know that we are headquarters for the greatest musical instrument ever invented—the Edison Diamond Disc. But like all "best" things, it costs too much for some people. So we have also taken the agency for the Operollo, an instrument which plays the lateral Records, such as the Columbia, Victrola and others, and is, like them, a needle machine. It looks like a $100 machine but only costs you $35, and on easy payments at that. It has a large space below for albums for Records. It successfully competes with all makes of these instruments except the Edison. Come in and let us demonstrate its splendid qualities to you.



You may be wanting for your Parlor or Library a specially fine Suite covered in high-grade genuine leather. If so, here is your chance. An artistic Colonial design; all pieces match; very high-grade upholstering and the usual price in other stores, you will find to be about $125.00. Again we will surprise you and cause you to wonder when we tell you our price. Our special price is but..... $69.50

Here is another wonderful bargain for one week only—A Mahogany Bedroom Suite of three pieces, which speak for themselves. An artistic design; all pieces made to match; the panels veneered like a piano with crotch mahogany; the Dresser has a large French bevel plate mirror, and the Dressing Table three such mirrors, the two side mirrors pivoted so as to be turned as desired. The suite is in the "Adam Period Design," now so popular. If we asked you $100 for this suite you would not be surprised, but you will be when we say you may have it for one week or until they are all sold for $49.50

WILLIAM AND MARY PERIOD DESIGN DINING ROOM SUITS are exceedingly attractive. There are no carvings to gather dust and the wood is given an exquisite finish. The table shown is in Fumed Oak, the most durable of all finishes; the top measures 45 inches in diameter, and the construction is so perfect that we can guarantee this table to last your whole life long. You would probably guess the price to be at least $30.00, but for this week we quote it to you at

$19.50

The Chair to match is a very high-grade one: has box frame—the strongest way to make a chair—the seats are covered in brown Spanish Leather, while the panel in the back is of cane, which is one of the marks of the William and Mary Period Designs. These Chairs, special for a week, will cost you only

$4.00 Each

This store offers a discount to cash buyers but it sells its credit customers at cash prices and gives them the quality of goods they ought to have. No interest charged hereafter for one whole year on new credit account if paid according to contract. These terms are more liberal than we have ever before given, but we want our terms to be so liberal that all Housekeeping Outfits for young people may be bought of us. Of course we expect to give longer terms of credit than one year to those who need it.

TO LEAD PROCESSION OF AUTOMOBILES

A. I. E. E. Will Honor Dr. C. P. Steinmetz, Who Comes Wednesday.

Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz, who lectures under the auspices of the Fort Wayne section of the American Institute of Electric Engineers at the Majestic theater Wednesday night, will be honored with the first long ride in an Owens Magnetic car mainly built at the local General Electric works in this part of the country. It is the intention of the members of the A. I. E. E. to meet Dr. Steinmetz with a delegation at Waterloo, making the trip to that city in automobiles. There will be eight or ten machines in the procession and the finest—an Owens Magnetic demonstration car—will carry Dr. Steinmetz and some of the leading members of the association down from Waterloo. He will come to that city on a New York Central train, arriving there at 8:10 o'clock Wednesday morning, and to get to Waterloo at that hour the Fort Wayne party will have to make an early start.

Dr. Steinmetz will talk on "What Effect the War Will Have Upon American Industries," which subject is uppermost in the minds of all managers of big manufacturing concerns at present. Dr. Steinmetz, who is the consulting engineer of the General Electric works and one of the most famous electricians of the day, is a good talker and during his career in an engineering and business way in Germany and America, has accumulated a vast store of knowledge which eminently qualifies him to talk on the subject he has chosen for tomorrow night's lecture. The admission to the lecture will be by invitation tickets, issued by Chairman J. J. Klein and Secretary R. B. Roberts, of the Fort Wayne section of the A. I. E. E., who will supply all friends who apply for them to the seating capacity of the theater.

When the party with Dr. Steinmetz arrives from Waterloo, he will take luncheon and then go to the local General Electric plant, where the distinguished visitor will spend the afternoon in looking over the works, in company with F. S. Hunting, J. J. Wood, E. A. Barnes and other local officials.

ELECTRO-TECHNICS TONIGHT.

The committee of arrangements for the Electric-Technic club meeting tonight has not disclosed the character of the program. "Come and see," is the answer to the inquiry concerning it. "We have something good to offer and want to surprise you," said one of the committeemen. It has leaked out that there will be a sensational breach of promise trial as one of the features, but other features are not being disclosed. The meeting tonight marks the close of the 1916-1917 lecture course season and new officers will be elected.

WILL ENTERTAIN COMRADES.

Boilermaker Louis Russell, of the Pennsylvania shops, owns a cottage on the assembly grounds at Rome City, which he will open for the season next Saturday and Sunday. He proposes to make the opening the occasion for a house party to twelve or fifteen of his shopmates and has invited them up to Rome City on Saturday, to remain until Sunday night. The "boys" anticipate a good time and plenty of turtle, bass, bluegills and perch, along with all the appurtenances of the feast at the lakes, which have given the Russell cottage such an enviable reputation for hospitality.

ELECT DELEGATES WEDNESDAY.

From 4 to 7 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, at Machinists' hall in the Lau block, Typographical union, No. 78, will vote on delegate to the international convention at Colorado Springs, where the meeting will be held at the Printers' home. There are five delegates and the election is going to be hotly contested. The delegates are George Overdear, J. L. Sessler, Herman Meyers, P. J. Miller and J. Hoar. A vote will also be taken on the referendum question, submitted by the international union.

SHOW SYMPATHY FOR COMRADE.

All employes in the Pennsylvania air brake room, headed by Foreman James A. Foster, will march in a body to the home of Dennis Cleary, one of their shopmates, this evening, to pay tribute to the memory of his mother and as an expression of sympathy with Mr. Cleary over the loss of his beloved mother. Mrs. Johanna Cleary, the deceased, will be buried tomorrow morning and because of the hour of the funeral it will be impossible for all the shopmates to attend, hence the sympathetic demonstration this evening.

CALLED IN AN OPERATION.

Division Operator J. F. Betts, of the G. R. & I., has not secured a clerk to take the place of Herbert Daseler, transferred and promoted to a position in the Pennsylvania superintendent's office, and until he secures a regular clerk F. L. Stevens, a telegraph operator, will fill the office. John Wilkinson, also an operator, has been called to the main office to work in Mr. Stevens' place until he returns.

MR. WYNEKEN PROMOTED.

This morning F. G. Wyneken, who had been acting chief clerk to L. S. Trachsel, of the piecework price-making department of the Pennsylvania shops, assumeed that title, having succeeded Ed Breimeier, who resigned to take employment in the office of S. F. Bowser & Company two weeks ago. Mr. Wyneken came here from his home in Carlin, Ill., about seven months ago to take a position in the Pennsylvania offices, and he has been there ever since.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE.

Machinist John Raidy, of the Pennsylvania erecting shop, had a fall this morning that might have resulted seriously, but didn't. He lost his balance while on a locomotive and tumbled to the floor, a distance of ten or twelve feet. He was shaken up and sustained some minor bruises, but escaped serious injury, much to the surprise of the men who witnessed the accident.

ENGINES COLLIDE IN YARDS.

At 4 o'clock this morning the engine which brought in westbound Pennsylvania passenger train, No. 25, collided with a switch engine near Clinton street. Both engines were backing up, the passenger engine to the round house and the switch engine on a cross-over track. Both tenders were derailed, but not seriously damaged.

ATTENDING MEETING AT CHICAGO.

The division engineers of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg are holding a meeting in Chicago today, to talk over the situation as it relates to the work of the season. Division Engineer Guy Scott, of the Pennsylvania, and Division Engineer R. G. Jones, of the G. R. & I., are attending the meeting.

THREE NEW INSPECTORS.

E. L. Haffner, chief inspector of the apparatus department of the General Electric works, has added three inspectors to his department. Joseph Baptist will preside at the brush-holder room. Ernest O'Neil in the machine room, of which T. W. Butler is foreman, and Leonard Moore in the receiving department.

OPEN VACATION SEASON.

George A. Daseler, Carl Kierspe and Art Foellinger have inaugurated the vacation season in the office of Chief Shop Clerk J. H. Hobrock, of the Pennsylvania. They have gone to the lakes to spend the week. The return of these men will be followed by vacation of others until all have been served.

General Foreman F. G. Duryee, of the operating department of the General Electric works, visited his sister, who is sick, at Hillsdale Sunday.

E. L. Lash, who was married and started upon a wedding trip ten days ago, reported for work in the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop this morning.

O. S. Adams, moulder at the Pennsylvania shops, is nursing an injured finger, the result of an accident yesterday. He will be off duty several days.

Thomas O'Neil, who died at Peru last Friday, worked for the Wabash forty-six years, most of that time as a section foreman. He was 79 years old, and was a native of County Carlow, Ireland.

During the illness of Machinist W. J. Farnan, of the Pennsylvania lathe department, Tony Ueker will operate his machine in the daytimee. Mr. Ueker belongs to the night force.

The resignation of A. J. Bolton, a Wabash engineer, has made a number of changes necessary. The only one affecting Fort Wayne is the transfer of Bruce Sampson from local to through freight. He had a run between this city and Peru.

T. B. Lynch, who worked at the Pennsylvania machine shop several months ago, and C. R. Knight, from the Dudlo works, took employment with Foreman W. B. Madara at the Pennsylvania machine shop this morning.

J. B. Olinger, of East Pontiac street, is in receipt of a letter from Thomas Coleman, who has been off duty on account of failing health for some time, stating that there is no improvement in his condition. Mr. Coleman is a G. R. & I. passenger conductor.

The L. E. & W. has issued a bulletin stating that hereafter tickets will be sold to Fort Benjamin Harrison at a slight reduction over the fare to Indianapolis. Heretofore the passenger bound for the camp had to go into Indianapolis and hire a conveyance to take him to the camp.

John Doyle, who has been suffering from affected eyes for six weeks, was able to report for duty at the Pennsylvania machine shop this morning. His eyes have not fully recovered, but have greatly improved and he hopes the improvement will continue until the optics are entirely well.

The Central of Georgia has appropriated $9,000 for prizes to be given this year to members of boys' clubs on farms in the sixty counties of Georgia through which the railroad runs. The prizes are for industry, intelligence and care in raising calves and in cultivating cotton, corn and oats.

E. Dailey will serve in the capacity of secretary for the Builders' exchange, which has lately been formed in this city. AN EVEN DOZEN
COMPLETES ITS TWELFTH YEAR

Some facts and figures regarding the history and growth of this popular bank:

ON the 19th of May, 1917, this bank completed the first twelve years of its history. The story of these years has been a story of hard work and high ambition. It has also been a story of success achieved beyond our most sanguine expectations. Our first day's business gave promise of a splendid future and the intervening years have brought even greater growth than was foreshadowed in our opening. The bank has made good in every way. It has earned the confidence of the public and it has compelled the respect of its elders. The men who have been identified with its management feel very proud of its success. They have given its affairs close attention, and its steady, substantial growth has been in a large degree due to the splendid list of men who have formed its board of directors. They have worked together, making the bank's success their only aim. Throughout these twelve years the utmost harmony has prevailed in the management of the bank—strife and contention have been unknown, and here is the result as shown in our growth of deposits:

Deposits

End of first day	$ 102,306.90
End of first year	717,914.54
End of second year	1,129,711.17
End of third year	1,266,296.62
End of fourth year	1,531,600.77
End of fifth year	1,907,303.09
End of sixth year	2,000,189.92
End of seventh year	2,375,424.03
End of eighth year	2,648,056.53
End of ninth year	2,722,493.32
End of tenth year	2,741,610.30
End of eleventh year	3,130,255.22
End of twelfth year	3,878,700.00

Of course, if this growth had been obtained through extravagant methods and the sacrifice of profits, that ought to have been earned, it would not be much to our credit, even though the growth has been so great. But we have not been doing business for fun. We have treated our customers liberally. The figures given below demonstrate this, and we believe it will be readily admitted.

By the use of modern methods and the practice of rigid economy in conducting the affairs of the bank, a good amount has each year "stuck to the ribs." New financial institutions generally have a long period of "getting started," during which no one expects them to more than make expenses. We got started the first day, and we have stayed started ever since.

Here is what we have done for the public:

Paid Out in Interest to Depositors in Our Savings Department	$170,496.75
Paid Out in Interest on Deposits, out-of-town Banks	68,448.36
Paid Out in Interest on Certificates of Deposit	321,629.39
Paid Out in Interest on Deposits of Public Monies (Estimated)	49,100.00
TOTAL INTEREST PAID ON DEPOSITS	$609,674.50

Here is what we have done for ourselves:

Paid Out to Our Stockholders in Dividends	$195,600.00
Accumulated Profits Not Yet Distributed	43,230.29
Paid Out, in Behalf of Our Stockholders, Local Taxes	69,406.43
Charged Off, Out of Earnings, from Furniture and Fixtures	13,251.05
Set Aside, from Earnings, as a Surplus Fund, for the Further protection of Our Depositors	130,000.00
MAKING THE TOTAL PROFITS FOR TWELVE YEARS	$451,487.77

There are some things about our bank that are a little different from most banks. It is not a one-man bank. It is not run by, nor for the benefit of any one man or set of men. The board of directors has full voice in the management of its affairs. Neither is it a family bank in the sense that one or two or three families control its stock. Our stock is widely held. We have 250 stockholders among whom are many of our most responsible merchants, manufacturers, farmers and professional men.

We are great believers in the strength which comes from having a large number of small and moderate-sized accounts. Every little added to the little that you have makes a little more, and many "little mores" make a big total. The good will of a large number of small depositors is the best asset a bank can have. It does more than anything else to build up its business and to secure for it friends whose loyalty can be depended on. The small depositor of today may become, within a few years, a man of large affairs and of much importance in the community.

We want to get hold of the young men of thrift and energy. In a few years they will be the big men of Fort Wayne. They belong to us. They will feel comfortable with us. They will rejoice in our growth, even as we shall rejoice in theirs. The German-American has in it all the possibilities of youth. Its future is bright with promise, even as its past is full of achievement.

IT IS THE HOME OF THE SMALL DEPOSITOR.

FORMER LOCAL MAN FACES TWO SUITS

Is Bigamist and Sold Mining Stock, According to Charges.

Thomas W. Patton, aged 39, is held at Springfield, Ill., on the double charge of being a bigamist and of selling fake mining stock. Wire from Springfield states that he formerly lived in Fort Wayne.

He is thought to be the Thomas Patton who was adopted and reared by Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Patton, Charlotte avenue. He left Fort Wayne twelve years ago. He was married to a Fort Wayne girl five years before he departed from the city. His whereabouts have not been known to his foster parents for several years.

According to the telegraphic report, Patton was arrested in Kansas City, Mo., and returned to Springfield, on a warrant sworn out by Mrs. Mae McAtte, of Springfield. She complains that he sold her $530 worth of worthless mining stock. Chief of Police Morris, of Springfield, swore to the charge of bigamy against Patton, the message states.

IS A WELL KNOWN COMPOSER.

J. Edwin Allemong, a well known Virginia composer, is visiting in Fort Wayne. His sacred compositions, as well as his popular songs, have brought him into prominence. Mr. Allemong is a lawyer by profession, but has found time to write more than six hundred musical compositions. He is a guest of Dr. Klein, of West Jefferson street.

ROYAL EXILES DEVOTE LIVES TO THE RED CROSS.

Exiled from their country by the invasion of the Germans, Queen Marie of Rumania and her daughter, Ileana, here shown, are devoting their lives to the Red Cross, distributing flowers, dainties and good cheer among the wounded at the base hospital of Jassy. The Rumanian royal family are regarded the most beautiful in Europe.

In the new Russian government the important post of minister of finance was first allotted to a young man of little more than thirty years of age, Mikhail Tereschenko. Inheriting a huge business fortune when he was a young man, he proceeded not merely to develop it and to "enter parliament, as a business magnate would do in England, but to do big things in the world. He has courage, initiative and great ability, and will go far to building up the future of free Russia.

When my complexion was red, rough and pimply, I was so ashamed that I never had any fun. I imagined that people avoided me—perhaps they did! But the regular use of Resinol Soap—with a little Resinol Ointment just at first—has given me back my clear, healthy skin. I wish you'd try it!

GRABILL IS VISITED BY ELECTRICAL STORM

Small Buildings, Many Trees and Fences Blown Down —Barns Are Hit.

(Special to The Seninel.)

Grabill, Ind., May 22.—One of the most severe electrical storms ever witnessed here occurred Saturday night and Sunday morning between the hours of 9 and 2 o'clock. A high wind accompanied the heavy rains and considerable damage was done in the way of blowing down trees and small buildings and scattering fences. Lightning burned several barns a few miles north of here, also struck the tower of the Missionary church of this place, burned the strawstack of Joseph Klopfenstein and partly removed the roof of the now residence of Peter Amstuts.

Short Grabill Items.

Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Klopfenstein and grandson, Bronson, of Fort Wayne, spent Sunday with relatives here.

Mrs. Benedict Schlatter, who lives west of here, is in a very critical condition and not much hope is entertained for her recovery.

John Schlatter, of Iowa, who came here to attend the funeral of Joseph Schlatter, is visiting for a few days with relatives.

Rufus Roth, an employe of the Fort Wayne postoffice, spent Sunday with his parents, Rev. David Roth and family.

The funeral of Joseph Schlatter, which was held in the Mennonite church Sunday morning, was one of the largest ever held at this place, it being an automobile procession. Rev. E. M. Slagle, of Pioneer, Ohio, assisted by Rev. Eli Lants, of Berne, Ind., had charge of the services. Interment at the Leo cemetery.

David Gerig, of the Tri-State Loan and Trust company, of Fort Wayne, is spending a two weeks' vacation here with his parents, B. S. Gerig and family.

John Yaggy and family, of Woodburn, spent Sunday with relatives here.

On account of the funeral of Mr. Schlatter, there was no Sunday school held Sunday morning at either of the churches here.

Making a Garden.

The Tomato—One of Our Most Important Vegetables.

((Another of a series of articles, edited by the committee on publicity and information of the National Food Relief Union, Fort Wayne branch. This article is by Carl J. Getz, City Park Superintendent.)

Tomato Is Useful.

This vegetable may be classed as one of our most useful vegetables. Raw, it makes an attractive and refreshing salad, and may be served by itself or in combination with other vegetables, with meat or with fish. Made into catsup or pickles it serves as a relish. The addition of a little tomato gives a pleasant, acid flavor to many soups and sauces, and also to meat, fish and vegetable dishes. If possible the tomatoes should ripen on the vines, as the flavor is much better than when picked green and then allowed to ripen.

When properly canned this vegetable keeps well and retains its natural flavor. The housekeeper who has a generous supply of canned tomatoes on hand will find them very valuable at all times of the year, but especially in the winter months when the variety of vegetables is not great.

Overcooking spoils the flavor and color of the tomato.

Seeding.

Start tomatoes by sowing seeds in March in a hotbed, greenhouse flat or in a box inside the window of a room where a night temperature of not less than fifty degrees is kept. Plant in drills one inch apart and half an inch deep. One ounce of seed will make 1,500 plants. For plants enough for one acre of ground, sow about one-fourth pound of seed. From six to ten days is the length of time required for the seeds to come up.

Number Required.

Transplanting 3 feet by 3 feet, 4,840 plants will be required per acre. If the rows are four feet apart and the plants three feet apart in the rows, 3,630 plants will be required per acre, and if 4 by 4 feet spacing is used, 2,722 plants per acre will be required. As a city lot 50x100 feet is approximately one-ninth of an acre, divide the total number of plants by 9 to determine the number plants required per respective spacing used. For example, 4,840 divided by 9 equals 537. Thus it will require 537 plants for a lot 50x100 feet, spacing your plants 3 feet by 3 feet. If the lot is not plowed to the extreme edge, deductions should be made.

Transplanting.

When the plants are about two inches high they should be set out three inches apart in boxes which are three inches deep or potted into three inch pots allowing a single plant to a pot. They are sometimes shifted a second time into larger pots by which process the plants are rendered more sturdy and branching.

Plant Treatment.

About the first week in May the plants should be acclimated by "hardening off." This is done by ventilation in the greenhouse and hotbed and by setting the plants outside during the daytime, if grown in a box in the house or in a window box. For a few days before the plants are to be transplanted to the garden, they should be watered very sparingly. If this treatment is employed the plants will immediately grow when placed in the garden. After they are transplanted to their permanent location they should be watered freely. It is also best to do the transplanting, if only a small number are to be planted, during the late afternoon so the plants are fairly well established before the hot sun's rays arrive. Set the plant in the garden the third week in May or after all danger of frost is past.

Plant Deep.

The success in the planting of tomatoes lies in the depth of planting. An eleven inch plant should be planted at least five inches deep. At this depth the roots will come in contact with moisture and growth will start at once, and the roots are less apt to be dried out by the sun's rays. It is essential to press the dirt well about the plant.

Kind of Soil.

Deep rich mellow underdrained soil is a prime factor in producing best vegetables. When there is a limited supply of fertilizer, it will be well to put two or three spadefuls in each hill, spreading it over a couple of square feet of surface as the tomatoes make considerable root growth. Other essentials to good growth are frequent cultivation not only to keep the weeds down but to form a surface mulch to conserve the moisture of the soil.

Prune Plants.

Grow plants to a single stem and prune of all superfluous growth. Cut back branches if it is seen the plant is growing too tall, as we want the strength of the plant to manifest itself in the size and quality of the fruit rather than in the size of the plant. Allow but two or three fruits to set on a branch. As soon as the plant begins to blossom pinch off the ends of the shoots beyond the flowers, that fruit may set early. This will materially hasten the ripening of the first fruit.

Proper Support Necessary.

Tomatoes produce better fruit when staked up, or where trained against walls or fences. There is a circular wire tomato support on the market that is admirable and quite within the reach of the small private gardener.

Insects and Diseases.

The tomatoes are very often afflicted with blight or rot and for this spray early and at intervals with Bordeaux Mixture, which is a fungicide for the cure and prevention of black rot, mildew, scab and all fungoid diseases. Dissolve 1 gallon in 50 gallons of water and apply as a spray. Apply this spray three weeks after transplanting and then at intervals of three weeks until it has been applied four times. For worm use arsenate of lead, 1 pound to a 40-gallon barrel of water, will usually be strong enough for tender plants. The strength may be increased up to 2 or 3 pounds for hard wooded plants. To get rid of the pest known as the white fly use a solution of soap and water and spray under side of leaves thoroughly. A good way to protect plants from cut worm is to wrap stem of plant with brown paper before transplanting them in the garden.

Keeping Until Christmas.

Gather the large unripened fruit before frost and lay without touching each other on excelsior, hay or straw to permit a circulation of air about them. Place in the shade in room of moderate temperature and they will continue to ripen and color up, sometimes lasting until Christmas.

What to Plant.

For the private garden the Ponderosa tomato is one of the very best, being smooth, round, large and prolific and exceptionally free from spot, and with very little seed. This variety is, however, not a very early ripener. Spark's Earliana is an extra early sort and is more hardy in plant than the Stone, and a few plants of this variety may be set out to advance the season. Dwarf varieties, like Dwarf Champion and Dwarf Stone are very desirable in small gardens as they may be planted in close rows or can be supported to a single small stake. Other varieties that are very good are Early Jewel, Acme and Burpie's Dwarf Giant.

Cultivation and Irrigation.

The cultivation of garden vegetables must be constant and thorough, in order to keep the soil pulverized, which acts as a mulch to retain moisture by retarding evaporation and to keep down weeds. The hand hoe and rake are necessary, and no garden is too small to have a wheel hoe or cultivator used in it. This makes cultivation easier and more rapid, the work now becomes almost a pleasure. Every city lot gardener should purchase a hand wheel cultivator. They cost from $3.00 to $3.50, and can be purchased in any hardware or implement store.

Vegetables need plenty of water. If city water is available, it should be planned to give the garden a thorough soaking once or twice a week, rather than a little water every day.

THE MARKETS

MARKETS ARE DROWNED BY TORRENTS OF RAIN

Lonesome Load of Corn is All That Keeps the Street Alive.

Had it not been for one load of corn, Fort Wayne wouldn't have had any market at all Tuesday. This load of corn was taken to the city scales and sold at $1.67 per bushel. Not only was the wholesale department practically vacant, but the retail business was also a minus quantity.

Practically every dealer reported that there was nothing coming in, and as a result there were no material changes made in buying or selling prices. Wheat was steady, following the 18c advance made here Monday, and flour quotations were not tampered with.

TRADE IN JULY WHEAT WHOLLY DISAPPEARS

Future Delivery Trading Confined to September With Life in Corn.

Chicago, May 22.—Future delivery trade in wheat today was reduced to scant dealings in a single option—September. No business was done in the July delivery and it was said that soon under existing arbitrary rules all transactions whatever in contracts for future delivery of wheat were likely to come to an automatic stop. The market, that is the September wheat delivery, opened this morning 3c higher, owing to absence of offerings, but afterward reacted 2c, starting at $2.13 and falling back to $2.11.

Corn prices bulged on account of general buying which developed when the pit crowd saw that offerings were meager.

After opening ⅛@⅛c off to ¼@⅜c advance, the market scored moderate gains all around.

Oats developed firmness in sympathy with corn.

Scattered buying hardened the provision market.

Demand for Metals and Oils Supports the List in Later Hours.

New York, May 22.—Selling for profits was in evidence at the opening of today's market as indicated by the irregularity of prices. United States Steel duplicated its recent high record of 125⅝ at the outset but immediately receded a point. Factional advances in Bethlehem Steel, new stock, Anaconda Copper, Baldwin Locomotive, Mexican Petroleum and Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies underwent similar revision. The motor group was again heavy and moderate declines were made by Central Leather, Westinghouse, Industrial Alcohol and some of the rails. Alcohol, however, soon showed an actual gain.

A general demand for metals and oils buoyed the list after the first signs of a backward movement. Utah, Inspiration, Kennecotte, Chino, Cerro De Pasco, Grande and Calumet and Arizona coppers and American Smelting, American Zinc and Butte and Superior advanced one to almost two points. Mexican Petroleum rose 1⅜ and Texas company 2¾, minor issues of the latter group also hardening. Included in the list of active and strong specialties were American Can, Beet Sugar, Airbrake and Harvester corporation. The more prominent industrials and equipments remained under pressure. Rails an dshippings rose briskly at midday. Bonds were irregular.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The pressure is high over northern sections, and another high area lies off the north Pacific coast. The storm which was central yesterday morning over southwestern Kansas has moved northeastward and this morning it is centered over western Illinois. Rain has resulted from this storm in the central valleys, in the southern portion of the lake region and in the middle Atlantic states. Rain has also occurred in the northern portion of the plateau region and in the northern Rocky mountain states. Except that the temperature is nearly normal in portions of the east gulf and south Atlantic states and Ohio valley, the weather is generally colder than the seasonal average, the deficiency of temperature being quite marked in the western part of the lake region and in the upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys.

Why Buy or Build a Home Now?

Second of a Series of Buy-a-Home Articles by B. J. GRISWOLD

The reputation of Fort Wayne as "the city of homes" will not suffer this year. The people are building, as usual.

But the wonder is that so few of them are building, after all.

I am not surprised at this. Until I looked into the matter, I had the idea, as many others still have, that it might be a good thing to wait awhile to see if building conditions will improve. But I have been fully convinced that the man who defers building a home until next year or the year after will make a mistake to be regretted all his days.

Here is the situation:

Labor is cheaper now than it will be a year hence.

Lumber is cheaper than it will be a year from now.

Every item which goes into the building of the home will raise in price.

The need of homes will be more imperative a year from now than it is today.

The man who rents will have to pay an increasingly larger rate, and he will wish, by all that's worth wishing for, that he had had sense enough to build while the opportunity was his.

Let us analyze the situation:

1—The Labor Problem: Three years ago, the Master Builders' Association of Fort Wayne entered into an agreement with the carpenters whereby a stated increase of 2½ cents per hour would be made at the beginning of each year for that period. The men received the larger scale with the opening of each year, beginning with May 1. On the first of the present month, the last increase under the terms of the agreement was made, and this scale remains in effect until the 1st of May, 1918. The men, while feeling that they should have a larger increase, have stood by their agreement and are willing to stand by it until the expiration of one year more.

And then what?

Judging from the demands of men in many other lines which have worked under no such agreement as that of the carpenters, there will be an insistent demand for larger pay just as soon as the present agreement comes to an end. All right. The men will receive higher wages. Who will pay the increase? The contractor or the home owner? It won't be the contractor, because he must maintain his percentage of profit.

The home owner will pay the higher price. The way to avoid this is to build now—this spring or summer—before the higher wage scale causes an increase.

And how about common labor—that which comes not within the scope of wage scales? I find, from talking with contractors, that the price they pay for common labor this year is from ten to fifteen cents per hour higher than last year. "And goodness knows what we'll have to pay next year," observed one of them. He made no direct reference to the increasing scarcity of common labor through enlistments and in the wider demand for men in the manufacturing plants, but it would seem that these elements would figure largely in the intensifying of the situation. Somehow, the labor situation would seem to urge, almost demand, the building of homes this year instead of postponing the action until next year or some other year.

2. The price of material: For a variety of contributing reasons the price of lumber—the greatest item in the building of the average home, has not increased in price in keeping with many of the other items used in commercial and manufacturing structure. Steel has been hit hard. Here, in Fort Wayne, we see it in the attitude of those who have charge of the construction of the municipal coliseum and the building of the Young Men's Christian association. In the case of these latter examples, the price of steel and other items which go into the building of these large structures figure but little in the cost of a home. And yet, when we see conservative men refraining from the building of large structures, we get the idea that everything in the building lines is "out of sight."

It isn't so.

Lumber has "behaved" very nicely. It is one of the articles in the building line which, like rice, among the eatables, has not soared beyond reach. And this fact should gain lodgment in the cranium of every citizen who has in that same cranium the longing for a home.

One fact is clear: To postpone building until a more favorable cost condition may be to postpone it altogether. Even if you are planning to build for renting, no more favorable time than the present will present itself in this generation. Lumber will be more expensive next year than it is now. Possibly the curtailment of shipments abroad has had something to do with keeping the price down. If it has, the resumption of those shipments will boost prices beyond our present calculations. One of the largest contractors and users of lumber in Fort Wayne said to me the other day:

"I can see no chance for lumber to lessen price. We are fortunate that it has stayed as low as it has. But it seems to me that wth the increasing difficulty in taking it from the forests and getting it to the market we may expect to have to pay for the larger cost to the producer. Each year the lumber area is growing smaller, and the policy of conservation—splendid as it is—is adding to the problem of keeping the supply up to the demand. I a madvising my friends to build now if they have it in mind to build at all, for a more favorable time will never present itself."

The members of the Fort Wayne Real Estate board are engaged this week in doing the people of Fort Wayne the favor of calling their attention strongly to the facts which point to the strong advisability of buying or building a home this year as a matter of economy, if on no other basis.

MOVIE ACTRESSES AND THEIR HAIR.

Did it ever occur to you that every movie actress you have seen has lovely hair, while the most popular count their curls as their chief beauty? In fact, many are leading ladies just because of their attractive locks. Inquiry among them discloses the fact that they bring out all the natural beauty of their hair by careful shampooing, not with any soap or makeshift, but with a simple mixture by putting a teaspoonful of canthrox (which they get from the druggist) in a cup of hot water and applying this instead of soap. This full cup of shampoo liquid is enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. After its use, the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. The hair is so fluffy that it looks much heavier than it is, while its lustre and softness is delightful—Advertisement.

VIOLENT MISTAKE PROVES CONFINING

Man of Proper Intentions Goes to State Farm for Two Months.

It was once too often when Adam Lair, Dwenger avenue, made the mistake of attacking his wife, last Saturday. The excuse of his intentions being good did not hold with Judge Kerr Tuesday morning. Lair was fined $10 and costs and sentenced to fifty days at the state farm on a charge of assault and battery.

When Lair set fire to his home, two months ago, causing $200 loss to the furniture and building, he was acquitted on a charge of arson because he explained to the court that he had no intentions of starting the blaze.

When Mrs. Elizabeth Lair, his helpmeet for thirty years, refused to argue with him last Saturday, the man struck her. She rolled up the sleeve of her waist and displayed a highly colored arm to Judge Kerr Tuesday morning. Lair said it was accidental. He will be at the state farm more than two months.

Other Police Court Cases.

Andrew Donnelly completed his sentence of 115 days at the state farm, where he was sent because of repeated intoxication convictions, on Saturday morning. He was drunk on Saturday night, officers testified. Judge Kerr will send him back to the farm for ninety days more, he decided, Tuesday morning, when Donnelly pleaded guilty to the intoxication charge.

Other cases of public intoxication were: Henry Kruse, fined $1 and costs, and John Doe, who forfeited $15 bond. Arthur Thoman, who referred to the judge as "My dear," in his promises to be temperate, was released. Pat O'Brien will be tried on May 25 and Frank Notestine on May 28. Ben Jones was released.

Judge Kerr dismissed the charge of grand larceny against Walter Cole, who was said to have neglected the making of deliveries after taking orders for a tire filling chemical. Cole said he would have delivered the goods if he had been given time. The case against Amzie Black, charged with wife neglect, was dismissed. Disorderly conduct charges against Mr. and Mrs. William Kruse were continued until May 25. It is charged that Mrs. Kruse pointed a revolver at the officer who went to the home for the husband last week. Emmett Farnan, charged with attacking small boys, will be tried on Thursday. Elmer Lowery and Sam Frank two boys held on a loitering charge, were released.

HOSPITAL IS IN GOOD FINANCIAL CONDITION

Rev. Phillip Wambsganss Elected President of Lutheran Association.

The annual meeting of the Lutheran Hospital association was held Monday afternoon at the hospital. All the congregations belonging to the association were represented by delegates. The meeting was opened with a short devotion led by the chairman, Rev. Phillip Wambsganss. In spite of the high cost of living the report of the treasurer showed a good cash balance. Not until necessity compelled them did the board advance the room rates. The daily average of patients in the hospital was 98. Many times application for rooms and beds had to be refused. During the year donations amounting to $3,330 were received for the debt fund. Five hundred and seventy-five dollars was received for charity work. Besides this money much foodstuff was donated.

The following officers were elected: Rev. Ph. Wambsganss, president; Henry Moeltering, vice president; Rev. August Lange, secretary; Wm. Baade, financial secretary; August Freese, treasurer; Messrs. H. Wehrenberg, J. Brandt and Christ Vonderau, trustees for three years.

August Becker was put on the auditing committee in place of Henry Branning, who is sick, and August Stahlhut was elected on the committee to liquidate the debt in place of Mr. Holtermann, who is also ill.

A vote of thanks was tendered to all who in any way were helpful and of service in the welfare of the hospital.

EVERYBODY PUSHED YET TRAIN HIT AUTO

Too Many Hands Diversified Their Efforts So Car Stood Still.

It all happened in less than a minute.

Louis Martine, road contractor, of Laporte, approached the Pennsylvania railroad tracks, a mile east of Dixon, when on his way from Lima to Fort Wayne, Monday afternoon.

"Stop," yelled half a dozen section hands, who were working at the crossing, Martine says. He stopped his machine on the first line of tracks and in the transaction killed the engine. Approaching at 60 miles an hour, he saw the Pennsylvania limited coming down the same track where his car was stalled.

"Help," he called to the section hands. The men scampered to his assistance. Martine leaped from his car and tried to aid in pushing the automobile from the track. But he could not, he claims, because three of the section workers pushed with might and main on the front of the car and three pushed for all they were worth at the rear. The car stood still.

"Jump," shouted Martine. All the men leaped away from the car.

There Always are Some People

Who buy the poorest kind of WALL PAPER. Some even pay a fair price for it, and yet get such miserable results, that it is a pity they are satisfied with such papers. They buy the rest of their furniture with better care—but when it comes to WALL PAPER—they get the poorest. Because papers are put up differently than they show in the piece, they are disappointed when the job is up. Our expert advice is a certain guarantee against disappointment of this kind, and we welcome the opportunity of showing you how easy it is to get perfect results in good decoration. —Third Floor.

The C. C. K. girls surprised Mrs. Ernest McNamara at her home on South Main street, Friday evening. The girls presented Lucille with a beautiful set of Community silver table spoons. The evening was spent in visiting and admiring the bride's new home, and late in the evening Mrs. McNamara served ice cream and cake. Those present at this house warming were: Mrs. Erma Redding, Mrs. Loda Hughes, Mrs. William Lahmon, Mrs. Bernard Phebus, Hazel Smith, Edna McFadden, Clowey Goff, Mrs. Larwill Eddingfield, Lillian Mooney, Grace Dustman and Leo Redding.

Mr. Parker, the blacksmith, is hobbling around on a cane, the result of a horse getting too friendly and planting its foot on his leg.

The class of girls of the M. E. Sunday school taught by Miss Jennie Kolb was entertained at her home on last Friday evening. This was one of the regular social meetings and the evening was spent in games, music and socially. A delicious luncheon was served.
